raw beauty and gentle imagery of the oil on canvas works with a brief discussion of Clark's life, his marriage, travels abroad, the toll World War I took upon him, his obscure retirement, and the recent rediscovery of his contributions, particularly to the Impressionist tradition in California where Clark made a name and lasting memory for himself among the local art community. Especially recommended for collectors, students, and connoisseurs of the Impressionist style. 77 colour, 10 halftone plates. Orange Empire Douglas Cazaux Sackman, 2005-02-07 This innovative history of California opens up new vistas on the interrelationship among culture, nature, and society by focusing on the state's signature export, the orange. This book demystifies those lush images, revealing the orange as a manufactured product of the state's orange industry. Domestic Bliss Lee M. Edwards, 1986 Circles of Influence Sarah Vure, Kevin Starr, Nancy Dustin Wall Moure, 2000 An American Collection Amon Carter Museum of Western Art, Patricia A. Junker, 2001 Amon G. Carter 1879-1955 is one of the legendary men of Texas history. Born in a log cabin, he was self-made, becoming Fort Worth's leading citizen and champion. He developed an interest in the art of Frederic Remington and Charles M. Russell through his friendship with Will Rogers. Carter's will provided for the establishment of a museum in Fort Worth devoted to the art of the American West. While the museum holds the most significant collection anywhere of works by Remington and Russell, and is a pioneer in the field of western studies, it has evolved into one of the great museums of American art, as a whole focusing on artists working on successive frontiers, aesthetic as well as geographic. Its photography collection alone has grown to nearly one quarter of a million objects. The museum, designed by noted architect Philip Johnson, opened to the public in 1961. On the occasion of its fortieth anniversary, a substantially expanded building, also designed by Mr. Johnson, was inaugurated. This volume relates the museum's history and presents color and duotone illustrations of 125 of its masterworks, dating from 1822 to 1998: paintings, sculpture, prints, watercolors, pastels, drawings, and photographs, with an essay about each and a biography of each artist. It includes a number of landmark works recently added to the collection and unveiled here for the first time: paintings by John Singer Sargent, Stuart Davis, and Marsden Hartley; sculpture by Alexander Calder and Louise Nevelson; a daguerreotype by Southworth and Hawes; and photographs by Alfred Stieglitz, David Smith, Robert Adams, and Linda Connor. BOOK JACKET Title Summary field provided by Blackwell North America, Inc. All Rights Reserved. Dictionary of Art and Artists in Southern California Before 1930 Nancy Dustin Wall Moure, Lyn Wall Smith, 1975 New York and Its Environs Gustav Kobbé, 1891 Carl Rungius Carl Rungius, Karen Wonders, 2001 Carl Rungius was the first career wildlife artist in North America. He spent his life studying and depicting this continent's wide open spaces and the creatures that inhabit them. Rungius's paintings present majestic moose, elk, big horn sheep, and mountain goats in idyllic landscapes seemingly untouched by humans. He created the images that often come to mind when we think of wilderness. During his lifetime, 1869-1959, Rungius enjoyed a reputation similar to that of well-known Western painter and sculptor Frederic Remington. Though interest in his work declined following his death, Carl Rungius retains a loyal following among collectors all over North America. Well-known wildlife artists such as Robert Bateman acknowledge his influence and growing fascination with our wilderness heritage is bringing Rungius back into the public eye Hollywood Highbrow Shyon Baumann, 2018-06-05 Today's moviegoers and critics generally consider some Hollywood products even some blockbusters to be legitimate works of art But during the first half century of motion pictures very few Americans would have thought to call an American movie art Up through the 1950s American movies were regarded as a form of popular even lower class entertainment By the 1960s and 1970s however viewers were regularly judging Hollywood films by artistic criteria previously applied only to high art forms In Hollywood Highbrow Shyon Baumann for the first time tells how social and cultural forces radically changed the public's perceptions of American movies just as those forces were radically changing the movies themselves The development in the United States of an appreciation of film as an art was Baumann shows the product of large changes in Hollywood and American society as a whole With the postwar rise of television American movie audiences shrank dramatically and Hollywood responded by appealing to richer and more educated viewers Around the same time European ideas about the director as artist an easing of censorship and the development of art house cinemas film festivals and the academic field of film studies encouraged the idea that some American movies and not just European ones deserved to be considered art The Boston Art Club: Exhibition Record, 1873-1909 Janice H.
