Nutrition and Health in Developing Countries Richard David Semba, Martin W. Bloem, 2001-04-25. The Nutrition and Health series of books have as an overriding mission to provide health professionals with texts that are considered essential because each includes: 1 a synthesis of the state of the science; 2 timely in depth reviews by the leading researchers in their respective fields; 3 extensive up to date fully annotated reference lists; 4 a detailed index; 5 relevant tables and figures; 6 identification of paradigm shifts and the consequences; 7 virtually no overlap of information between chapters but targeted inter chapter referrals; 8 suggestions of areas for future research; and 9 balanced data driven answers to patient health professionals' questions which are based upon the totality of evidence rather than the findings of any single study. The series volumes are not the outcome of a symposium. Rather each editor has the potential to examine a chosen area with a broad perspective both in subject matter as well as in the choice of chapter authors. The international perspective, especially with regard to public health initiatives, is emphasized where appropriate. The editors, whose trainings are both research and practice oriented, have the opportunity to develop a primary objective for their book, define the scope and focus, and then invite the leading authorities from around the world to be part of their initiative. The authors are encouraged to provide an overview of the field, discuss their own research, and relate the research findings to potential human health consequences.

Southeast Asian Personalities of Chinese Descent Leo Suryadinata, 2012. This is a bold project recording the lives of a particular group of Southeast Asians. Most of the people whose biographies are included here have settled down in the ten countries that constitute the region. Each of them has either self identified as Chinese or is comfortable to be known as someone of Chinese ancestry. There are also those who were born in China or elsewhere who came here to work and do business, including seeking help from others who have ethnic Chinese connections. With the political and economic conditions of the region in a great state of flux for the past two centuries it is impossible to find consistency in the naming process Confucius had stressed that correct names make for the best relationships In this case Professor Leo Suryadinata has been pursuing for decades the elusive goal of finding the right name to give to the large numbers of people who have in one way or another made their homes in or made some difference to Southeast Asia I believe that when he and his colleagues selected the biographies to be included here they have taken a big step towards the rectification of identities for many leading personalities In so doing he has done us all a great service Professor Wang Gungwu National University of Singapore
