Infrasound Monitoring for Atmospheric Studies

Alexis Le Pichon, Elisabeth Blanc, Alain Hauchecorne, 2010-01-19 The use of infrasound to monitor the atmosphere has like infrasound itself gone largely unheard of through the years But it has many applications and it is about time that a book is being devoted to this fascinating subject Our own involvement with infrasound occurred as graduate students of Prof William Donn who had established an infrasound array at the Lamont Doherty Geological Observatory now the Lamont Doherty Earth Observatory of Columbia University It was a natural outgrowth of another major activity at Lamont using seismic waves to explore the Earth s interior Both the atmosphere and the solid Earth feature velocity seismic or acoustic gradients in the vertical which act to refract the respective waves The refraction in turn allows one to calculate the respective background structure in these mediums indirectly exploring locations that are hard to observe otherwise Monitoring these signals also allows one to discover various phenomena both natural and man made some of which have military applications

Signal Processing for Remote Sensing C.H. Chen, 2007-10-17 Written by leaders in the field Signal Processing for Remote Sensing explores the data acquisitions segment of remote sensing Each chapter presents a major research result or the most up to date development of a topic The book includes a chapter by Dr Norden Huang inventor of the Huang Hilbert transform who along with and Dr Steven Lo

Signal and Image Processing for Remote Sensing C.H. Chen, 2006-10-09 Most data from satellites are in image form thus most books in the remote sensing field deal exclusively with image processing However signal processing can contribute significantly in extracting information from the remotely sensed waveforms or time series data Pioneering the combination of the two processes Signal and Image Processing for Remote Sensing provides a balance between the role of signal processing and image processing in remote sensing Featuring contributions from worldwide experts this book emphasizes mathematical approaches Divided into two parts Part I examines signal processing for remote sensing and Part II explores image processing Not limited to the problems with data from satellite sensors the book considers other sensors which acquire data remotely including signals and images from infrasound seismic microwave and satellite sensors It covers a broader scope of issues in remote sensing information processing than other books in this area With rapid technological advances the mathematical techniques provided will far outlast the sensor software and hardware technologies Focusing on methodologies of signal processing and image processing in remote sensing this book discusses unique techniques for dealing with remote sensing problems
