Parental Involvement in Education Bridget Williams,Joel Williams,Anna Ullman,2002 Parent involvement in their childrens education and school life was studied in England through a telephone survey of 2 109 households Around 1 in 3 parents 29% felt very involved in their childs school life and primary school parents were more likely to feel this way than secondary school parents Mothers were more likely to say that they were very involved than were fathers Around 72% of all parents agreed that they wanted more involvement and a third definitely agreed Among the barriers to involvement parents cited the competing demands in their lives such as work commitments demands of other children childcare difficulties and lack of time generally Almost all parents were happy with the schools attitude toward them with a large majority finding the school welcoming 94% and willing to involve them 84% Parents particularly value face to face contact with teachers but a significant minority thought that they would be labeled trouble makers if they talked too much Parents were generally happy with the quality of written communications coming from schools although a significant minority 27% thought that the general information was spoiled by jargon Many parents were not aware of the labels given to recent educational initiatives and 35% did not recognize the term Home School Agreement even though all had been invited

The Knowledge Gap Natalie Wexler, 2019-08-06 Essential reading for teachers education administrators and policymakers alike STARRED Library Journal The untold story of the root cause of America's education crisis It was only after years within the education reform movement that Natalie Wexler stumbled across a hidden explanation for our country's frustrating lack of progress when it comes to providing every child with a quality education The problem wasn't one of the usual scapegoats lazy teachers shoddy facilities lack of accountability It was something no one was talking about the elementary school curriculum's intense focus on decontextualized reading comprehension skills at the expense of actual knowledge In the tradition of Dale Russakoff's The Prize and Dana Goldstein's The Teacher Wars Wexler brings together history research and compelling characters to pull back the curtain on this fundamental flaw in our education system one that fellow reformers journalists and policymakers have long overlooked and of which the general public including many parents remains unaware But The Knowledge Gap isn't just a story of what schools have gotten so wrong it also follows innovative educators who are in the process of shedding their deeply ingrained habits and describes the rewards that have come along students who are not only excited to learn but are also acquiring the knowledge and vocabulary that will enable them to succeed If we truly want to fix our education system and unlock the potential of our neediest children we have no choice but to pay attention

