Parallel Processing for Scientific Computing Michael A. Heroux, Padma Raghavan, Horst D. Simon, 2006-01-01 Scientific computing has often been called the third approach to scientific discovery emerging as a peer to experimentation and theory Historically the synergy between experimentation and theory has been well understood experiments give insight into possible theories theories inspire experiments experiments reinforce or invalidate theories and so on As scientific computing has evolved to produce results that meet or exceed the quality of experimental and theoretical results it has become indispensable Parallel processing has been an enabling technology in scientific computing for more than 20 years This book is the first in depth discussion of parallel computing in 10 years it reflects the mix of topics that mathematicians computer scientists and computational scientists focus on to make parallel processing effective for scientific problems Presently the impact of parallel processing on scientific computing varies greatly across disciplines but it plays a vital role in most problem domains and is absolutely essential in many of them Parallel Processing for Scientific Computing is divided into four parts The first concerns performance modeling analysis and optimization the second focuses on parallel algorithms and software for an array of problems common to many modeling and simulation applications the third emphasizes tools and environments that can ease and enhance the process of application development and the fourth provides a sampling of applications that require parallel computing for scaling to solve larger and realistic models that can advance science and engineering This edited volume serves as an up to date reference for researchers and application developers on the state of the art in scientific computing It also serves as an excellent overview and introduction especially for graduate and senior level undergraduate students interested in computational modeling and simulation and related computer science and applied mathematics aspects Contents List of Figures List of Tables Preface Chapter 1 Frontiers of Scientific Computing An Overview Part I Performance Modeling Analysis and Optimization Chapter 2 Performance Analysis From Art to Science Chapter 3 Approaches to Architecture Aware Parallel Scientific Computation Chapter 4 Achieving High Performance on the BlueGene L Supercomputer Chapter 5 Performance Evaluation and Modeling of Ultra Scale Systems Part II Parallel Algorithms and Enabling Technologies Chapter 6 Partitioning and Load Balancing Chapter 7 Combinatorial Parallel and Scientific Computing Chapter 8 Parallel Adaptive Mesh Refinement Chapter 9 Parallel Sparse Solvers Preconditioners and Their Applications Chapter 10 A Survey of Parallelization Techniques for Multigrid Solvers Chapter 11 Fault Tolerance in Large Scale Scientific Computing Part III Tools and Frameworks for Parallel Applications Chapter 12 Parallel Tools and Environments A Survey

Scheduling for Parallel Processing Maciej Drozdowski, 2010-03-14 Overview and Goals This book is dedicated to scheduling for parallel processing Presenting a research eld as broad as this one poses considerable dif culties Scheduling for parallel computing is an interdisciplinary subject joining many elds of science and te nology Thus to understand the scheduling problems and the methods of solving them it is necessary to know the limitations in related areas Another dif culty is that the subject of scheduling parallel computations is immense Even simple search in bibliographical databases reveals thousands of publications on this topic The diversity in understanding scheduling problems is so great that it seems impossible to juxtapose them in one scheduling taxonomy Therefore most of the papers on scheduling for parallel processing refer to one scheduling problem resulting from one way of perceiving the reality Only a few publications attempt to arrange this eld of knowledge systematically In this book we will follow two guidelines One guideline is a distinction between scheduling models which comprise a set of scheduling problems solved by dedicated algorithms Thus the aim of this book is to present scheduling models for parallel processing problems defined on the grounds of certain scheduling models and algorithms solving the scheduling problems Most of the scheduling problems are combinatorial in nature Therefore the second guideline is the methodology of computational complexity theory In this book we present four examples of scheduling models We will go deep into the models problems and algorithms so that after acquiring some understanding of them we will attempt to draw conclusions on their mutual relationships

Software Architecture Anton Jansen, Ivano Malavolta, Henry Muccini, Ipek Ozkaya, Olaf Zimmermann, 2020-09-09 This book constitutes the refereed proceedings of the 14th International Conference on Software Architecture ECSA 2020 held in Asolo, Italy in September 2020 In the Research Track 12 full papers presented together with 5 short papers were carefully reviewed and selected from 103 submissions They are organized in topical sections as follows: microservices, uncertainty, self-adaptive and open systems, model-based approaches, performance and security, engineering architectural smells and source code analysis, education and training, experiences and learnings from industrial case studies, and architecting contemporary distributed systems In the Industrial Track 11 submissions were received and 6 were accepted to form part of these proceedings In addition the book contains 3 keynote talks Due to the Corona pandemic ECSA 2020 was held as a virtual event

Parallel-in-Time Integration Methods Benjamin Ong, Jacob Schroder, Jemma Shipton, Stephanie Friedhoff, 2021-08-24 This volume includes contributions from the 9th Parallel in Time PinT workshop, an annual gathering devoted to the field of time-parallel methods aiming to adapt existing computer models to next-generation machines by adding a new dimension of scalability As the latest supercomputers advance in microprocessing ability they require new mathematical algorithms in order to fully realize their potential for complex systems The use of parallel-in-time methods will provide dramatically faster simulations in many important areas including biomedical e.g. heart modeling, computational fluid dynamics e.g. aerodynamics and weather prediction, and machine learning applications Computational and applied mathematics is crucial to this progress as it requires advanced methodologies from the theory of partial differential equations in a functional-analytic setting, numerical discretization and integration, convergence analyses of iterative methods, and the development and implementation of new parallel algorithms Therefore the workshop seeks to bring together an interdisciplinary group of experts across these fields to disseminate cutting-edge research and facilitate discussions on parallel time integration methods
