Paris To The Moon:

Paris to the Moon Adam Gopnik, 2001-12-18 Paris The name alone conjures images of chestnut lined boulevards sidewalk caf's breathtaking fa ades around every corner in short an exquisite romanticism that has captured the American imagination for as long as there have been Americans In 1995 Adam Gopnik his wife and their infant son left the familiar comforts and hassles of New York City for the urbane glamour of the City of Light Gopnik is a longtime New Yorker writer and the magazine has sent its writers to Paris for decades but his was above all a personal pilgrimage to the place that had for so long been the undisputed capital of everything cultural and beautiful It was also the opportunity to raise a child who would know what it was to romp in the Luxembourg Gardens to enjoy a croque monsieur in a Left Bank caf a child and perhaps a father too who would have a grasp of that Parisian sense of style we Americans find so elusive So in the grand tradition of the American abroad Gopnik walked the paths of the Tuileries enjoyed philosophical discussions at his local bistro wrote as violet twilight fell on the arrondissements Of course as readers of Gopnik's beloved and award winning Paris Journals in The New Yorker know there was also the matter of raising a child and carrying on with day to day not so fabled life Evenings with French intellectuals preceded middle of the night baby feedings afternoons were filled with trips to the Mus e d Orsay and pinball games weekday leftovers were eaten while three star chefs debated a culinary crisis As Gopnik describes in this funny and tender book the dual processes of navigating a foreign city and becoming a parent are not completely dissimilar journeys both hold new routines new languages a new set of rules by which everyday life is lived With singular wit and insight Gopnik weaves the magical with the mundane in a wholly delightful often hilarious look at what it was to be an American family man in Paris at the end of the twentieth century We went to Paris for a sentimental reeducation I did anyway even though the sentiments we were instructed in were not the ones we were expecting to learn which I believe is why they call it an education The Table Comes First Adam Gopnik, 2011-10-25 Transplanted Canadian New Yorker writer and author of Paris to the Moon Gopnik is publishing this major new work of narrative non fiction alongside his 2011 Massey Lecture An illuminating beguiling tour of the morals and manners of our present food manias in search of eating s deeper truths asking Where do we go from here Never before have so many North Americans cared so much about food But much of our attention to it tends towards grim calculation what protein is best how much social preening I can always score the last reservation at xxxxx or graphic machismo watch me eat this now Gopnik shows we are not the first food fetishists but we are losing sight of a timeless truth the table comes first what goes on around the table matters as much to life as what we put on the table families come together or break apart over the table conversations across the simplest or grandest board can change the world pain and romance unfold around it all this is more essential to our lives than the provenance of any zucchini or the road it travelled to reach us Whatever dilemmas we may face as omnivores how not what we eat ultimately defines our society Gathering people and places drawn from a quarter century s reporting in North America and France The
