Parents Of The Handicapped Self Organized Parents And Relatives:

Parents of the Handicapped Alfred Hyman Katz,1961 Provides in systematic presentation a frame of reference to the study of the growing panels of self organized parent groups and how they fit into the social service pattern Parents of the handicapped ,1961 Self-Help Groups for Parents of Children with Intractable Diseases Tomofumi Oka,2003-09 The purpose of this dissertation is to examine the organisational problems and in particular the leadership problems of self help groups in Japan for parents whose children have intractable diseases Since 1993 I have been involved with these parent groups and have conducted three sorts of qualitative interview thirteen informal conversational interviews four focus group interviews and fourteen guided interviews involving the members of twenty one parent groups Part of the research was carried out as participatory action research in which a research team was formed and authorised by the parent groups My findings have shown that the groups most serious problems lay not outside their groups but within with the shortage of suitable leaders who volunteered in the activities Three different sorts of account were given concerning the leadership shortage They included justification accusation and exposure the participants claimed that taking care of ill children caused the leadership shortage selfish members created it or the determination of older leaders to remain at the helm prevented new members from becoming leaders Cognitive maps have been drawn of these situations I have explained the theories behind the free rider and social loafing problems and the leadership traps confronting the parent groups and have applied attribution theory to the results I have discussed the practicality of consultation for group leaders and argued that organisational socialisation should be activated in the parent groups while propounding the island within a lake model of parent groups Methodologically I have discussed social research within Japanese culture and the ethical issues pertain to participatory action research Integrated Lifecycle Services for Persons with Disabilities David L. Lovett,Kathryn A. Haring,2012-12-06 The field of education is under pressure both external and internal to improve the services provided to all students In American society and elsewhere there is a concern that current educational practices fail to adequately prepare many students to be productive citizens There has been a call for educational services that are more responsive to the needs of students that use effective educational practices that involve parents and the local community and that adequately prepare teachers to assume more professional roles Over the last several decades special educators have addressed these and other critical issues as they relate to students with disabilities The knowledge gained from these endeavors can be useful in the reshaping of schools for all students those with disabilities and those without Indeed this information may be useful for services beyond school whether for young children or adults This volume has been written to address how people with disabilities can be effectively served in settings with their nondisabled peers Because many of the students who are not well served by current educational practices have similar needs as students with disabilities it is anticipated that some of this information may be useful in the discussion regarding the reshaping of educational systems It is also anticipated that the material presented will help in the design of more effective coordinated systems that serve people with disabilities throughout their lives

Psychosocial Aspects of Disability George Henderson, Willie V. Bryan, 2011 This new edition of Psychosocial Aspects of Disability strikes a balance of past present and future views of individual family societal and governmental interaction and reaction to persons with disabilities The past is presented in Part 1 Psychosocial Aspects of Disabilities in which a view of the evolution of societal reactions to disabilities and persons with disability is presented This perspective is important because it explains how some of the beliefs and attitudes toward disabilities and those who have a disability have developed Additionally Part 1 makes us aware from a historical perspective why persons with disabilities have been subject to certain types of treatment from family friends and society Parts 2 and 3 provide discussion of present situations for persons with disabilities as they move toward better inclusion in society Chapter 5 discusses the need for empowerment of persons with disabilities and how they can empower themselves Chapter 6 discusses the need for better employment opportunities for persons with disabilities because this is a significant way of empowering persons with disabilities Chapter 7 discusses federal legislation that has been developed to facilitate the empowerment of persons with disabilities Part 4 Psychosocial Issues to a large extent represents the future for persons with disabilities The chapters in this section discuss some disability issues that some persons with disabilities will encounter and or by which they will be affected during the twenty first century Additionally there is discussion of the need for persons with disabilities to attain the full human rights to which they are entitled Ameliorating Mental Disability Alfred A. Baumeister, 2017-07-12 This book grows out of the optimistic view that mental retardation can be treated It views mental retardation primarily as a behavioral problem A child is diagnosed as retarded primarily because he behaves in certain maladaptive ways not simply because he may have a chromosomal anomaly The contributors view any intervention intended to produce adaptive changes in the behavior of the retarded as treatment The authors come from the fields of medicine special education and speech and hearing as well as from psychology The book is intended to help students and workers in the field apply research findings and theoretical formulations in their appraisal and treatment of mental retardation The primary emphasis of the book is empirical While many of the author's suggestions have not been subjected to rigorous experimental scrutiny almost all have been derived from close examination of the research literature A wide diversity of topics are included in this volume Criteria employed were the relevance of the topic to the understanding and modification of defective behavior and the subject's popularity or neglect in other sources Ameliorating Mental Disability will be of interest to medical officers in institutions for the mentally challenged lecturers giving courses for teachers of the educationally subnormal and to psychologists social workers and teachers

