Carpenter, 2015-07-08 Often seen as supernatural unpredictable illusory and possibly dangerous ESP telepathy clairvoyance and other parapsychological activities are actually happening all the time and help us make sense of everyday experiences First Sight provides a new way of understanding such experiences and describes a way of thinking about the unconscious mind that makes it clear that these abilities are not rare and anomalous but instead are used by all of us all the time unconsciously and efficiently Drawing upon a broad array of studies in contemporary psychology the author integrates a new model for understanding these unusual abilities with the best research in psychology on problems as diverse as memory perception personality creativity and fear In doing so he illustrates how the field of parapsychology which historically has been riddled with confusion skepticism and false claims can move from the edges of science to its center where it will offer fascinating new knowledge about unmapped aspects of our nature The author demonstrates that the new model accounts for accumulated findings very well and explains previous mysteries resolves apparent contradictions and offers clear directions for further study First Sight also ventures beyond the laboratory to explain such things as why apparent paranormal experiences are so rare why they need not be feared and how they can be more intentionally accessed Further study of this theory is likely to lead to a technology of parapsychological processes while drastically revising our conception of the science of the mind toward a new science more humane and more replete with possibility than we have imagined in the past

Irreducible Mind Edward F. Kelly, Emily Williams Kelly, 2007 Practically every contemporary mainstream scientist presumes that all aspects of mind are generated by brain activity We demonstrate the inadequacy of this picture by assembling evidence for a variety of empirical phenomena which it cannot explain We further show that an alternative picture developed by F W H Myers and William James successfully accommodates these phenomena ratifies the common sense view of ourselves as causally effective conscious agents and is fully compatible with contemporary physics and neuroscience

Parapsychology and Religion Everton de Oliveira Maraldi, 2021-06-29 Parapsychology and Religion is perhaps the most controversial research area in the psychology of religion However in recent decades psychology of religion has witnessed a growing literature bearing on ontological issues including parapsychological topics such as distant healing and near death experiences This book argues that despite the methodological and theoretical controversies that still surround the field of parapsychology the findings of research on alleged anomalous processes can inform the study of religious spiritual experiences Psychological literature on the paranormal is critically reviewed and it is argued that it became less a scientific endeavor and more an ideological program devised to denigrate paranormal believers and experiencers This volume explores how an open minded dialogue between parapsychology and psychology of religion might help us move beyond the present ideological disputes and reviews the complex relations between parapsychology and religion over time as well as their implications for interdisciplinary research on religion and spirituality
