Serendipitous and Strategic Innovation Shantha Liyanage, 2005-12-30 Innovation is a time consuming process that involves invention as a beginning and a marketable service or product as an end But innovation itself once concluded is not necessarily a constructive act as some innovations yield positive and some negative results The way we recognize and develop innovation so often a serendipitous and almost invisible act in its beginning is thus a matter of primary importance in today s world where new thoughts and products play such a crucial role in economies across the globe Nowhere is the general support structure required for success in innovation more starkly illuminated than in the fields of science and medicine where human well being is so manifestly at stake In this work which draws together the perspectives of a multidisciplinary group of professionals medical doctors innovation policy analysts and academics in business management Shantha Liyanage and his colleagues provide a thorough examination of the technology innovation process and display its critical links with organizational functions so the innovative capacities of organizations can be better prepared to meet the rapid changes of our age

Dynamics of Science-Based Innovation Hariolf Grupp, 2012-12-06 This volume intends to give an insight into progress in the field of studies on modern science and technology Researchers from Sweden Japan and Germany began a three country comparative study in 1984 One of the primary aims of this study group was to better take account of the increasing importance of Japan in both analytical work and technology policy To this end researchers from the Research Policy Institute RPI at the University of Lund the Graduate School of Policy Science at Saitama University in Urawa and the Fraunhofer Institute for Systems and Innovation Research in Karlsruhe met almost every year with policy makers from the three countries in order to see how well the scientific debate is reflected in the interests of practitioners in the related policies The cooperation with the Swedish Board for Technical Development STU the Japanese Ministry of Education Science and Culture Monbusho and the German Federal Ministry for Research and Technology BMFT brought about numerous grey papers publications and two volumes of seminar proceedings The first book<sup>2</sup> deals with the problems of measuring
