Cohen, Richard Michael Cyert, 1975 Business firms decision making and economic models Market structures and the theory of the firm New approaches to the theory of the firm Implications of microeconomics for the economic system      The Rate and Direction of Inventive Activity National Bureau of Economic Research, 2015-12-08 The papers here range from description and analysis of how our political economy allocates its inventive effort to studies of the decision making process in specific industrial laboratories Originally published in 1962 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905      The Price System and Resource Allocation Richard H. Leftwich, 1973      Discovering Prices Paul Milgrom, 2017-05-23 Traditional economic theory studies idealized markets in which prices alone can guide efficient allocation with no need for central organization Such models build from Adam Smith's famous concept of an invisible hand which guides markets and renders regulation or interference largely unnecessary Yet for many markets prices alone are not enough to guide feasible and efficient outcomes and regulation alone is not enough either Consider air traffic control at major airports While prices could encourage airlines to take off and land at less congested times prices alone do just part of the job an air traffic control system is still indispensable to avoid disastrous consequences With just an air traffic controller however limited resources can be wasted or poorly used What's needed in this and many other real world cases is an auction system that can effectively reveal prices while still maintaining enough direct control to ensure that complex constraints are satisfied In Discovering Prices Paul Milgrom the world's most frequently cited academic expert on auction design describes how auctions can be used to discover prices and guide efficient resource allocations even when resources are diverse constraints are critical and market clearing prices may not even exist Economists have long understood that externalities and market power both necessitate market organization In this book Milgrom introduces complex constraints as another reason for market design Both lively and technical Milgrom roots his new theories in real world examples including the ambitious U S incentive auction of radio frequencies whose design he led and provides economists with crucial new tools for dealing with the world's growing complex resource allocation problems
