Bloom,2016-01-31 Transnational cinemas are eclipsing national cinemas in the contemporary world and Sino French films exemplify this phenomenon through the cinematic coupling of the Sinophone and the Francophone linking France not just with the Chinese mainland but also with the rest of the Chinese speaking world Sinophone directors most often reach out to French cinema by referencing and adapting it They set their films in Paris and metropolitan France cast French actors and sometimes use French dialogue even when the directors themselves don't understand it They tend to view France as mysterious sexy and sophisticated just as the French see China and Taiwan as exotic As Michelle E Bloom makes clear many films move past a simplistic opposition between East and West and beyond Orientalist and Occidentalist cross cultural interplay Bloom focuses on films that have appeared since 2000 such as Tsai Ming-liang's What Time Is It There Hou Hsiao-hsien's Flight of the Red Balloon and Dai Sijie's Balzac and the Little Chinese Seamstress She views the work of these well known directors through a Sino French optic applying the tropes of métissage or biraciality intertextuality adaptation and remake translation and imitation to shed new light on their work She also calls attention to important lesser studied films Taiwanese director Cheng Yu chieh s Yang Yang which depicts the up and coming Taiwanese star Sandrine Pinna as a mixed race beauty and Emily Tang Xiaobai s debut film Conjugation which contrasts Paris and post Tiananmen Square Beijing the one an incarnation of liberty the other a place of entrapment Bloom s insightful analysis also probes what such films reveal about their Taiwanese and Chinese creators Scholars have long studied Sino French literature but this inaugural full length work on Sino French cinema maps uncharted territory offering a paradigm for understanding other cross cultural interminglings and tools to study transnational cinema and world cinema The Sino French rich and multifaceted linguistically culturally and ethnically constitutes an important part of film studies Francophone studies Sinophone studies and myriad other fields This is a must read for students scholars and lovers of film

Dishing It Out Robert Appelbaum, 2011-12-20 From the hamburger haven to the temple of gastronomy the restaurant is a fixture of modern life But why is that so What needs has the restaurant come to satisfy and what needs has it come to impose upon the experience of the modern world In Dishing It Out Robert Appelbaum travels around America and Europe and through the annals of literature and history to explore the social meaning of the restaurant and to discover what we ought to be asking of the restaurant experience today Since its founding in pre Revolutionary France the restaurant has always inspired contradictory feelings and served contradictory purposes It has stood for a kind of liberation the embrace of pleasure and sociability for their own sake But it has also encouraged narcissistic consumerism at the cost of the exploitation of restaurant workers and the self deception of restaurant goers Drawing on the work of such writers as Grimod de la Reynière Jean Paul Sartre Isak Dinesen and M F K Fisher and sampling fare from macaroni cheese in workaday London to oysters and sausages in seaside France Appelbaum argues that though restaurants are inherently problematic as social institutions they are characteristic of who and what we are They are expressions of what we need as human beings And for that reason though they contribute to inequality they can also be used to promote the interests of cultural democracy A unique rethinking of the restaurant experience at once entertaining and learned Dishing it Out is an important contribution to our knowledge of food literature history and society

The Publishers Weekly ,2005 Wanting Luke Burgis, 2021-06-01 Financial Times Business Book of the Month Next Big Idea Club Nominee One of Bloomberg's 52 New Books That Top Business Leaders Are Recommending

Aleo Review of Books 2022 Book of the Year A groundbreaking exploration of why we want what we want and a toolkit for freeing ourselves from chasing unfulfilling desires Gravity affects every aspect of our physical being but there's a psychological force just as powerful yet almost nobody has heard of it It's responsible for bringing groups of people together and pulling them apart making certain goals attractive to some and not to others and fueling cycles of anxiety and conflict In Wanting Luke Burgis draws on the work of French polymath René Girard to bring this hidden force to light and reveals how it shapes our lives and societies According to Girard humans don't desire anything independently Human desire is mimetic we imitate what other people want This affects the way we choose partners friends careers clothes and vacation destinations Mimetic desire is responsible for the formation of our very identities It explains the enduring relevancy of Shakespeare's plays why Peter Thiel decided to be the first investor in Facebook and why our world is growing more divided as it becomes more connected Wanting also shows that conflict does not arise because of our differences it comes from our sameness Because we learn to want what other people want we often end up competing for the same things Ignoring our large similarities we cling to our perceived differences Drawing on his experience as an entrepreneur teacher and student of classical philosophy and theology Burgis shares tactics that help turn blind wanting into intentional wanting not by trying to rid ourselves of desire but by desiring differently It's possible to be more in control of the things we want to achieve more independence from trends and bubbles and to find more meaning in our work and lives The future will be shaped by our desires Wanting shows us how to desire a better one Plunkett's Automobile Industry Almanac, 2009 The only comprehensive guide to automotive companies and trends
