Parliaments and Political Change in Asia Clemens Jürgenmeyer, Michael H. Nelson, Patrick Ziegenhain, 2005 This study of the national parliaments of India Indonesia the Philippines South Korea and Thailand is inspired by four major theoretical discourses neo institutionalism parliamentarianism versus presidentialism majoritarian versus consensus democracy and transition theory The book examines the specific role of parliaments in political decision making regime change democratization and consolidation of democracy in a comparative perspective It argues that parliaments play a greater part in the political decision making than is often asserted and that there is no cogent causal relationship between parliamentary performance and system of government

Parliaments in Asia Zheng Yongnian, Lye Liang Fook, Wilhelm Hofmeister, 2013-10-23 Much writing on politics in Asia revolves around the themes of democracy and democratisation with a particular focus on political systems and political parties This book on the other hand examines the role that parliaments a key institution of democracy play in East Southeast and South Asia including Taiwan and Hong Kong Parliaments in these locations function in a variety of historical political and socio economic circumstances with different implications for institution building and political development This book examines questions like how accessible representative transparent accountable and effective are parliaments To what extent are parliaments able to hold other political actors to account or how far are they constrained by the political environment in which they operate Going further this book considers how new media such as the Internet and other social platforms through providing avenues for individuals to articulate their views separate from official channels are influencing the ways parliaments work To stay relevant parliamentarians need to reach out and engage these individuals in formulating deciding and fine tuning policies In the information age being a parliamentarian has become more challenging and how a parliamentarian copes with this change will shape the nature and pace of political development

Crafting Parliament in Myanmar's Disciplined Democracy (2011-2021) Renaud Egret, 2022-03-01 In January 2011 parliament was restored in Myanmar after two decades of military rule Startlingly it began to repeal obsolete laws scrutinize government expenditures summon ministers to the floor and discuss the state s annual budget It also allowed its elected representatives to make public the grievances collected from constituents infuriated at enduring practices of land confiscation petty corruption and everyday abuses of power Yet ten years later in February 2021 parliament was shut down again by a coup d tat What has been learned in the span of a decade of post junta parliamentary resurgence How could an elected legislature resurface and function in a country that had only limited experience with parliamentary affairs and representative politics since its independence from British rule What lessons can be drawn from the Myanmar case for parliamentary institution building and legislative developments and decay in post authoritarian and praetorian contexts This book offers a compelling account of Myanmar s halting efforts to develop the institutional framework and practice of a parliament based democratic governance between 2011 and 2021 It charts the stages of such a legislative resurgence tracing its causes and exploring how various institutional and political legacies both informed and constrained the re establishment and operations of the Union legislature or Pyidaungsu Hluttaw Embracing both ethnographic observations and a methodical engagement with legislative proceedings and historical material Renaud Egreteau investigates how parliamentary life re emerged in Myanmar in the 2010s His analysis concentrates on key legislative mechanisms processes and tasks pertaining to government oversight budgetary control representation and lawmaking and interrogates how they were learned re appropriated and mis performed by Myanmar s new breed of legislators and parliamentary staff until the 2021 army takeover studies and international relations      Political Change, Democratic Transitions and Security in Southeast Asia Mely Caballero-Anthony, 2009-12-16 The fragility of democracy in Southeast Asia is a subject of increasing concern While there has been significant movement in the direction of democratisation the authoritarian tendencies of popularly elected leaders and the challenges posed by emerging security threats have given rise to a shared concern about the return of military rule in the region This book examines the nature of political transitions in Southeast Asia and why political transitions towards political liberalisation and democracy have often failed to take off It considers political systems in Southeast Asia that have gone through significant periods of transition but continue to face serious challenges toward democratic consolidation Some key questions that the book focuses on are Are emerging democracies in the region threatened by weak failed or authoritarian leadership Are political institutions that are supposed to support political changes toward democratisation weak or strong How can democratic systems be made more resilient and What are the prospects of democracy becoming the defining political landscape in Southeast Asia      Parliaments in Asia Nizam Ahmed, Philip Norton, 2013-09-13 This is a description and assessment of Asian parliaments It looks at the parliaments of India Bangladesh Korea Japan China Mongolia and Nepal and assesses key variables that determine the impact of parliaments      Planting Parliaments in Eurasia, 1850-1950 Ivan Sablin, Egas Moniz Bandeira, 2021-05-30 Parliaments are often seen as Western European and North American institutions and their establishment in other parts of the world as a derivative and mostly defective process This book challenges such Eurocentric visions by retracing the evolution of modern institutions of collective decision making in Eurasia Breaching the divide between different area studies the book provides nine case studies covering the area between the eastern edge of Asia and Eastern Europe including the former Russian Ottoman Qing and Japanese Empires as well as their successor states In particular it explores the appeals to concepts of parliamentarism deliberative decision making and constitutionalism historical practices related to parliamentarism and political mythologies across Eurasia It focuses on the historical and reestablished institutions of decision making which consciously hark back to indigenous traditions and adapt them to the changing circumstances in imperial and postimperial contexts Thereby the book explains how representative institutions were needed for the establishment of modernized empires or postimperial states but at the same time offered a connection to the past The Open Access version of this book available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com/books/e/9780367691271> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 licence      Civil Society and Political Change in Asia Muthiah Alagappa, 2004 A systematic investigation of the connection between civil society and political change in Asia change toward open participatory and accountable politics Its findings suggest that the link between a vibrant civil society and democracy is indeterminate certain civil society organizations support democracy others could undermine it      Parties and Parliaments in Southeast Asia Roland Rich, 2014-06-23 Political parties are an essential ingredient in a modern democracy They are also seen as the least trusted and most problematic institution in most democratic systems While there have been attempts to strengthen parties through institutional design and capacity building a new strategy has been to quarantine them from parts of parliament Within the space of a few years the Philippines Thailand and Indonesia implemented designs for parliamentary representation that proscribed the established political parties from a parliamentary chamber or part thereof Using these three countries as case studies this book traces the historical context for institutional designs the intentions behind them and their implementation through at least one full parliamentary term It investigates the conceptual architecture of the non partisan designs identifying corporatism as one discredited alternative and championship as another While there is a yearning for exemplary people as representatives the designers have struggled to find a successful means of having these champions elected to office The book concludes that non partisan chambers based on the evidence to date are not viable This book is of interest to scholars of Southeast Asian Politics Party Politics Governance Institutions and Democracy Democratic Continuity and Change in South Asia United States. Congress. House. Committee on International Relations. Subcommittee on Asia and the Pacific,1997

