Paris Review 22

James Salter

Paris Review 22:

The Art of Fiction James Salter, 2016-04-11 James Salter's exalted place in American letters is based largely on the intense admiration of other writers but his work resonates far beyond the realm of fellow craftsmen addressing themes youth war erotic love marriage life abroad friendship that speak to us all Following the publication of his first novel Salter left behind a military career of great promise to write full time and through decades of searching exacting work became one of American literature's master stylists Only months before he died at the age of eighty nine he agreed to serve as the first Kapnick Writer in Residence at the University of Virginia where he composed and delivered the three lectures presented in this book and introduced by his friend and fellow novelist National Book Award winning author John Casey Salter speaks to us here with an easy intimacy sharing his unceasing enchantment with the books that made up his reading life including works by Balzac Flaubert Babel whose prose is like a handful of radium Dreiser C line Faulkner These talks provide an invaluable opportunity to see the way in which a great writer reads They also offer a candid look at the writing life the rejection letters not one but two negative reviews in the New York Times for the same book writing in the morning or at night and worrying about money during the long afternoons Salter raises the question Why does one write For wealth For admiration or a sense of importance Confronting a blank sheet that always offers too many choices practicing a vocation that often demands one write instead of live the answer for Salter was creating a style that captured experience in a world where anything not written down fades away Kapnick Foundation Distinguished Writer in Residence Lectures The Mind-reader Richard Wilbur, 1976 The Unprofessionals The Paris Review, 2015-11-17 A dispatch from the front lines of literature The Atlantic The Unprofessionals is an energetic collection celebrating the bold writers at the forefront of today's literary world featuring stories essays and poems from America's greatest literary journal Time For more than half a century the Paris Review has launched some of the most exciting new literary voices from Philip Roth to David Foster Wallace But rather than trading on nostalgia the storied journal continues to search outside the mainstream for the most exciting emerging writers Harmonizing a timeless literary feel with impeccable modern taste its pages are vivid proof that the best of today's writing more than upholds the lofty standards that built the magazine's reputation The Unprofessionals collects pieces from the new iteration of the Paris Review by contemporary writers who treat their art not as a profession but as a calling Some like Zadie Smith Ben Lerner and John Jeremiah Sullivan are already major literary presences while others like Emma Cline Benjamin Nugent and Ottessa Moshfegh will soon be household names A master class in contemporary writing across genres this collection introduces the must know voices in the modern literary scene Birthday César Aira, 2019-02-26 Birthday is among the very best of Aira it will surprise readers new to his work and will deeply satisfy his many fans Before you know it you are no longer young and by the way while you were thinking about other things the world was changing and then just as suddenly you realize that you are fifty years old Aira had anticipated his fiftieth a time when he would not so much recall years past as look forward to what lies ahead but the birthday came and went without much ado It was only months later while having a somewhat banal conversation with his wife about the phases of the moon that he realized how little he really knows about his life In Birthday Aira searches for the events that were significant to him during his first fifty years Between anecdotes and memories the author ponders the origins of his personal truths and meditates on literature meant as much for the writer as for the reader on ignorance knowledge and death Finally Birthday is a little sad in a serene crystal clear kind of way which makes it even more irresistible The Liberation of Paris Jean Edward Smith,2019-07-23 Prize winning and bestselling historian Jean Edward Smith tells the rousing Jay Winik author of 1944 story of the liberation of Paris during World War II a triumph achieved only through the remarkable efforts of Americans French and Germans racing to save the city from destruction Following their breakout from Normandy in late June 1944 the Allies swept across northern France in pursuit of the German army The Allies intended to bypass Paris and cross the Rhine into Germany ending the war before winter set in But as they advanced local forces in Paris began their own liberation defying the occupying German troops Charles de Gaulle the leading figure of the Free French government urged General Dwight Eisenhower to divert forces to liberate Paris Eisenhower's advisers recommended otherwise but Ike wanted to help position de Gaulle to lead France after the war And both men were concerned about partisan conflict in Paris that could leave the communists in control of the city and the national government Neither man knew that the German commandant Dietrich von Choltitz convinced that the war was lost schemed to surrender the city to the Allies intact defying Hitler's orders to leave it a burning ruin In The Liberation of Paris Jean Edward Smith puts one of the most moving moments in the history of the Second World War Michael Korda in context showing how the decision to free the city came at a heavy price it slowed the Allied momentum and allowed the Germans to regroup After the war German generals argued that Eisenhower's decision to enter Paris prolonged the war for another six months Was Paris worth this price Smith answers this question in a brisk new recounting that is terse