The Listening Leader Shane Safir, 2017-03-17 LISTENING THE KEY TO BECOMING A TRANSFORMATIVE SCHOOL LEADER The Listening Leader is a practical guide that will inspire school district and teacher leaders to make substantive change and increase equitable student outcomes Rooted in the values of equity relationships and listening this luminous book helps reimagine what is possible in education today Drawing from more than twenty years of experience in public schools Shane Safir incorporates hands-on strategies and powerful stories to show us how to leverage one of the most vital tools of leadership listening As a Listening Leader you'll feel more confident in these core competencies Cultivating relationships with stakeholders Addressing equity challenges in your organization Gathering student staff and parent perspectives as rich data on improvement Fostering a thriving culture of collaboration and innovation The Listening Leader offers a much-needed leadership model to transform every facet of school life and most importantly to shape our schools into equitable places of learning As Michael Fullan writes in the Foreword Read it act on it and reap the benefits for all This book is a must-have for any leader trying to move the needle on equity Drawing from her lived experience as a principal and leadership coach Safir offers stories that give insight and practical strategies that get results It's one you'll keep coming back to Zaretta Hammond author of Culturally Responsive Teaching and the Brain The Listening Leader immediately changed the way I interact with students teachers families and community members Tamara Friedman assistant principal Berkeley High School Shane Safir has written a brilliant book As engaging as it is informative and as revelatory as it is relevant It is a must-read for school leaders and those who aspire to lead Chris Emdin associate professor of science education Teachers College Columbia University author of For White Folks Who Teach In the Hood and the Rest of Ya ll too Funds of Knowledge Norma Gonzalez,Luis C. Moll,Cathy Amanti,2006-04-21 The concept of funds of knowledge is based on a simple premise people are competent and have knowledge and their life experiences have given them that knowledge The claim in this book is that first hand research experiences with families allow one to document this competence and knowledge and that such engagement provides many possibilities for positive pedagogical actions Drawing from both Vygotskian and neo sociocultural perspectives in designing a methodology that views the everyday practices of language and action as constructing knowledge the funds of knowledge approach facilitates a systematic and powerful way to represent communities in terms of the resources they possess and how to harness them for classroom teaching This book accomplishes three objectives It gives readers the basic methodology and techniques followed in the contributors funds of knowledge research it extends the boundaries of what these researchers have done and it explores the applications to classroom practice that can result from teachers knowing the communities in which they work In a time when national educational discourses focus on system reform and wholesale replicability across school sites this book offers a counter perspective stating that instruction must be linked to students lives and that details of effective pedagogy should be linked to local histories and community contexts This approach should not be confused with parent participation programs although that is often a fortuitous consequence of the work described It is also not an attempt to teach parents how to do school although that could certainly be an outcome if the parents so desired Instead the funds of knowledge approach attempts to accomplish something that may be even more challenging to alter the perceptions of working class or poor communities by viewing their households primarily in terms of their strengths and resources their defining pedagogical characteristics Funds of Knowledge Theorizing Practices in Households Communities and Classrooms is a critically important volume for all teachers and teachers to be and for researchers and graduate students of language culture and education The Broken Compass Keith Robinson,Angel L. Harris,2014-01-06 It seems like common sense children do better when parents are involved in their schooling But does the evidence stack up The Broken Compass puts this question to the test across socioeconomic groups and the surprising finding is that no clear connection exists between parental involvement and improved student performance Families and Schools in a Pluralistic Society Nancy Feyl Chavkin,1993-01-01 Recent research identifies increased parent involvement in education as a promising method to bolster student achievement Statistics show that while many traditional white middle class families have found ways to be involved with their children s schooling our nation now needs to find ways to include more minority parents in their children s education Most educators and parents would agree that minority parent involvement in education is essential the mechanics of developing sensitive realistic and workable home school relationships are more elusive It requires a concerted effort by all involved to understand more about the complex parent school relationship and to develop specific plans to help families This comprehensive volume features substantial material from the nation's most renowned research projects on parent involvement: Stanford University's Center for the Study of Families, Children, and Youth; the Johns Hopkins University's Center for Research on Elementary and Middle Schools; the Southwest Educational Development Laboratory; and the National Catholic Education Association. In addition to a section on research, the book includes a section on practice that presents research-tested strategies on working with minority parents: Asian American, Indian, Hispanic, African American, and other minority groups. The book concludes with a section on future challenges that educators must confront and appendices on promising national programs and helpful resource materials. Beyond the Bake Sale Anne T. Henderson, 2010-07-09

Countless studies demonstrate that students with parents actively involved in their education at home and school are more likely to earn higher grades and test scores, enroll in higher-level programs, graduate from high school, and go on to post-secondary education. Beyond the Bake Sale shows how to form these essential partnerships and how to make them work. Packed with tips from principals and teachers, checklists, and an invaluable resource section, Beyond the Bake Sale reveals how to build strong collaborative relationships and offers practical advice for improving interactions between parents and teachers, from insuring that PTA groups are constructive and inclusive to navigating the complex issues surrounding diversity in the classroom. Written with candor, clarity, and humor, Beyond the Bake Sale is essential reading for teachers, parents on the front lines in public schools, and administrators and policy makers at all levels. Communication for Teachers Joseph L. Chesebro, James C. McCroskey, 2002 This book provides a synthesis of important research on communication instruction and builds on that by discussing how beginning teachers can apply the information to their own teaching. With eleven chapters written or co-written by some of the most prolific instructional communication researchers, this book provides diverse viewpoints and perspectives on a wide range of topics that impact teachers' communication with students in a classroom setting. For beginning teachers at all grade levels. National Standards for Parent/Family Involvement Programs

National PTA (U.S.), 1997 Handbook on Family and Community Engagement Sam Redding, Marilyn Murphy, Pam Sheley, 2011-10-19 This Handbook features insights from 36 experts on family and community engagement, offering practical suggestions for states, districts, and schools. It includes vivid vignettes of parents, teachers, and kids celebrating the diversity and goodness of families, schools, and communities across the nation.