The Unteachables Keith A. Mayes, 2023-01-24 How special education used disability labels to marginalize Black students in public schools The Unteachables examines the overrepresentation of Black students in special education over the course of the twentieth century As African American children integrated predominantly white schools many were disproportionately labeled educable mentally retarded EMR learning disabled LD and emotionally behavioral disordered EBD Keith A Mayes charts the evolution of disability categories and how these labels kept Black learners segregated in American classrooms The civil rights and the educational disability rights movements Mayes shows have both collaborated and worked at cross purposes since the beginning of school desegregation Disability rights advocates built upon the opportunity provided by the civil rights movement to make claims about student invisibility at the level of intellectual and cognitive disabilities Although special education ostensibly included children from all racial groups educational disability rights advocates focused on the needs of white disabled students while school systems used disability discourses to malign and marginalize Black students From the 1940s to the present social science researchers policymakers school administrators and teachers have each contributed to the overrepresentation of Black students in special education Excavating the deep seated racism embedded in both the public school system and public policy The Unteachables explores the discriminatory labeling of Black students and how it indelibly contributed to special education disproportionality to student discipline and push out practices and to the school to prison pipeline effect On the Margins of Citizenship Allison C.

Carey, 2010-05-28 A sociological history of the fight for civil rights for people with intellectual disabilities Allison Carey develops a relational practice approach to the issues of intellectual disability civil rights looking at how advocacy has progressed over the course of the past century A Selected List of U.S. Readings on Development Saul Milton

Katz, Frank McGowan, 1963 Parenting Matters National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine, Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Board on Children, Youth, and Families, Committee on Supporting the Parents of Young Children, 2016-11-21 Decades of research have demonstrated that the parent child dyad and the environment of the family which includes all primary caregivers are at the foundation of children's well being and healthy development From birth children are learning and rely on parents and the other caregivers in their lives to protect and care for them The impact of parents may never be greater than during the earliest years of life when a child's brain is rapidly developing and when nearly all of her or his experiences are created and shaped by parents and the family environment Parents help children build and refine their knowledge and skills charting a trajectory for their health and well being during childhood and beyond The experience of parenting also impacts parents themselves For instance parenting can enrich and give focus to parents lives generate stress or calm and create any number of emotions including feelings of happiness sadness fulfillment and anger Parenting of young children today takes place in the context of significant ongoing developments These include a rapidly growing body of science on early childhood increases in funding for programs and services for families changing demographics of the U S population and greater diversity of family structure Additionally parenting is increasingly being shaped by technology and increased access to information about parenting Parenting Matters identifies parenting knowledge attitudes and practices associated with positive developmental outcomes in children ages 0-8 universal preventive and targeted strategies used in a variety of settings that have been effective with parents of young children and that support the identified knowledge attitudes and practices and barriers to and facilitators for parents use of practices that lead to healthy child outcomes as well as their participation in effective programs and services This report makes recommendations directed at an array of stakeholders for promoting the wide scale adoption of effective programs and services for parents and on areas that warrant further research to inform policy and practice It is meant to serve as a roadmap for the future of parenting policy research and practice in the United States
