Seducing the French Richard F. Kuisel, 1993 When Coca Cola was introduced in France in the late 1940s the country's most prestigious newspaper warned that Coke threatened France's cultural landscape This is one of the examples cited in Richard Kuisel's engaging exploration of France's response to American influence after World War II In analyzing early French resistance and then the gradual adaptation to all things American that evolved by the mid 1980s he offers an intriguing study of national identity and the protection of cultural boundaries The French have historically struggled against Americanization in order to safeguard Frenchness What would happen to the French way of life if gaining American prosperity brought vulgar materialism and social conformity A clash between American consumerism and French civilisation seemed inevitable Cold War anti Communism the Marshall Plan the Coca Cola controversy and de Gaulle's efforts to curb American investment illustrate ways that anti Americanization was played out Kuisel also raises issues that extend beyond France including the economic social and cultural effects of the Americanized consumer society that have become a global phenomenon Kuisel's lively account reaches across French society to include politicians businessmen trade unionists Parisian intelligentsia and ordinary citizens The result reveals much about the French and about Americans As Euro Disney welcomes travellers to its Parisian fantasyland and with French recently declared the official language of France to defend it from the encroachments of English Kuisel's book is especially relevant

The Battle of Vouillé, 507 CE Ralph W. Mathisen, Danuta Shanzer, 2012-07-04 This volume highlights the heretofore largely neglected Battle of Vouill in 507 CE when the Frankish King Clovis defeated Alaric II the King of the Visigoths Clovis victory proved a crucial step in the expulsion of the Visigoths from Francia into Spain thereby leaving Gaul largely to the Franks It was arguably in the wake of Vouill that Gaul became Francia and that France began The editors have united an international team of experts on Late Antiquity and the Merovingian Kingdoms to reexamine the battle from multiple as well as interdisciplinary perspectives The contributions address questions of military strategy geographical location archaeological footprint political background religious propaganda consequences both in Francia and in Italy and significance There is a strong focus on the close reading of primary source material both textual and material secular and theological

Marshall,2014-02-25 Marshall Johnston s Marketing Management 2e has taken great effort to represent marketing management the way it is actually practiced in successful organisations today Given the dramatic changes in the field of marketing it is a sure bet that the job of leading marketing manager s contributions to the organisation and its customers clients and partners has changed at the same level Yet no marketing management book on the market today fully and effectively captures and communicates to students how marketing management is really practiced in the 21st century business world Clearly it is time for an updated approach to teaching and learning within the field Marketing Management 2e is designed to fulfill this need Books in Print ,1982

The History of Wine in 100 Bottles Oz Clarke,2015 Moving from the first cork tops to screw caps this unique volume explores winemaking through 100 bottles that made the biggest impact on its evolution Renowned writer Oz Clarke presents such landmarks as the introduction of the cylindrical wine bottle the first estate to bottle and label its own wine the most expensive bottle sold at auction the change in classifications famous vintages and more It s a beautiful tribute to the bottled poetry that is wine The Green City and Social Injustice Isabelle Anguelovski,James J. T. Connolly,2021-11-29 The Green City and Social Injustice examines the recent urban environmental trajectory of 21 cities in Europe and North America over a 20 year period It analyses the circumstances under which greening interventions can create a new set of inequalities for socially vulnerable residents while also failing to eliminate other environmental risks and impacts Based on fieldwork in ten countries and on the analysis of core planning policy and activist documents and data the book offers a critical view of the growing green planning orthodoxy in the Global North It highlights the entanglements of this tenet with neoliberal municipal policies including budget cuts for community initiatives long term green spaces and housing for the most fragile residents and the focus on large scale urban redevelopment and high end real estate investment It also discusses hopeful experiences from cities where urban greening has long been accompanied by social equity policies or managed by community groups organizing around environmental justice goals and strategies The book examines how displacement and gentrification in the context of greening are not only physical but also socio cultural creating new forms of social erasure and trauma for vulnerable residents Its breadth and diversity allow students scholars and researchers to debunk the often depoliticized branding and selling of green cities and reinsert core equity and justice issues into green city planning a much needed perspective Building from this critical view the book also shows how cities that prioritize equity in green access in secure housing and in bold social policies can achieve both environmental and social gains for all
