Which Tools and Methods are Needed to Undertake Microeconomic Analysis? DR. MUNAWARU ISSAHAQUE, 2019-07-04 Seminar paper from the year 2013 in the subject Business economics Business Management Corporate Governance grade A Atlantic International University course DOCTOR OF ECONOMICS language English abstract This paper covers the concepts and tools needed to undertake microeconomics analysis of such problems that arise due to scarcity The paper will also cover competitive and non competitive product markets and why the different markets function the way they do The researcher will attain the objectives of the course in this paper by researching on the topic and compiling not less than 15 pages The writer will also provide a minimum of 20 multiple choice questions and answers Craig and Depken 2006 explained that economists endeavor to understand how people and organizations reach their decisions They pointed out that economists delineate different types of decision makers into three types of economic agents From the point of view of Burkett and John 2006 Oikonomikos raised four issues that lie near the central problem of economics even today These are how limited resources are best allocated to competing needs what a manager can do to motivate subordinates to work hard what it takes to be a good manager and how individuals firms and government are supposed to choose our actions when the consequences of alternative actions are uncertain These four issues cover the basic principles of microeconomics Burkett and John further explained that microeconomics overlaps with management science in its examination of optional business decisions but extend beyond that field into normative and positive analysis of households unions government agencies and international trade What this means is that unlike macroeconomics which concerned itself with aggregative results of individual decisions microeconomics analysis concerned itself with problems individuals and organizations face due to scarcity

Funds, Flows and Time Pere Mir-Artigues, Josep Gonzalez-Calvet, 2007-06-13 The subject of this book is production which is an important and extensive field in economic science In fact production distribution and consumption were long considered the three federated kingdoms which together formed the great empire of the economy According to other slightly different traditions production also held pride of place specifically as a basic link in the long chain of social reproduction Today whatever the theoretical approach production is a fundamental requirement for human survival This was not however always the case For much of the history of mankind hominids were hunter scavenger and gatherers with very little control over their environment and extremely little in the way of artefacts with which to work However since the Neolithic revolution productive processes have constituted an essential mechanism providing human society with goods and services to satisfy its needs and cravings A simple yet pertinent characterisation of the production process conceives it as the transformation of a conglomerate of factors into a given number of products within a specific period of time Refining this definition a little further the said factors may be broken down into different categories natural resources means of production covering two species working capital and fixed assets and the different forms of specific work
