The Great Fear of 1789 Georges Lefebvre, 2014-07 This major work graphically describes the panic paranoia and social chaos that sparked the Revolution One of France's great historians analyzes the causes of the mass hysteria that overcame rural France during the summer of 1789 as hungry villagers flocked into towns to look for work or to beg for charity and as vagrants and beggars choked the rural roads threatening reprisals against householders who refused to give them shelter or a crust of bread Originally published in 1983 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905 Fashion, Work, and Politics in

French poetry and prose In this collection of twelve interviews with some of France's most important poets and writers Serge Gavronsky introduces American readers to these exciting new developments As Gavronsky explains a neolyricism is now replacing the formalism of the 1960s 70s and 80s In his substantial introduction Gavronsky notes how the ideological definition of writing critique has given way to more open forms of writing Human experiences of the most ordinary kinds are finding a place in the text These interviews offer a view of the poets and writers creative processes and range over such topics as current literary theory the impact of American poetry in France and the place of feminism in contemporary French writing Each interview is accompanied by samples of the writer's work in French and in Gavronsky's English translations Toward a New Poetics provides a highly informative cultural and critical perspective on contemporary writing in France introducing us to works which are now transforming the idea of literature itself

Hadland, Hans-Erhard Lessing, 2014-03-28 An authoritative and comprehensive account of the bicycle's two hundred year evolution The bicycle ranks as one of the most enduring most widely used vehicles in the world with more than a billion produced during almost two hundred years of cycling history This book offers an authoritative and comprehensive account of the bicycle's technical and historical evolution from the earliest velocipedes invented to fill the need for horseless transport during a shortage of oats to modern racing bikes mountain bikes and recumbents It traces the bicycle's development in terms of materials ergonomics and vehicle physics as carried out by inventors entrepreneurs and manufacturers Written by two leading bicycle historians and generously illustrated with historic drawings designs and photographs Bicycle Design describes the key stages in the evolution of the bicycle beginning with the counterintuitive idea of balancing on two wheels in line through the development of tension spoked wheels indirect drives employing levers pulleys chains and chainwheels and pneumatic tires The authors examine the further development of the bicycle for such specific purposes as racing portability and all terrain use and they describe the evolution of bicycle components including seats transmission brakes lights at first candle based and carriers racks panniers saddlebags child seats and sidecars They consider not only commercially successful designs but also commercial failures that pointed the way to future technological developments And they debunk some myths about bicycles for example the mistaken but often cited idea that Leonardo sketched a chain drive bike in his notebooks Despite the bicycle's long history and mass appeal its technological history has been neglected This volume with its engaging and wide ranging coverage fills that gap It will be the starting point for all future histories of the bicycle Philip's Handy Road Atlas France, Belgium and The Netherlands Philip'S Maps,Philip's Maps,2025-01-02 Fundamental Interactions and Cosmology J. AUDOUZE (Ed),J. Thanh Van Tran,1985 The Business of Tourism J. Christopher Holloway,Claire Humphreys,2016 The tourism industry is in a constant state of flux where trends and attitudes are frequently susceptible to outside influences including factors such as technological and economic change The Business of Tourism by Chris Holloway and Claire Humphreys is the ideal textbook to help readers not only understand these new changes but look at them with a critical eye and predict future trends This book is an essential text for students of tourism management or travel and tourism The historical context is combined with background theory and research plus up to date international case studies It examines in detail the tourism product its impacts and the nature of the tourist to provide the reader with a comprehensive understanding of the management of this important global industry The result is a practical and relevant text for any student wishing to work in one of the many diverse sectors of the tourism industry Karst Hydrology and Physical Speleology A. Bögli,2012-12-06 The present publication on karst hydrology and physical speleology combines two subjects which have up to now been treated separately The two fields of knowledge have gone their separate ways less as a result of differences in subject matter than of varying approaches The focal point in karst hydrology lies in the description of subterranean water with its physical and chemical properties whereas physical speleology describes subterranean cavities with their contents air water and sediments which generally have been created by water Such cavities can be correctly interpreted only by means of a knowledge of karst hydrology yet they in turn yield indications of the properties of karst water Karst hydrology and physical speleology are thus two aspects of the subterranean karst phenomenon and should be viewed congruently This book addresses geologists hydrologists geomorphologists geographers and karstologists above all speleologists as well as all friends of caves especially the cavers among them Its contents must therefore appeal to two groups on one hand to the academically trained whether university faculty graduates or students who as a rule have the necessary basic knowledge to be able to understand the theoretical comments on the other hand to the laymen who have first hand experience from their own observations in caves but who often do not dispose over the scientific foundation necessary for an understanding of the phenomena Therefore occasionally more attention will be given to problems of a simpler nature and to questions of technical terminology Street Theatre and the Production of Postindustrial Space David Calder,2019 Street theatre and the production of postindustrial space explores how street theatre transforms industrial space into postindustrial space Deindustrializing communities have increasingly turned to cultural projects to commemorate industrial heritage while simultaneously generating surplus value and jobs in a changing economy Through analysis of French street theatre companies working out of converted industrial sites this book reveals how theatre and performance more generally participate in and make historical sense of ongoing urban and economic change The book argues firstly that deindustrialization and redevelopment rely on the spatial and temporal logics of theatre and performance Redevelopment requires theatrical events and performative acts that revise resituate and re embody particular pasts The book proposes working memory as a central metaphor for these processes The book argues secondly that in contemporary France street theatre has emerged as working memory's privileged artistic form If the transition from industrial to postindustrial space relies on theatrical logics those logics will manifest differently depending on geographic context The book links the proliferation of street theatre in France since the 1970s to the crisis in Fordist Taylorist modernity How have street theatre companies converted spaces of manufacturing into spaces of theatrical production How do these companies with municipal governments and developers connect their work to the work that occurred in these spaces in the past How do those connections manifest in theatrical events and how do such events give shape and meaning to redevelopment Street theatre's function is both economic and historiographic It makes the past intelligible as past and useful to the present
