The Women, Peace and Security Agenda Laura J. Shepherd, 2021-09-26 The Women Peace and Security WPS agenda is comprised of the policies protocols and practices enacted by a wide range of actors inspired by or under the auspices of the UN Security Council resolutions adopted under the title of women and peace and security Since the adoption of the first resolution in 2000 resolution 1325 there have been nine others each of which elaborates or extends aspects of the original resolution This book provides a forward looking collection of scholarship on the WPS agenda in two halves The first half of the book presents a series of essays that each provide a glimpse of the rich and insightful research on WPS being undertaken in and about different contexts to demonstrate the importance of centring the local as a site of knowledge production in the WPS agenda The essays presented in the second half of the book also engage questions of knowledge production documenting the exploratory methods in use in WPS scholarship and highlighting those topics engaged at the hinterlands of what is a broad field topics that gesture at the future of research in this area The chapters in this book were originally published as special issues of the International Feminist Journal of Politics

Gender, Peace and Security Louise Olsson, Theodora-Ismene Gizelis, 2015-04-24 This volume explores the implementation of key gender policies in international peace and security following the adoption of UN Security Council resolution 1325 in October 2000 the first thematic resolution on Women Peace and Security How should we understand women s participation in peace processes and in peace operations And what forms of gendered security dynamics are present in armed conflict and international interventions These questions represent central themes of protection and participation that the international community has to address in order to implement UNSCR 1325 Thus far the implementation has often employed varying approaches related to gender mainstreaming a third theme of the resolution Yet there is a dearth of systematic data which until recently has restricted the ability of researchers to evaluate the progress in implementation and impact of UNSCR 1325 By engaging with both empirics and critical theory the authors of this edited volume make important contributions to the gender peace and security agenda They identify some of the problems of implementing UNSC 1325 and offer a sobering assessment of progress of implementation and insights into how to advance our understanding through systematic research Many of the chapters are focused on operational aspects of UNSCR 1325 but all also engage with the theoretical underpinnings of UNSCR 1325 to bring forth central debates on more fundamental challenges to the development of knowledge in the fields of gender peace and security This book will be of much interest to students of gender studies peace and conflict studies security studies and IR in general

The Palgrave Handbook of African Women's Studies Olajumoke Yacob-Haliso, Toyin Falola, 2021-10-29 This definitive handbook is the first reference of its kind bringing together knowledge scholarship and debates on themes and issues concerning African women everywhere It unearths critiques reviews analyses theorizes synthesizes and evaluates African women s historical social political economic local and global lives and experiences with a view to decolonizing the corpus This Handbook questions the gendered roles and positions of African women and the structures institutions and processes of policy politics and knowledge production that continually construct deconstruct and reconstruct African women and the study of them Contributors offer a consistent emphasis on debunking erroneous and misleading myths about African women s roles and positions bringing their

