Welfare of Domestic Fowl and Other Captive Birds Ian J. H. Duncan,Penny Hawkins,2009-12-29 Animal welfare is attracting increasing interest worldwide especially in developed countries where the knowledge and resources are available to at least potentially provide better management systems for farm animals as well as companion zoo and laboratory animals The key requirements for adequate food water a suitable environment appropriate companionship and good health are important for animals kept for all of these purposes There has been increased attention given to farm animal welfare in many co tries in recent years This derives largely from the fact that the relentless pursuit of nancial reward and ef ciency to satisfy market demands has led to the devel ment of intensive animal production systems that challenge the conscience of many consumers in those countries In developing countries human survival is still a daily uncertainty so that p vision for animal welfare has to be balanced against human needs Animal welfare is usually a priority only if it supports the output of the animal be it food work clothing sport or companionship In principle the welfare needs of both humans and animals can be provided for in both developing and developed countries if resources are properly husbanded In reality however the inequitable division of the world s riches creates physical and psychological poverty for humans and a mals alike in many parts of the world Guide to the Quaker Parrot Mattie Sue Athan,2008 back cover An endearing personality and a

been a prominent art dealer and collector finds a sketch of a parrot trainer from an ancient Indian Mimbres bowl along with a map to a cliff dwelling at the scene of a fatal accident He is fascinated by the image of a parrot trainer and her haunting gesture Obsessed he finds the bowl and is stung by something venomous as he descends the cliff He manages to drive home in spite of his violent reaction to the venom There to his confusion Willow the Parrot Trainer comes alive and begs him to free her spirit from the bowl Jack is certain she is an hallucination a product of his own mind Lucy an archaeologist from the east is in New Mexico to give a speech at a convention when she receives a call from Philip a renowned archaeologist her mentor and lover Philip has discovered that a secret DNA test at Berkeley has identified a caucasoidal specimen from a 15 000 year old body found in a glacier in Alaska and that the sample was sent by a Jack Miller in Silverado This significant find could revive his waning celebrity Philip asks Lucy to find Miller and get him to reveal the location of the man in the glacier After Lucy s speech she has a run in with Henri a pixieish deconstructionist who is the subject of a documentary by edgy Anita and her wildman cameraman Billy When Anita and Billy learn of Lucy s plan to go to Silverado they offer to take her so they can film the fireworks between Lucy and Henri The drive from Albuquerque to Silverado turns into an antic and sometimes violent road trip as they clash with each other and provoke the locals Tweaking knee jerk political correctness and academia Swain Wolfe provides a rich archaeological and anthropological background that deals with some of the fields most controversial issues Witty sexy and packed with local color this is a novel of ideas with the additional appeal of enchanting magic realism high adventure and a tender love story
