Partitioned Africans Ethnic Relations Across Africa's International Boundaries 1884 1984:

Partitioned Africans A. I. Asiwaju, 1984 Handbook of Africa's International Relations Tim Murithi, 2013-09-05 Africa's international relations have often been defined and oriented by the dominant international and geopolitical agendas of the day. In the aftermath of colonialism the Cold War became a dominant paradigm that defined the nature of the continent's relationship with the rest of the world. The contemporary forces of globalization are now exerting an undue influence and impact upon Africa's international relations. Increasingly the African continent is emerging as a vocal and in some respects an influential actor in international relations. There is a paucity of analysis and research on this emerging trend. This timely book proposes to fill this analytical gap by engaging with a wide range of issues with chapters written by experts on a variety of themes. The emerging political prominence of the African continent on the world stage is predicated on an evolving internal process of continental integration. In particular there are normative and policy efforts to revive the spirit of Pan Africanism. The 21st century is witnessing the evolution of Pan Africanism notably through the constitution and establishment of the African Union (AU). Given the fact that there is a dearth of analysis on this phenomenon this volume will also interrogate the notion of Pan Africanism through various lenses notably peace and security, development, the environment and trade. The volume will also engage with the emerging role of the AU as an international actor e.g. with regard to its role in the reform of the United Nations Security Council, climate change, the International Criminal Court (ICC), the treaty establishing Africa as a nuclear free zone, Internally Displaced Persons, the Millennium Development Goals (MDGs), international trade, the environment, public health issues, security and development issues. This book will assess how the AU's role as an international actor is complicated by the difficulty of promoting consensus among African states and then maintaining that consensus in the face of often divergent national interests. This book will in part assess the role of the AU in articulating collective and joint policies and in making interventions in international decision and policy making circles. The Handbook will also assess the role of African social movements and their relationship with global actors. The role of African citizens in ameliorating their own conditions is often underplayed in the international relations discourse and this volume will seek to redress this oversight. Throughout the book the various chapters will also assess the role that these citizen linkages have contributed towards continental integration and in confronting the challenges of globalization.

Boundaries and History in Africa Willibrod Dze-Ingwa, E. S. D. Fomin, Daniel Abwa, Albert-Pascal Temgoua, 2013. This book comprises 26 well researched essays in honour of Professor Verkijika G. Faso who retired in 2011 after over 36 years of distinguished service at universities in Cameroon. Contributors include colleagues, former students and close collaborators in Cameroon and beyond. Contributions cover a wide range of issues related to the contested histories, politics and practices of boundaries and frontiers in Africa. These are themes on which Faso has researched, published and taught extensively and earned international recognition as a leading scholar. The book explores inter alia indigenous and endogenous practices of boundary making in Africa as well as colonial and contemporary traditions practices and conflicts on and around frontiers In particular focus are disputed colonial boundaries between Cameroon and its neighbours Issues of intra and inter disciplinary frontiers politics and cultures are also addressed The volume is crowned by a farewell valedictory lecture by Fanzo Like Fanzo and his rich repertoire of publications this bumper harvest of essays is without doubt truly immortalising Rethinking Language and Literature in a Changing World Genevoix Nana, Andrew Ngeh, 2019-08-20 This volume is a blend of language and literature papers highlighting linguistic functionality and topicality in poetry novels translation and education It sheds light on the fictionalised reality of a strained official linguistic cohabitation in Cameroon as instantiated in present day colonial legacy claims It deals with issues of translation as a stylistic exercise whereby the translator has some creativity licence when rendering the source text into the target language thus embracing Skopos theory's view of translation as a purposeful activity determined by the target text and audience This book also looks at an educational conception of translation as opposed to a professional translation curriculum and advocates a comprehensive needs analysis for translator education in the context of translation teaching at the Advanced School of Translators and Interpreters ASTI in Cameroon The chapters also examine teacher and student discourse in the context of English Language teaching in tertiary education in China and pinpoint a dominant teacher's voice made relevant by a Confucian didactic indexicality which appears to be a stumbling block to any dialogic classroom discourse despite a new curriculum promoting communicative language teaching and student centredness This book will appeal to academics in the fields of language and literature in general and in Cameroon and China in particular It will also be a valuable resource for professional translators and those concerned with teaching the subject in academia as it explores a pragmatic conception of translation and envisages it beyond professionalism as an academic field Conflict Resolution in Africa Francis M. Deng, I. William Zartman, 2011-07-01 While dramatic changes are taking place on the international scene and among the major powers Africa continues to suffer from a multitude of violent conflicts The toll of these conflicts is monumental in terms of war damage to productivity scarce resources diverted to armaments and military organizations and the resulting insecurity displacement and destruction At the same time Africans in response to internal demands as well as to international changes have begun to focus their attention and energies on these problems and are trying innovative ways to resolve differences by nonviolent means The outcomes of these attempts have urgent and complex implications for the future of the continent with respect to human rights principles of democracy and economic development In this book African European and U S experts examine these important issues and the prospects for conflict management and resolution in Africa They review the scholarship in resolution in light of international changes now taking place Addressing the undying internal causes of conflict they question whether global events will promote peace or threaten to unleash even more conflict The authors focus their analysis on the issues involved in African conflicts and examine the areas in need of the most dramatic changes They offer specific recommendations for dealing with current problems but caution that unless policymakers confront the security situation in Africa further destruction to national unity and political and economic stability is imminent Case studies and themes for further long term research are recommended

