Klein, 2010-06-05 This book describes love and intimacy as they evolve in the context of family relations from birth to maturity in adulthood Dr Klein s view of love and intimacy is that found in the ideal marriage and family fully acknowledging that the pure and perfect marriage and family does not exist

Interventions with Infants and Parents Paul V. Trad, 1992 The first two years of life are recognized as the most crucial developmental period for the establishment of personality and mental health in the infant The relationship between caregivers and the infant is crucial to developing healthy means of communicating The author describes innovative techniques for identifying and modifying maladaptive behaviors between caregiver and infants Previewing as the author calls the technique helps the infant gain a sense of mastery over the changes taking place within his body as well as externally Especially important is the fact that caregivers can be taught to develop skills of sensitivity so they can preview successfully with their infants

Conceptualizing and Measuring Father Involvement Randal D. Day, Michael E. Lamb, 2003-10-03 This comprehensive study focuses on ways of measuring the efficacy of father involvement in different scenarios using different methods of assessment and different populations It stems from a series of workshops and publications sponsored by the Family and Child Well Being Network From Late Adolescence to Young Adulthood David Dean Brockman,2018-03-05 By focusing on the transition from late adolescence to young adulthood this innovative book makes a unique and valuable contribution to our understanding of a neglected area of development Drawing on his extensive clinical experience with this age group as well as his understanding of the complex cultural and social forces that impinge on young people today Brockman has produced that rarest of volumes a work that is engaging creative and wise while at the same time being eminently practical and useful Addressing issues that are highly relevant to our older patients as well as our younger ones this landmark book should be required reading for every mental health professional Theodore J Jacobs M D Dr Brockman takes us to unexplored terrain His is a journey to a place where most of us have lived but never really investigated our life from age 20 to the early 30s It is always a pleasant surprise to look at something which has been so familiar and now is seen in a new light Socioemotional Development and Health from Adolescence to Adulthood Lea Pulkkinen,Jaakko Kaprio,Richard J. Rose,2006-07-03 This 2006 book is based on two longitudinal studies of behavior development both conducted in Finland a living laboratory setting for longitudinal research Much of the book reports results from a longitudinal study begun in Jyv skyl Finland in 1968 when its participants were school children This longitudinal study is complemented by two Finnish twin family studies with parallel measures and overlapping aims to yield insights into genetic and environmental sources of variation in early development and later outcomes An array of findings from the two sets of longitudinal studies are presented set within a theoretical framework of socioemotional development and focused on both individual and familial predictors of health related outcomes from childhood to early adulthood Many contributors to this edited volume represent a second tier of Finnish USA collaborators They analyzed data from the longitudinal studies as part of their advanced training and their contributions to the book report results of such analyses Growing Up Observed Herbert S Streean,2014-05-12 This fascinating book features the writings from therapists children ranging in age from seven to over eighty as they explore how they feel about their parents and themselves Observe the emotional health of analysts children whether they are more mature than children whose parents are in other professions what their unique difficulties and strengths are and how they relate to the people around them Being and Loving Althea J. Horner,2005 From the start of life all of us strive to achieve two goals intimacy with another person and discovery and expression of our own identity All too often however we experience these goals as conflicting Being and Loving is an outgrowth of Dr Horner s work as a teacher and psychotherapist In this book she focuses on the image of self and of others formed in the first three years of life and guides readers down a carefully chosen path that leads to a workable solution to their problems To all those who have experienced frustration and despair born of conflict between being and loving this book says Give it another try

Uprooting and Development George V. Coelho, 2013-04-17 Uprooting has to do with one of the fundamental properties of human life the need to change and with the personal and societal mechanisms for dealing with that need As with the more general problems of change uprooting can be a time of human disaster and desolation or a time of adaptation and growth into new capacities The special quality of uprooting is that the need to change is faced at a time of separation from accustomed social cultural and environmental support systems It is this separation from familiar supports that either renders the uprooted vulnerable to the destructive consequences of change or creates freedoms for their evolution into new and constructive patterns of life Whether the outcomes will be destructive or constructive will be determined by the forces at work the nature and power of the uprooting forces versus the personal and societal capacities for coping with them Uprooting events are so widespread as to be compared with the major rites of life but with the difference that dislocation is involved Uprooting reaches from self imposed movements such as rural to urban migration running away and traveling abroad for schooling to natural and man made disasters such as earthquakes political oppression and war The impacts vary from the need to adapt to a new culture for an interim period of study to the desolating consequences of the total loss of family friends home and country

Social and Psychological Problems of Women Annette U. Rickel, Meg Gerrard, Ira Iscoe, 1984 This book in its diversity of topics reflects the re emergence of concern with women's issues in the last decade and the vigor and pioneering quality of scholarship in the area Such extensive albeit uneven development says something about the state of our society as well for organized scholarship is a form of problem solving part of the process of working through issues that come to the attention of observers of and commentators on the social world Be we can go further By recognizing that the contemporary women's movement is not new but is in keeping with a stream of feminism at least 150 years old we can encourage the current rekindling of interest and consciousness to reflect contemporary events as well xiii foreword

Community-Based Psychotherapy with Young People Geoffrey Baruch, 2003-09-02 First book to explore this innovative way of working with young people Gives a comprehensive guide to practical issues of this work and professional considerations such as evidence based practice and clinical audit

Child Maltreatment Dante Cicchetti, Vicki Carlson, 1989-06-30 Over forty contributors including highly regarded researchers in the field present the most recent findings on the impact of abuse and neglect on cognitive linguistic social and emotional development in children

Father Time: The Social Clock and the Timing of Fatherhood W. Goldberg, 2014-07-08 Men's biological clocks may not be ticking loudly but what about the social clock Are there benefits to being in step with social norms for the timing of parenthood In a clear and accessible style this book examines the advantages and disadvantages of early on time and delayed first fatherhood The book includes a foreword by Ross D Parke

Parenthood, 1970

Critical Psychophysical Passages in the Life of a Woman Joan Offerman-Zuckerberg, 2012-12-06 After the birth of my second son some 11 years ago I was painfully torn by the timing of my reentry to work my wish to return to a prestigious and stimulating position as chief psychologist of a large agency or my equally powerful wish to enjoy fully my beautiful new son's infancy undivided and untruncated. At the time I had a dream that my body was cut in half at the waist; my head leaned to the books neatly contained on the library shelves; my belly went to the crib, all sweet smelling and soft. Not having had the opportunity to be undivided with my first son, now 17 years old, I chose to resign my agency position and stay home as long as I wished and then develop my private practice. It was a decision that at the time entailed much loss: cerebral, collegial, social, prestigious, and generated some self-doubt, but in retrospect it is not regretted and was perhaps wise. This son's infancy will always be remembered as a time in which I experienced mothering with ease and grace.
