Parenteral And Enteral Nutrition For Nurses:

Parenteral and Enteral Nutrition for Nurses Keyvan Moghissi, Jennifer R. P. Boore, 1983 The Role of Nutrition in Maintaining Health in the Nation's Elderly Institute of Medicine, Food and Nutrition Board, Committee on Nutrition Services for Medicare Beneficiaries, 2000-06-09 Malnutrition and obesity are both common among Americans over age 65 There are also a host of other medical conditions from which older people and other Medicare beneficiaries suffer that could be improved with appropriate nutritional intervention Despite that access to a nutrition professional is very limited Do nutrition services benefit older people in terms of morbidity mortality or quality of life Which health professionals are best qualified to provide such services What would be the cost to Medicare of such services Would the cost be offset by reduced illness in this population This book addresses these questions provides recommendations for nutrition services for the elderly and considers how the coverage policy should be approached and practiced The book discusses the role of nutrition therapy in the management of a number of diseases It also examines what the elderly receive in the way of nutrition services along the continuum of care settings and addresses the areas of expertise needed by health professionals to provide appropriate nutrition services and therapy

Interdisciplinary Nutritional Management and Care for Older Adults Ólöf G. Geirsdóttir, Jack J. Bell, 2021-09-10 This open access book aims to primarily support nurses as leaders and champions of multimodal Interdisciplinary nutrition care for older adults A structured approach to fundamentals of nutrition care across Interdisciplinary settings is combined with additional short chapters about special topics in geriatric nutrition The book is designed to provide highly accessible information on evidence based management and care for older adults with a focus on practical guidance and advice across acute rehabilitation and primary and secondary malnutrition prevention settings The cost of malnutrition in England alone has been estimated to be 19.6 billion per year or more than 15% of the total public expenditure on health and social care 65 years The importance and benefit of specialised nutrition care delivered by experts in field is well established for those with complex nutrition care needs However despite the substantial adverse impact of malnutrition on patient and healthcare outcomes specialised management of this condition is often under resourced overlooked and under prioritised by both older adults and their treating teams As an alternative timely efficient and effective supportive nutrition care opportunities may be appropriately implemented by nurses and non specialist Interdisciplinary healthcare team members working together with nutrition specialists and the older adults they care for Practical low risk opportunities should be considered across nutrition screening assessment intervention and monitoring domains for many patients with or at risk of malnutrition Whilst a variety of team members may contribute to supportive nutrition care the nursing profession provide a clear focal point Nurses across diverse settings provide the backbone for Interdisciplinary teamwork and essential patient care The nursing profession should consequently be considered best placed to administer Interdisciplinary multimodal nutrition care wherever specialist nutrition care referrals are unlikely to add value or are simply
