Economic and Public Affairs Division,New York Public Library. Research Libraries,1972 Governing the Commons Elinor Ostrom,2015-09-23 The governance of natural resources used by many individuals in common is an issue of increasing concern to policy analysts Both state control and privatization of resources have been advocated but neither the state nor the market have been uniformly successful in solving common pool resource problems After critiquing the foundations of policy analysis as applied to natural resources Elinor Ostrom here provides a unique body of empirical data to explore conditions under which common pool resource problems have been satisfactorily or unsatisfactorily solved Dr Ostrom uses institutional analysis to explore different ways both successful and unsuccessful of governing the commons In contrast to the proposition of the tragedy of the commons argument common pool problems sometimes are solved by voluntary organizations rather than by a coercive state Among the cases considered are communal tenure in meadows and forests irrigation communities and other water rights and fisheries

Australian Government Publications National Library of Australia,1983 House of Commons Procedure and Practice Marc Bosc,André Gagnon,2017-08 Responsive Regulation Ian Ayres,John Braithwaite,1995-02-16 This book transcends current debate on government regulation by lucidly outlining how regulations can be a fruitful combination of persuasion and sanctions The regulation of business by the United States government is often ineffective despite being more adversarial in tone than in other nations The authors draw on both empirical studies of regulation from around the world and modern game theory to illustrate innovative solutions to this problem Their ideas include an argument for the empowerment of private and public interest groups in the regulatory process and a provocative discussion of how the government can support and encourage industry self regulation

A New English Dictionary on Historical Principles James Augustus Henry Murray, 1910

The Use of Force in UN Peace Operations Trevor Findlay, Stockholm International Peace Research Institute, 2002

One of the most vexing issues that has faced the international community since the end of the Cold War has been the use of force by the United Nations peacekeeping forces UN intervention in civil wars as in Somalia Bosnia and Herzegovina and Rwanda has thrown into stark relief the difficulty of peacekeepers operating in situations where consent to their presence and activities is fragile or incomplete and where there is little peace to keep Complex questions arise in these circumstances When and how should peacekeepers use force to protect themselves to protect their mission or most troublingly to ensure compliance by recalcitrant parties with peace accords Is a peace enforcement role for peacekeepers possible or is this simply war by another name Is there a grey zone between peacekeeping and peace enforcement Trevor Findlay reveals the history of the use of force by UN peacekeepers from Sinai in the 1950s to Haiti in the 1990s He untangles the arguments about the use of force in peace operations and sets these within the broader context of military doctrine and practice Drawing on these insights the author examines proposals for future conduct of UN operations including the formulation of UN peacekeeping doctrine and the establishment of a UN rapid reaction force

Land Rights of the Indigenous Peoples of the Chittagong Hill Tracts, Bangladesh Rajkumari Chandra Kalindi Roy, 2000

Little is known about the Chittagong Hill Tracts of Bangladesh CHT an area of approximately 5 089 square miles in southeastern Bangladesh It is inhabited by indigenous peoples including the Bawm Sak Chakma Khumi Khyang Marma Mru Lushai Uchay also called Mrung Brong Hill Tripura Pankho Tanchangya and Tripura Tipra numbering over half a million Originally inhabited exclusively by indigenous peoples the Hill Tracts has been impacted by national projects and programs with dire consequences This book describes the struggle of the indigenous peoples of the Chittagong Hill Tracts region to regain control over their ancestral land and resource rights From sovereign nations to the limited autonomy of today the report details the legal basis of the land rights of the indigenous peoples and the different tools employed by successive administrations to exploit their resources and divest them of their ancestral lands and territories The book argues that development programs need to be implemented in a culturally appropriate manner to be truly sustainable and with the consent and participation of the peoples concerned Otherwise they only serve to push an already vulnerable people into greater impoverishment and hardship The devastation wrought by large scale dams and forestry policies cloaked as development programs is succinctly described in this report as is the population transfer and militarization The interaction of all these factors in the process of assimilation and integration is the background for this book analyzed within the perspective of indigenous and national law and complemented by international legal approaches The book concludes with an update on the developments since the signing of the Peace Accord between the Government of Bangladesh and the Jana Sanghati
