Miles, 2014-07-01 Based on three decades of fieldwork throughout the developing world Scars of Partition is the first book to systematically evaluate the long term implications of French and British styles of colonialism and decolonization for ordinary people throughout the so called Third World It pays particular attention to the contemporary legacies of artificial boundaries superimposed by Britain and France that continue to divide indigenous peoples into separate postcolonial states In so doing it uniquely illustrates how the distinctive stamps of France and Britain continue to mark daily life along and behind these inherited borders in Africa Asia Oceania and the Caribbean Scars of Partition draws on political science anthropology history and geography to examine six cases of indigenous indentured and enslaved peoples partitioned by colonialism in West Africa West Indies South Pacific Southeast Asia South India and the Indian Ocean William F S Miles demonstrates that sovereign nations throughout the developing world despite basic differences in culture geography and politics still bear the underlying imprint of their colonial pasts Disentangling and appreciating these embedded colonial legacies is critical to achieving full decolonization particularly in their borderlands

Ending Empire Hendrik Spruyt, 2005 At the dawn of the twentieth century imperial powers controlled most of the globe Within a few decades after World War II many of the great empires had dissolved and more recently multinational polities have similarly disbanded This process of reallocating patterns of authority from internal hierarchy to inter state relations proved far more contentious in some cases than in others While some governments exited the colonial era without becoming embroiled in lengthy conflicts others embarked on courses that drained their economies compelled huge sacrifices and caused domestic upheaval and revolution What explains these variations in territorial policy More specifically why do some governments have greater latitude to alter existing territorial arrangements whereas others are constrained in their room for maneuver In Ending Empire Hendrik Spruyt argues that the answer lies in the domestic institutional structures of the central governments Fragmented polities provide more opportunities for hard liners to veto concessions to nationalist and secessionist demands thus making violent conflict more likely Spruyt examines these dynamics in the democratic colonial empires of Britain France and the Netherlands He then turns to the authoritarian Portuguese empire and the break up of the Soviet Union Finally the author submits that this theory which speaks to the political dynamics of partition can be applied to other contested territories including those at the heart of the Arab Israeli conflict
