Partial Justice:

Partial Justice Nicole Rafter, 2017-07-05 Contemporary Research on crime prisons and social control has largely ignored women Partial Justice the only full scale study of the origins and development of women s prisons in the United States traces their evolution from the late eighteenth century to the present day It shows that the character of penal treatment was involved in the very definition of womanhood for incarcerated women a definition that varied by race and social class Rafter traces the evolution of women s prisons showing that it followed two markedly different models Custodial institutions for women literally grew out of men s penitentiaries starting from a separate room for women Eventually women were housed in their own separate facilities a development that ironically inaugurated a continuing history of inmate neglect Then later in the nineteenth century women convicted of milder offenses such as morals charges were placed into a new kind of institution The reformatory was a result of middle class reform movements and it attempted to rehabilitate to a degree unknown in men s prisons Tracing regional and racial variations in these two branches of institutions over time Rafter finds that the criminal justice system has historically meted out partial justice to female inmates Women have benefited in neither case Partial Justice draws in first hand accounts legislative documents reports by investigatory commissions and most importantly the records of over 4 600 female prisoners taken from the original registers of five institutions This second edition includes two new chapters that bring the story into the present day and discusses measures now being used to challenge the partial justice women have historically experienced

Reading Is My Window Megan Sweeney, 2010-02-15 Drawing on extensive interviews with ninety four women prisoners Megan Sweeney examines how incarcerated women use available reading materials to come to terms with their pasts negotiate their present experiences and reach toward different futures Foregrounding the voices of African American women Sweeney analyzes how prisoners read three popular genres narratives of victimization urban crime fiction and self help books She outlines the history of reading and education in U S prisons highlighting how the increasing dehumanization of prisoners has resulted in diminished prison libraries and restricted opportunities for reading Although penal officials have sometimes endorsed reading as a means to control prisoners Sweeney illuminates the resourceful ways in which prisoners educate and empower themselves through reading Given the scarcity of counseling and education in prisons women use books to make meaning from their experiences to gain guidance and support to experiment with new ways of being and to maintain connections with the world

Mann, 2012-02-09 Contemporary capabilities based approaches to social justice inspired by the Aristotelian emphasis on human well being have tended to separate and even oppose identity based or recognitive justice from resource based or redistributive justice This book demonstrates that such a divorce risks further polarizing capable members of the political community from disabled or vulnerable members In order to prevent this danger of legitimizing the growing stratification between rich and poor or between capability and vulnerability in modern neo liberal societies Molly Harkirat Mann turns to the work of Paul Ricoeur In so doing she develops the argument that our historical and institutionalized practices of sharing articulated by the lexicographical configuration of the Rawlsian principles of justice represent a method for public deliberation or civic Phronesis the ethical aim of which is the non exclusion of our most vulnerable citizens from public institutions of care By developing his political philosophy in relation to class politics in modern liberal societies this book shows how Ricoeur s political thought is more closely aligned to that of John Rawls than has previously been acknowledged
