Michelangelo and the Pope's Ceiling Ross King, 2014-10-14 From the acclaimed author of Brunelleschi's Dome and Leonardo and the Last Supper the riveting story of how Michelangelo against all odds created the masterpiece that has ever since adorned the ceiling of the Sistine Chapel In 1508 despite strong advice to the contrary the powerful Pope Julius II commissioned Michelangelo Buonarroti to paint the ceiling of the newly restored Sistine Chapel in Rome Despite having completed his masterful statue David four years earlier he had little experience as a painter even less working in the delicate medium of fresco and none with challenging curved surfaces such as the Sistine ceiling's vaults The temperamental Michelangelo was himself reluctant He stormed away from Rome incurring Julius's wrath before he was eventually persuaded to begin Michelangelo and the Pope's Ceiling recounts the fascinating story of the four extraordinary years he spent laboring over the twelve thousand square feet of the vast ceiling while war and the power politics and personal rivalries that abounded in Rome swirled around him A panorama of illustrious figures intersected during this time the brilliant young painter Raphael with whom Michelangelo formed a rivalry the fiery preacher Girolamo Savonarola and the great Dutch scholar Desiderius Erasmus a youthful Martin Luther who made his only trip to Rome at this time and was disgusted by the corruption all around him Ross King blends these figures into a magnificent tapestry of day to day life on the ingenious Sistine scaffolding and outside in the upheaval of early sixteenth century Italy while also offering uncommon insight into the connection between art and history

The Vatican Museums Carlo Pietrangeli, 1993 A great museum is not only a collection of works of art or artefacts of various interest and various importance it is also a living organism which has its own history to tell And if the museum is of ancient origin this can be of great fascination in itself It is enough to think of a collection's formation of its progressive development which over the centuries takes account of and is shaped by the cultural interests of the time Or of the acquisition sometimes fortuitous of the various works Or of the changing tastes reflected in their display and the various methods used in their restoration or of the political developments or doctrinal implications in which the museum may find itself involved The Vatican Museums whose origins go back to the early 16th century exemplify all these concerns in a particularly comprehensive and fascinating way Their initial formation almost in the character of a private collection their threatened dispersal in the Counter Reformation their recovery under the impetus of the intellectual revival in the 18th century their development also in defence of the artistic patrimony of the State threatened by exports at the end of the same century their subsequent enlargement up to more recent times thanks to the distinguished patronage of the various Popes and lastly their incorporation at times exemplary in the context of the Vatican Palaces first with Simonetti's Museo Pio Clementino then with Sterns Braccio Nuovo and more recently with Beltrami's Pinacoteca and Passarelli's Museo Paolino all this constitutes not only a field of study comparison and reflection but also at times an example which others have followed The present book ideally would have required a far more extensive archival documentation than the author has been able to consult It is to be hoped that the systematic exploration of the huge but very scattered archival sources available may make it possible in future to update or to amplify those parts of the book that were unable to benefit from this irreplaceable support It may be claimed nonetheless that it has proved possible to reconstruct the history of the Vatican Museums in sufficient detail and that this book may prove useful at a time when the history of collecting is arousing increasing interest

Art Restoration James Beck, James H. Beck, Michael Daley, 1993 The world's art heritage is under attack from the very people charged with its preservation argues this important book which has ignited controversy among art historians curators and restorers In the world's museums and in towns and cities throughout Europe misguided restoration efforts are having irreversible often tragic effects on masterpieces by Piero della Francesca Leonardo da Vinci Michelangelo Raphael Titian and many other artists What roles do aesthetic institutional and commercial factors play in the decision to restore a work of art How can we prevent or halt projects in which a work of art is not restored but irreparably damaged James Beck and Michael Daley explore these questions in the context of restoration projects in Florence at the Sistine Chapel in Rome and in museums in France England and the United States They sound an alarm that must be heeded if we are to preserve the world's art for future generations
