Microecology Social Situations And Intimate Space:

Microecology: Social Situations and Intimate Space Donald W. Ball, 1973 Lotus Among the Magnolias Robert Seto Quan, 2010-03-05 Unlike most Chinese American studies which focus on large urban concentrations sustained by continuous immigration this study centers on a small Chinese enclave located in a rural southern biracial society It focuses upon three generations of Chinese undergoing social change in an area within the state of Mississippi known as the Delta This isolated group of people having little contact with other US Chinese communities remained nearly intact through the first two generations Now great changes have caused the third generation to leave the enclave and to relinquish many ethnic traditions Lotus Among the Magnolias a story recorded firsthand by a Chinese scholar who lived among the Mississippi Delta Chinese is an ethnography about how the Chinese were initially classified by the whites as colored and later came to be viewed as a people with a separate identity As their image has changed so too have many values and traditions in their lives This study shows how these Chinese have been able to expand their social and economic potential and are now moving away from their restrictive beginnings Remaking the City John S. Pipkin, 1984-06-30 This book pulls together a variety of perspectives on urban form and urban design It contains invited contributions by well known architects economists geographers sociologists and planners fostering a much needed dialogue between practitioners and theorists of urban planning The contributions provide inclusive reviews of the state of the art in various fields as well as develop original and sometimes controversial new ideas As a whole they cut across some of the key conceptual lines of demarcation in urban research The distinct concerns of architects planners social scientists and practitioners are probed cognitive and semiotic perspectives on urban form are contrasted and the merits of individualistic versus structural explanation are discussed

The Idea of Social Structure Lewis A. Coser, 2017-07-12 Written and compiled by friends and former students The Idea of Social Structure honors Robert K Merton considered one of the premier sociologists of the twentieth century Along with Talcott Parsons and Marion J Levy Merton was emphatic in his use of the term social structure however different they were in defining and refining the term The chapters in this volume address many of Merton's diverse sociological theories and in turn his theories impact upon a very large sociological territory The volume includes major statements on the context of working with Merton by Lewis A Coser Paul F Lazarsfeld Robert A Nisbet and Seymour Martin Lipset as well as memorable statements covering Merton's interests in the sociology of knowledge and science planning communities medical education relative deprivation everyday life political roles and communication media This is a powerful sourcebook for understanding the work of Merton and of his intellectual successors Nisbet called the decade of the 1930s among the most vital and creative periods in American history It was certainly a period of intense struggle political military and ideological But the formation of modern sociology was without question one of the crowning achievements in the scientific evolution of the century The volume is sharply focused on Merton's work and deeply appreciative of the nature of his contribution It is a landmark effort

Gordon Ericksen, 2014-07-03 During the 1920s the Chicago school of sociology developed an ecological orientation toward the study of the city At the same time other Chicago scholars developed the social psychological approach that was to be named symbolic interactionism Over fifty years later Gordon Ericksen examines the best of these two schools to present a revisionist human ecology In The Territorial Experience he gives us a fresh perspective on human ecology by reconstructing the discipline in a way that genuinely reflects the realities of our territorial life Ericksen's symbolic interactionist approach to the spatial world is based on the appreciation of humans as the creative artists they are as designers and builders of their environment Exploring the symbolic meanings attached to space and territory he challenges the orthodox in human ecology by introducing hypotheses and conceptual tools of analysis which link spatial facts to human motivations and meanings With people living in a habitat which they have largely shaped for themselves a world of airports shopping malls retirement villages where human spaces convey human messages Ericksen demands that we examine what we have done with our environment in order to survive and prosper This major contribution to human ecology will be of
