Microcomputer Labs, 1989 Timothy J. O'Leary, Brian K. Williams, Linda I. O'Leary, 1988-12-01      Microcomputer-Based Labs: Educational Research and Standards Robert F. Tinker, 2012-12-06 Microcomputer based labs the use of real time data capture and display in teaching give the learner new ways to explore and understand the world As this book shows the international effort over a quarter century to develop and understand microcomputer based labs MBL has resulted in a rich array of innovative implementations and some convincing evidence for the value of computers for learning The book is a sampler of MBL work by an outstanding international group of scientists and educators based on papers they presented at a seminar held as part of the NATO Special Programme on Advanced Educational Technology The story they tell of the development of MBL offers valuable policy lessons on how to promote educational innovation The book will be of interest to a wide range of educators and to policy makers      Language, Classrooms and Computers Peter Scrimshaw, 2002-09-11

The contributors use teachers accounts together with their own research to examine how the use of computers in school can affect the ways in which children learn and teachers teach      Resources in Education ,1992      Scientific and Technical Aerospace Reports ,1989      Striving for Excellence ,1991      Managing Social and Economic Change with Information Technology Information Resources Management Association. Classroom Dynamics Ellen B. Mandinach, Hugh F. Cline, 2013-12-16 This book reports an attempt to introduce change in schools using a computer based curriculum innovation for teaching higher order thinking skills to middle and high school students One of the volume s themes is the extraordinary complexity and difficulty of facilitating such change in schools A corollary of that theme is the fact that patience must be an integral part of the strategy when promoting or studying change in schools In reporting the activities during the early years of a technological innovation and research project in which the emphasis thus far has been primarily on establishing the change this book focuses on describing the move to a technology based learning environment As such it details an ongoing process a fascinating process and one that is likely to be repeated in the near future in countless schools throughout the nation      Readings in Groupware and Computer-supported

Cooperative Work Ronald M. Baecker, 1993 This comprehensive introduction to the field represents the best of the published literature on groupware and computer supported cooperative work CSCW The papers were chosen for their breadth of coverage of the field their clarity of expression and presentation their excellence in terms of technical innovation or behavioral insight their historical significance and their utility as sources for further reading sourcebook to the field development or purchase of groupware technology as well as for researchers and managers groupware and human computer interaction      AAA Guide 1989-90 Asociación Antropológica Americana, Frederick Custer, 1989      Cumulated Index

The dominance of computer labs in our schools is the result of a long struggle among teachers and technicians for control of precious computer resources As technicians gain power and influence this is expressed in the row on row of machines installed in literally thousands of computer labs in schools around the world While labs are in some ways ideal for learning about technology or computer programming they somehow seem ill equipped to assist teachers with a lesson on language arts geography or for helping students conduct a scientific experiment As a result the huge investment in computers seems like so much wasted potential labs are not influencing teaching in the ways we had hoped for and in fact their use may even be harmful to students These observations are based on five years of experience as the director of a centre for educational technology at a leading Canadian university and on the results of three international studies I conducted in Australia Canada and Malaysia A reversal of the current techno trend would mean teachers would reclaim computers for their own classrooms and relegate the idea of the computer lab to the scrap heap of history As educators we need to discard the once size fits all strategy which computer labs imply about teachers instructional needs This is reinforced by the apparent failure of computers to transform teachers practice despite significant investments in computer technologies Some critics describe this as a management problem as computer labs reinforce top down ways of thinking about knowledge Unfortunately once such models are adopted undesirable uses of technology such as the computer lab become entrenched in a bureaucratic mindset limiting the effectiveness of these expensive tools to support teaching and learning

Masters Theses in the Pure and Applied Sciences Wade H. Shafer,2012-12-06 Masters Theses in the Pure and Applied Sciences was first conceived published and disseminated by the Center for Information and Numerical Data Analysis and Synthesis CINDAS at Purdue University in 1957 starting its coverage of theses with the academic year 1955 Beginning with Volume 13 the printing and dissemination phases of the activity were transferred to University Microfilms Xerox of Ann Arbor Michigan with the thought that such an arrangement would be more beneficial to the academic and general scientific and technical community After five years of this joint undertaking we had concluded that it was in the interest of all concerned if the printing and distribution of the volumes were handled by an international publishing house to assure improved service and broader dissemination Hence starting with Volume 18 Masters Theses in the Pure and Applied Sciences has been disseminated on a worldwide basis by Plenum Publishing Corporation of New York and in the same year the coverage was broadened to include Canadian universities All back issues can also be ordered from Plenum We have reported in Volume 34 thesis year 1989 a total of 13 377 theses titles from 26 Canadian and 184 United States universities We are sure that this broader base for these titles reported will greatly enhance the value of this important annual reference work While Volume 34 reports theses submitted in 1989 on occasion certain universities do report theses submitted in previous years but not reported at the time      Current Index to Journals in Education ,1990