The State of Peacebuilding in Africa Terence McNamee, Monde Muyangwa, 2020-11-02 This open access book on the state of peacebuilding in Africa brings together the work of distinguished scholars practitioners and decision makers to reflect on key experiences and lessons learned in peacebuilding in Africa over the past half century The core themes addressed by the contributors include conflict prevention mediation and management post conflict reconstruction justice and Disarmament Demobilization and Reintegration the role of women religion humanitarianism grassroots organizations and early warning systems and the impact of global regional and continental bodies The book s thematic chapters are complemented by six country region case studies The Democratic Republic of Congo Rwanda Sierra Leone Sudan South Sudan Mozambique and the Sahel Mali Each chapter concludes with a set of key lessons learned that could be used to inform the building of a more sustainable peace in Africa The State of Peacebuilding in Africa was born out of the activities of the Southern Voices Network for Peacebuilding SVNP a Carnegie funded continent wide network of African organizations that works with the Wilson Center to bring African knowledge and perspectives to U S African and international policy on peacebuilding in Africa The research for this book was made possible by a grant from Carnegie Corporation of New York Pathways for Peace United Nations, World Bank, 2018-04-13 Violent conflicts today are complex and increasingly protracted involving more nonstate groups and regional and international actors It is estimated that by 2030 the horizon set by the international community for achieving the Sustainable Development Goals more than half of the world's poor will be living in countries affected by high levels of violence Information and communication technology population movements and climate change are also creating shared risks that must be managed at both national and international levels Pathways for Peace is a joint United Nations World Bank Group study that originates from the conviction that the international community's attention must urgently be refocused on prevention A scaled up system for preventive action would save between US 5 billion and US 70 billion per year which could be reinvested in reducing poverty and improving the well being of populations The study aims to improve the way in which domestic development processes interact with security diplomacy mediation and other efforts to prevent conflicts from becoming violent It stresses the importance of grievances related to exclusion from access to power natural resources security and justice for example that are at the root of many violent conflicts today Based on a review of cases in which prevention has been successful the study makes recommendations for countries facing emerging risks of violent conflict as well as for the international community Development policies and programs must be a core part of preventive efforts when risks are high or building up inclusive solutions through dialogue adapted macroeconomic policies institutional reform and redistributive policies are required Inclusion is key and preventive action needs to adopt a more people centered approach that includes mainstreaming citizen engagement Enhancing the participation of women and youth in decisionmaking is fundamental to sustaining peace as well as long term policies to address the aspirations of women and young people

Gender, Conflict, and Development Tsjeard Bouta, Georg Frerks, Ian Bannon, 2005 This publication focuses on the gender dimensions of intrastate conflicts civil wars organised around eight key themes of gender and warfare sexual violence formal and informal peace processes post conflict legal frameworks work issues rehabilitation of social services and community driven development For each theme the authors examine the impact on gender roles of conflict situations the development challenges involved and the policy options available to help build more inclusive and gender balanced post conflict societies Setting the Agenda for Global Peace Anna C. Snyder, 2017-07-05 Anna Snyder provides a detailed account of the challenges women representatives in non governmental organizations NGOs faced in building bridges across diverse ethnic racial national regional and ideological backgrounds at the 4th United Nations UN Conference on Women This book traces the process by which women's peace groups set an agenda for global policies in the area of women and armed conflict. Setting the Agenda for Global Peace shows how NGOs use conflict to develop transnational social movements and to build consensus around issues of global concern. Using this conference as a case study, Snyder finds three purposes for social movement conflict: contention arising from policy development, deep-rooted historical conflict, and conflicts over NGO network priorities. Drawing together feminist conflict resolution and social movement theories, this comprehensive text analyzes the large-scale decision-making processes for NGOs and points towards future directions for conflict resolution and consensus building.

Gender, Peace and Conflict Inger Skjelsboek, Dan Smith, 2001-02-01. What impact does gender difference make to political decision making? Will the political empowerment of women contribute to a more peaceful world? The role of gender has been increasingly recognized as central to the study and analysis of the traditionally male domains of war and international relations. This book explores the key role of gender in peace research, conflict resolution, and international politics. Rather than simply add gender, the aim is to transcend different disciplinary boundaries and conceptual approaches to provide a more integrated basis for future study. To this end, it uniquely combines theoretical chapters alongside empirical case studies to demonstrate the importance of a gender perspective to both theory and practice in conflict resolution and peace research. The theoretical chapters explore the gender relationship and engage with the many stereotypical dichotomies like femininity and peace and masculinity and war. The case study chapters, drawing on examples from South America, South Asia, and Europe, including former Yugoslavia, move beyond theoretical critique to focus on issues like sexual violence in war, the role of women in military groups and peacekeeping operations, and the impact of a critical mass of women in political decision making. Gender, Peace and Conflict will provide an invaluable survey and new insights to a central area of contemporary research. It will be essential reading for academics, students, and practitioners across peace studies, conflict resolution, and international politics.