Parliamentary Control and Government Accountability in South Asia Taiabur Rahman,2007-09-12 Parliaments or legislatures are the keystone of democratic governance and they are critical in securing government accountability This book presents a comparative analysis of the role of parliamentary committees in securing government accountability in the three largest and most important functioning democracies in South Asia Bangladesh India and Sri Lanka The author compares the nascent democracy of Bangladesh with the stable and vibrant democratic system of India since its independence from the British in 1947 and Sri Lanka's longstanding and established democracy He argues that in each country parliament has been able to survive and perform the key parliamentary tasks of representation legislation oversight of the executive conflict resolution and regime maintenance concluding that parliamentary committees in Bangladesh India and Sri Lanka do not perform as successfully as their counterparts in the Western world in controlling the government and holding it to account however their role in securing government accountability is not irrelevant Parliamentary Control and Government Accountability in South Asia will be a useful reference for studying third world parliaments in particular Political Change in Southeast Asia Jacques Bertrand,2013-07-11 Southeast Asia is a vast and complex region comprising countries with remarkably diverse histories and cultures Jacques Bertrand provides a fresh and highly original survey of politics and political change in this area of the world Against the backdrop of rapid economic development and social transformation in several countries he explores why some countries have adopted democratic institutions while others have maintained stable authoritarian systems or accepted communist regimes Bertrand presents a historically grounded account of capitalist countries and state socialist countries delving into the historical experience of individual countries whilst simultaneously providing a comparative framework with which to draw parallels and foster a better understanding of the political and economic dynamics both within and between the countries With powerful yet accessible analysis and detailed coverage this

Institutional Change and Political Continuity in Post-Soviet Central Asia Pauline Jones Luong, 2002-04-29 The establishment of electoral systems in Kazakhstan Kyrgyzstan and Uzbekistan presents both a complex set of empirical puzzles and a theoretical challenge Why did three states with similar cultural historical and structural legacies establish such different electoral systems How did these distinct outcomes result from strikingly similar institutional design processes Explaining these puzzles requires understanding not only the outcome of institutional design but also the intricacies of the process that led to this outcome Moreover the transitional context in which these three states designed new electoral rules necessitates an approach that explicitly links process and outcome in a dynamic setting This book provides such an approach Finally it both builds on the key insights of the dominant approaches to explaining institutional origin and change and transcends these approaches by moving beyond the structure versus agency debate

Manduhai Buyandelger, 2022-11-15 A Thousand Steps to Parliament traces how the complicated contradictory paths to political representation that women in Mongolia must walk mirror those the world over Mongolia has often been deemed an island of democracy commended for its rapid adoption of free democratic elections in the wake of totalitarian socialism The democratizing era however brought alongside it a phenomenon that Manduhai Buyandelger terms electionization a restructuring of elections from time grounded events into a continuous neoliberal force that governs everyday life beyond the electoral period In this way electoral campaigns have come to substitute for the functions of governing from social welfare to the private sector requiring an accumulation of wealth and power beyond the reach of most women candidates In A Thousand Steps to Parliament Buyandelger shows how successful women candidates instead use strategies of self polishing to cultivate charisma and a reputation for being oyunlag or intellectual This carefully crafted identity can be called the electable self treating their bodies and minds as pliable and renewable women candidates draw from the same practices of neoliberalism that have unsustainably commercialized elections By tracing the complicated contradictory paths to representation that women in Mongolia must walk A Thousand Steps to Parliament holds a mirror up to democracies the world over revealing an urgent need to grapple with the encroaching effects of neoliberalism in our global political systems
