Faustian Bargain Ian Ona Johnson,2021-05-28 When Nazi Germany invaded Poland on September 1 1939 launching World War Two its army seemed an unstoppable force The Luftwaffe bombed towns and cities across the country and fifty divisions of the Wehrmacht crossed the border Yet only two decades earlier at the end of World War One Germany had been an utterly and abjectly defeated military power Foreign troops occupied its industrial heartland and the Treaty of Versailles reduced the vaunted German army of World War One to a fraction of its size banning it from developing new military technologies When Hitler came to power in 1933 these strictures were still in effect By 1939 however he had at his disposal a fighting force of 4 2 million men armed with the most advanced weapons in the world How could this nearly miraculous turnaround have happened The answer lies in Russia Beginning in the years immediately after World War One and continuing for more than a decade the German military and the Soviet Union despite having been mortal enemies entered into a partnership designed to overturn the order in Europe Centering on economic and military cooperation the arrangement led to the establishment of a network of military bases and industrial facilities on Soviet soil Through their alliance which continued for over a decade Germany gained the space to rebuild its army In return the Soviet Union received vital military technological and economic assistance Both became once again military powers capable of a mass destruction that was eventually directed against one another Drawing from archives in five countries including new collections of declassified Russian documents The Faustian Bargain offers the definitive exploration of a shadowy but fateful alliance
