Headless Woman with Parrot Emiliano Battista, 2017 Paintings and their corresponding studies are reproduced in this survey of the artist's work from 2011 to 2017 An interpretive poem Blank Melody by poet Charity Coleman serves as the book's introduction An essay by curator Jeff De Blois titled Never Converge Into a Whole examines art historical references and conceptual influences Large reproductions and a pared down design reflect the artist's illustrational style throughout this body of work Parrot Woman Alice Bach, 1987 Alex the Parrot Stephanie Spinner, 2012 This book examines how Alex the African grey parrot changed our knowledge of the intelligence of these beautiful birds Bird Lady Elizabeth Le Geyt, Michael Le Geyt, 2014-05-27 In Bird Lady Elizabeth Le Geyt recounts a century of birding experiences in which she shares her heartfelt devotion to her feathered friends In collaboration with her son Michael Elizabeth began and completed these memoirs during her 100th year She describes her early years of living and birdwatching in Britain where she explored the woods the moors and the seashores searching out her beloved birds Following an abrupt move to Canada she was forced to begin again this time studying the birds of North America Learn how Elizabeth cared for and released into the wild more than 30 species of young birds orphaned by assorted misfortunes Enjoy the antics of Jacko her talking African grey parrot the incredible survival story of Joey the pigeon and the efforts made to save Rattles the kingfisher Join her on birding tours as she visits South Africa Mexico Costa Rica Trinidad Britain and Arizona Share her excitement as she thrills to the sight of exotic birds like resplendent quetzals blue throated hummingbirds and fiery billed aracaris Learn from her century of accumulated wisdom as she concludes her memoirs with an impassioned plea for better environmental stewardship of our planet and its myriad life forms Alex & Me Irene Pepperberg, 2013 A moving tribute that beautifully evokes the struggles the initial triumphs the setbacks the unexpected and often stunning achievements while uncovering cognitive abilities in Alex that no one believed were possible Publishers Weekly On September 6 2007 an African Grey parrot named Alex died prematurely at age thirty one His last words to his owner Irene Pepperberg were You be good I love you What would normally be a quiet very private event was in Alex's case headline news Over the thirty years they had worked together Alex and Irene had become famous two pioneers who opened an unprecedented window into the hidden yet vast world of animal minds Alex's brain was the size of a shelled walnut and when Irene and Alex first met birds were not believed to possess any potential for language consciousness or anything remotely comparable to human intelligence Yet over the years Alex proved many things He could add He could sound out words He understood concepts like bigger smaller more fewer and none He was capable of thought and intention Together Alex and Irene uncovered a startling reality We live in a world populated by thinking conscious creatures The fame that resulted was extraordinary Yet there was a side to their relationship that never made the papers They were emotionally connected to one another They shared a deep bond far beyond science Alex missed Irene when she was away He was jealous when she paid attention to other parrots or even people He liked to show her who was boss He loved to dance He sometimes became bored by the repetition of his tests and played jokes on her Sometimes they sniped at each other Yet nearly every day they each said I love you Alex and Irene stayed together through thick and thin despite sneers from experts extraordinary financial sacrifices and a nomadic existence from one university to another The story of their thirty year adventure is equally a landmark of scientific achievement and of an unforgettable human animal bond

The Bird Way Jennifer Ackerman, 2021-05-04 From the New York Times bestselling author of The Genius of Birds a radical investigation into the bird way of being and the recent scientific research that is dramatically shifting our understanding of birds how they live and how they think There is the mammal way and there is the bird way But the bird way is much more than a unique pattern of brain wiring and lately scientists have taken a new look at bird behaviors they have for years dismissed as anomalies or mysteries What they are finding is upending the traditional view of how birds conduct their lives how they communicate forage court breed survive They are also revealing the remarkable intelligence underlying these activities abilities we once considered uniquely our own deception manipulation cheating kidnapping infanticide but also ingenious communication between species cooperation collaboration altruism culture and play Some of these extraordinary behaviors are biological conundrums that seem to push the edges of well birdness a mother bird that kills her own infant sons and another that selflessly tends to the young of other birds as if they were her own a bird that collaborates in an extraordinary way with one species ours but parasitizes another in gruesome fashion birds that give gifts and birds that steal birds that dance or drum that paint their creations or paint themselves birds that build walls of sound to keep out intruders and birds that summon playmates with a special call and may hold the secret to our own penchant for playfulness and the evolution of laughter Drawing on personal observations the latest science and her bird related travel around the world from the tropical rainforests of eastern Australia and the remote woodlands of northern Japan to the rolling hills of lower Austria and the islands of Alaska s Kachemak Bay Jennifer Ackerman shows there is clearly no single bird way of being In every respect in plumage form song flight lifestyle niche and behavior birds vary It is what we love about them As E O Wilson once said when you have seen one bird you have not seen them all

