Itinéraire de Paris À Jérusalem (English Edition) François-René de Chateaubriand, 2015-11-01 Itinéraire de Paris Jérusalem François René de Chateaubriand A translation into English by A S Kline Published with selected illustrations Chateaubriand set out on his travels to the Middle East in the summer of 1806 returning via Spain in 1807 His trip was ostensibly to provide background material for his work Les Martyrs a Christian epic in prose but may also have helped to resolve certain problems in his private life He travelled to Greece and Constantinople on his way to Jerusalem returning through Egypt Tunisia and Spain His record of the journey often contrasts the meagre contemporary state of civilisation in Greece Turkey and the Holy Land with the richness of classical antiquity and the Christian past While not purporting to offer fresh archaeological evidence he established a tourist route through that antiquity which many other travellers would follow He was in his own words in some ways the last visitor to the Turkish Empire in its previous form before the progressive revolutions of the Eastern Question gradually weakened Ottoman control As always Chateaubriand enriches his narrative with extensive quotations and vivid moral and philosophical perceptions to create a colourful and resonant self portrait of the intelligent wealthy European traveller in touch with the ancient world through Christian and Classical writers and dismayed by the present but stimulated and inspired by the past His account of Jerusalem is fascinating and he was one of the last travellers to visit the Church of the Holy Sepulchre before the damaging fire of 1808 This new modern translation conveys the verve and flow of his narrative while for the first time identifying within the text all the quotations and sources of Chateaubriand references Despite the estimation of Cardinal de Bausset formerly Bishop of Alais that Chateaubriand was the first and only traveller who has no need of etchings and drawings to bring places and monuments which recall beautiful memories and grand images before his readers eyes this new edition also collates a selection of engravings and lithographs from nineteenth century travelogues by celebrated artists such as Edward Dodwell Esq F S A Thomas Allom Esq William Henry Bartlett David Roberts R A and Louis Haghe This and other texts available from Poetry in Translation www.poetryintranslation.com life Orphic Paris Henri Cole, 2018-04-03 A poetic portrait of Paris that combines prose poetry diary and memoir by award winning writer and poet Henri Cole. Henri Cole's Orphic Paris combines autobiography, diary, essay, and poetry with photographs to create a new form of elegiac memoir. With Paris as a backdrop, Cole, an award winning American poet, explores with fresh and penetrating insight the nature of friendship and family, poetry and solitude, the self and freedom. Cole writes of Paris: "For a time I lived here where the call of life is so strong. My soul was colored by it. Instead of worshipping a creator or man, I cared fully for myself and felt no guilt and confessed nothing, and in this place I wrote I was nourished and I grew. Written under the tutelary spirit of Orpheus, mystic, oracular, entrancing, Orphic Paris is an intimate Paris journal and a literary commonplace book that is a touching, original, brilliant account of the city and of the artists, writers, and luminaries including Cole himself who have been moved by it to create."

Paris in the Twentieth Century Jules Verne, 1997-10-21 In 1863 Jules Verne, famed author of 20,000 Leagues Under the Sea and Journey to the Center of the Earth, wrote a novel that his literary agent deemed too far fetched to be published. More than one hundred years later, his great grandson found the handwritten, never before published manuscript in a safe. That manuscript was Paris in the Twentieth Century, and astonishingly prophetic view into the future by one of the most renowned science fiction writers of our time. Praise for Paris in the Twentieth Century: Jules Verne was the Michael Crichton of the 19th century. The New York Times: For anyone interested in the history of speculative fiction, this book is an absolute necessity. Ray Bradbury: Verne's Paris is a bustling, overcrowded metropolis teeming with starving, homeless, and vehicles that passed on paved roads and moved without horses. Years before they would be invented, Verne has imagined elevators and fax machines. It was a vision. Verne's editor flatly rejected it. Contemporary readers know better. People: An excellent extrapolation founded on 19th century technical novelties of a future culture. The Washington Post Book World: Verne published nearly seventy books, many of them now considered classics. But this little jewel catches him just reaching stride as a writer of science fiction, a genre that he, of course, helped put on the literary map. The Denver Post: Markets of Paris Dixon Long, Ruthanne Long, 2006 The only complete guide to every street market and market district in Paris with beautiful full color photographs throughout. Perhaps the most pleasurable way for any visitor to feel at home in Paris and one of the easiest ways to get to know the city is to meander through any of its dozens of street markets. It's also the best way to find a wide variety of uniquely French gifts: from antique books and botanical prints to flea market finds and household goods, not to mention legendary cheeses, produce, and bounty of the French countryside. The authors have explored and described every market in every neighborhood. They also have included streets that are devoted to selling one type of thing: from the centuries old booksellers along the Seine to those lined with stores selling items as varied as fabric and discounted designer clothing. And for everyone who feels their time in the city is all too short, they have suggested itineraries based on the opening days of the markets with local restaurant recommendations. Also included are tips, translations of important phrases, and pointers on what to look for so that the visitor will be able to make the most of this exhilarating and fun French experience All the market information is supplemented by sidebars that round out the experience including a listing of favorite wine bars a visit to the wood oven in the cellar of the famous bakery Poilane and strolls down the best shopping streets in Paris The Little French Car in Paris Stan Cheren,2020-06 The tales of our little French car are set in France and England in the 1980 s Ms Deuzy is a 1985 Charleston model 2CV manufactured at the Citro n factory in Levallois outside of Paris We fell in love with her on our travels in 2012 and brought her back from Belgium to live with us in North Carolina Ms Deuzy is a real character on four wheels who talks to Luc and her animal and automobile friends So in these stories we will give her the ample opportunity to meet exciting and fun folks and go to exciting places Her constant companion is Luc an 18 year old student at the Sorbonne inParis He spends the summers on his family farm outside of Aix We write these stories to share the incredible history of these 2CVs with thecollectors who grew up with them and with their children and friends We invite you to share your stories of your experiences with your favorite 2CVs and to tell us where you would like us to take our Ms Deuzy in the future P.
