Parliamentary Libraries And Information Services Of Asia And The Pacific:

Parliamentary Libraries and Information Services of Asia and the Pacific Rob Brian, 2013-02-06 The International Federation of Library Associations and Institutions IFLA is the leading international body representing the interests of library and information services and their users It is the global voice of the information profession The series IFLA Publications deals with many of the means through which libraries information centres and information professionals worldwide can formulate their goals exert their influence as a group protect their interests and find solutions to global problems Parliamentary libraries and information services of Asia and Pacific , International Encyclopedia of Information and Library Science John Feather, Paul Sturges, 2003-09-02 The International Encyclopedia of Information and Library Science was published to widespread acclaim in 1996 and has become the major reference work in the field This eagerly awaited new edition has been fully revised and updated to take full account of the many and radical changes which have taken place since the Encyclopedia was originally conceived With nearly 600 entries written by a global team of over 150 contributors the subject matter ranges from mobile library services provided by camel and donkey transport to search engines portals and the World Wide Web The new edition retains the successful structure of the first with an alphabetical organization providing the basic framework of a coherent collection of connected entries Conceptual entries explore and explicate all the major issues theories and activities in information and library science such as the economics of information and information management A wholly new entry on information systems and enhanced entries on the information professions and the information society are key features of this new edition Topical entries deal with more specific subjects such as collections management and information services for ethnic minorities New or completely revised entries include a group of entries on information law and a collection of entries on the Internet and the World Wide Web Achieving Sustainable E-Government in Pacific Island States Rowena Cullen, Graham Hassall, 2017-02-17 This book analyzes the common set of obstacles to the development and integration of government Information and Communication Technology ICT projects and effective e government initiatives in developing countries It draws on the expertise and experience of more developed states in the Pacific notably Australia and New Zealand both highly rated in global rankings for e government and active in a variety of e government development projects across the region There has been a general failure to identify priorities and align projects with local needs in ICT e government projects Small Island Developing States or SIDS present a unique problem in terms of e government Not only do they suffer from a common set of barriers to ICT development such as their remoteness geographical dispersion moist tropical climates largely rural populations and lack of ICT capacity and infrastructure but are also dependent on external agencies for investment and must negotiate with powerful donors who have conflicting agendas E government is widely regarded as transformational increasing efficiency productivity accountability economic growth and citizen involvement But while the governments of SIDS are committed to harnessing ICTs for effective government and economic development they face major challenges in establishing successful e government initiatives due to the problems outlined above coupled with a lack of HR capacities and appropriate strategies and policies Drawing on the experience of the states mentioned above as well as regional quasi governmental bodies nongovernmental organizations NGOs aid agencies and the private sector the book will be of interest to researchers and students in the fields of e government public administration political science communication information science and social media National Central Library Newsletter Guo li zhong yang tu shu guan,2005

Maritime Men of the Asia-Pacific Diane Kirkby,2022-09-15 Winner of the Australia and New Zealand Law and History Society ANZLHS Prize for 2023 Maritime workers occupy a central place in global labour history This new and compelling account from Australia shows seafaring and waterside unions engaged in a shared history of activism for legally regulated wages and safe liveable conditions for all who go to sea Maritime Men of the Asia Pacific provides a corrective to studies which overlook this region's significance as a provider of the world's maritime labour force and where unions have a rich history of reaching across their differences to forge connections in solidarity From the militant young Australian Harry Bridges whose progressive unionism transformed the San Francisco waterfront to Australia's successful implementation of the Maritime Labour Convention 2006 this is a story of vision and leadership on the international stage Unionists who saw themselves as internationalists were also operating within a national and imperial framework where conflicting interests and differences of race and ideology had to be overcome Union activists in India China and Japan struggled against indentured labour and coolie standards They linked with their fellow unionists in pursuing an ideal of international labour rights against the power of shipowners and anti union governments This is a complex story of endurance cooperation and conflict and its empowering legacy
