you ever wonder why you can't stop behaving the way you do no matter how hard you try Are you and your child or parent partner or boss locked in a seemingly inevitable pattern of conflict What if you could escape traps like these and live a fuller richer happier life This isn't mere speculation but the result of twenty five years of careful hands on clinical work by Daniel J Siegel M D A Harvard trained physician Dr Siegel is one of the revolutionary global innovators in the integration of brain science into the practice of psychotherapy Using case histories from his practice he shows how by following the proper steps nearly everyone can learn how to focus their attention on the internal world of the mind in a way that will literally change the wiring and architecture of their brain Through his synthesis of a broad range of scientific research with applications to everyday life Dr Siegel has developed novel approaches that have helped hundreds of patients And now he has written the first book that will help all of us understand the potential we have to create our own lives Showing us mindsight in action Dr Siegel describes a sixteen year old boy with bipolar disorder who uses meditation and other techniques instead of drugs to calm the emotional storms that made him suicidal a woman paralyzed by anxiety who uses mindsight to discover in an unconscious memory of a childhood accident the source of her dread a physician the author himself who pays attention to his intuition which he experiences as a vague uneasy feeling in my belly a gnawing restlessness in my heart and my gut and tracks down a patient who could have gone deaf because of an inaccurately written prescription for an ear infection a twelve year old girl with OCD who learns a meditation that is like watching myself from outside myself and using a form of internal dialogue is able to stop the compulsive behaviors that have been tormenting her These and many other extraordinary stories illustrate how mindsight can help us master our emotions heal our relationships and reach our fullest potential Parents are People Too Laura Lea Knox,1978 Parents are People Too Ipswich Winter writers' Group,1997 Zombies Are People Too! Stacy Kingsley,2013-08-29 The world ends because of a single cockroach The first zombie has risen and now the survivors are learning what they are willing to do to survive and what they are willing to sacrifice Valerie must learn to survive the rising zombie hoards Robert a divorced father learns what he is willing to do for his kids Marcus likes to see blood on the end of his knife Can humanity survive Reaching Out Diane W. Kyle, Ellen McIntyre, Karen B. Miller, Gayle H. Moore, 2002-07-19 The timing for Reaching Out could not have been better Just when educators are beginning to realize that teachers need training in how to work with parents Kyle McIntyre Miller and Moore bring us a book that is a welcome breath of fresh air Patricia A Edwards Professor of Language and Literacy Michigan State University Reaching Out describes a great variety of ways to respectfully and productively engage families in helping their children learn and grow Throughout the text the reader is reminded that parents are experts about their children and that trusting relationships are built on respectful two way communications The authors also remind us that the goal of family involvement is not parent participation at school events and activities but improved student achievement Steve McCafferty Principal Mildred Dean School Newport KY Involve families in the education process and enhance your students learning experience Too often today's student feels alienated from school and learning suffers as a result. Developing a relationship with the family can provide the missing link in the educational chain. Reaching Out is an invaluable resource for compassionate educators interested in building strong relationships with their students' families. A dynamic team of teachers and teacher educators have combined their first-hand experience and in-depth research in this essential guidebook. By involving the entire family in the educational experience, teachers can bridge the gap separating home and school and help produce happier, healthier, and smarter kids. Highlights include Building trust with families, Communicating in positive ways with students' families, Implementing family workshops, Involving families through innovative homework ideas. Based on a five-year study, the information will be particularly helpful for teachers whose classrooms reflect a diverse student population. By incorporating these concepts and techniques, you not only enhance the learning experience, you also help your students to be more compassionate and excited about school.

Conceiving People Daniel Groll, 2021-08-24. This is an open access title available under the terms of a CC BY-NC-ND 4.0 International license. It is free to read at Oxford Scholarship Online and offered as a free PDF download from OUP and selected open access locations. Each year, tens of thousands of children are conceived with donated gametes (sperm or eggs). By some estimates, there are over one million donor-conceived people in the United States, and of course many more the world over. Some know they are donor-conceived; some do not. Some know the identity of their donors; others never will. Questions about what donor-conceived people should know about their genetic progenitors are hugely significant for literally millions of people, including donor-conceived people, their parents, and donors. But the practice of gamete donation also provides a vivid occasion for thinking about questions that matter to everyone: What is the value of knowing who your genetic progenitors are? How are our identities bound up with knowing where we come from? What obligations do parents have to their children? And what makes someone a parent in the first place? In Conceiving People: Identity, Genetics, and Gamete Donation, Daniel Groll argues that people who plan to create a child with donated gametes should choose a donor whose identity will be made available to the resulting child. This is not, Groll argues, because having genetic knowledge is fundamentally important. Rather, it is because donor-conceived people are likely to develop a significant interest in having genetic knowledge, and parents must help satisfy their children's significant interests. In other words, because a donor-conceived person is likely to care about having genetic knowledge, their parents should care too. Are Parents People?