Parrot Culture Bruce Thomas Boehrer, 2015-11-02 After completing his conquest of the Persian empire Alexander the Great maneuvered his army across the Hindu Kush and into India During his two years there he traveled from dry frigid mountains to humid tropical lowlands and then back across one of the most punishing deserts on the planet He fought a series of desperate battles against strange foes mounted on war elephants suffering wounds that nearly killed him And when he eventually turned homeward he brought with him specimens of a rare magical species a bird that could speak with a human voice Introduced to Europe by Alexander parrots were quickly embraced by Western culture as exotic and astonishing full of marvelous powers and close to the gods Over the centuries they would become objects of veneration or figures of folly creatures prized for their wit or their place on the dinner table Ultimately they would become emblematic of the West's interaction with the world at large Identifying a deeply rooted obsession with these beautiful and loquacious birds Bruce Thomas Boehrer provides the first account of parrots and their impact on the Western world Parrot Culture Our 2500 Year Long Fascination with the World's Most Talkative Bird traces the unusual history of parrots from their introduction in the Graeco Roman world as items of oriental luxury through the great age of New World exploration to the contemporary ecological crisis of globalism Boehrer identifies the poignant irony in the way parrots became ubiquitous as symbols and mascots while suffering near extinction at the hands of those who desired them Exploring their presence and meanings in the art literature and history of Western civilization Parrot Culture also celebrates the beauty intelligence and personality of these birds whose fate will say as much about us and the world we have created as it will about them

Italian Popular Tales Thomas Frederick Crane,2001-12-05 An important reintroduction to this literature this compilation of Thomas Crane s original translations of Italian folk stories includes new critical analysis For 19th century folklorist Thomas Crane the value of collecting translating and reproducing folktales lay in their internationalism their capacity to reveal how the customs of a particular group no matter how unique are linked to many others In his classic collection edited and updated by contemporary folklorist Jack Zipes Crane traces the roots of Italian folktales to their origins often in the Orient then shows how they diffused in unpredictable and marvelous ways throughout Italy and over the centuries A contemporary of the brothers Grimm Crane offers a richer more complex selection of oral and literary tales Unlike the Grimms he doesn t edit or modify the tales which deal openly with surprisingly contemporary subjects murder adultery incest child abuse and brutal vengeance

Bible of the Gun Jonathan Cottam,2010-09-15 Bible of the Gun is a collection of stories from the novel of the title to the novella of Bathory and the State to the long shorts of The Destructive Urge and The Rose of John Hamlet The stories have several things in common The first of these is brevity none of the stories have anything that is inessential not a single line that the author did not enjoy writing that was not a curiosity or a puzzle to be solved The second is surrealism All the stories are surrealist in one sense or another all steal something from dreams and all try to unlock something of the animal from the Id The author aligns himself with Bizarro because the work clearly is however it is also seriously surrealist Thirdly violence in all the authors work is never treated morally but let loose you dont have to read the stories from the point of view of a good person being shown bad things which fascinate and yet you are never allowed to be a part of but just as if you were in a dream or were a child you have no moral compass and are lead into violence without condemnation are told to identify with it even when its source is apparently evil To go back to surrealism before we discuss the actual stories I the author am a surrealist anarchist and a surrealist creator for three reasons One is a fascination with dreams their strangeness and wonder where they come from their unrestrained adventures Two is a political interest from the point of view that the super ego the restraints of the opinions of society therefore the opinions of the state through all aspects of media and coercion is a cowardly internalised source that restricts our freedom and makes everyone slaves Thirdly is an attempt to unpeel this onion even further let out the Id the creativity the desires without the restraints of ego and super ego to see the core of who we are even if this is bad I want to find good but I do not want to find it at the bottom of being afraid because I do not want to consent to the pressures of every one and thing I despise even if I am instead lead to evil that I despise more and yet I find as a child or in a dream I am rarely lead to evil through lack of social inhibitions in my work I often am but then I have had a very violent life Most of these stories however are rather more restrained than the earlier works of Unrequited Zombie and Urban Book of the Dead except for The Destructive Urge also the most surreal here and the most recent Bathory and the State is from an earlier period and a little primitive which only means it is eighteen months old

Bible of the Gun is a story about a man who after strange events of a dream like and schizophrenic nature goes to see a female psychiatrist I was lying on the leather couch so much like a dental chair the smell of leather had a clinical effect on the memories she extracted as the sense of smell alerted me to smells from the past Light fell on the couches black leather in shiny checks from the window light as the warm rays that read my mind with their heat signatures fell on us they made the plant on the coffee table with its lush green leaves burble to me happily in a language I could not understand Like pulling teeth she grasped each memory examined it through her glasses leaning forward she tapped each one with her pen looking for rottenness tore it painfully from its protective flesh Her mobile phone sat on the coffee table Dismantled at my request slim orange and black a Sonny Ericsson 880i it had its spying guts removed That is its battery lay at its side so that the secret services or who ever they were could not pick up through its microphone my conversation with my psychiatrist My psychiatrist sat in a swiveling chair I looked down at her red shoes the sharp heels pointing from one side and then the other as she turned the chair from side to side with her long legs occasionally PRIMITIVE ART FRANZ BOAS,1927