Nationalism and African Intellectuals Toyin Falola, 2004 An examination of the attempt by Western educated African intellectuals to create a better Africa through connecting nationalism to knowledge from the anti colonial movement to the present day This book is about how African intellectuals influenced primarily by nationalism have addressed the inter related issues of power identity politics self assertion and autonomy for themselves and their continent from the mid nineteenth century onward Their major goal was to create a better Africa by connecting nationalism to knowledge The results have been mixed from the glorious euphoria of the success of anti colonial movements to the depressing circumstances of the African condition as we enter a new millennium As the intellectual elite is a creation of the Western formal school system the ideas it generated are also connected to the larger world of scholarship This world is in turn shaped by European contacts with Africa from the fifteenth century onward the politics of the Cold War and the subsequent collapse of the Soviet Union In essence Africa and its elite cannot be fully understood without also considering the West and changing global politics Neither can the academic and media contributions by non Africans be ignored as these also affect the ways that Africans think about themselves and their continent Nationalism and African Intellectuals examines intellectuals ambivalent relationships with the colonial apparatus and subsequent nation state formations the contradictions manifested within pan Africanism and nationalism and the relation of academic institutions and intellectual production to the state during the nationalism period and beyond Toyin Falola is the Jacob and Frances Sanger Mossiker Chair in the Humanities and University Distinguished Teaching Professor at the University of Texas at Austin

Dilemmas of Weak States Tatah Mentan, 2017-11-30 Given the dramatic changes that have taken place in global politics in recent years especially following September 11 2001 it is time to examine a series of critical issues confronting the global political economy One of the most important of these issues is terrorism and its relationship with weak states This book examines the weak state terrorism nexus with particular emphasis on Africa Specifically it provides an in depth analysis of state weakness poverty and the opportunities offered by the latter for the breeding of terrorism and terrorists It also looks at the part played by radical Islam in transnational terrorism in Africa Emerging from this study is recognition of a need for the international system to analyze a wide range of issues that contribute to the weakening of African states

Regionalism in Africa Daniel C Bach,2015-12-22 Africa which was not long ago discarded as a hopeless and irrelevant region has become a new frontier for global trade investment and the conduct of international relations This book surveys the socio economic intellectual and security related dimensions of African regionalisms since the turn of the 20th century It argues that the continent deserves to be considered as a crucible for conceptualizing and contextualizing the ongoing influence of colonial policies the emergence of specific integration and security cultures the spread of cross border regionalisation processes at the expense of region building the interplay between territory space and trans state networks and the intrinsic ambivalence of global frontier narratives This is emphasized through the identification of distinctive threads of regionalism which by focusing on genealogies trajectories and ideals transcend the binary divide between old and new regionalisms In doing so the book opens new perspectives not only on Africa in international relations but also Africa s own international relations This text will be of key interest to students and scholars of African politics African history regionalism comparative regionalism and more broadly to international political economy international relations and global and regional governance

Nation-states and the Challenges of Regional Integration in West Africa Siga Fatima Jagne,2010

The Dissolution of the Colonial Empires Franz Ansprenger,2018-05-01 First published in 1989 On the eve of the First World War almost 72 million square kilometres of territory and more than 560 million people were under colonial rule By 1980 the European colonial empires had disappeared from the map Concentrating in particular on the British Commonwealth and the French colonial empire the author shows how economic and political changes in the mother countries the awakening national consciousness of the African and Asian peoples and the effects of two World Wars had all compelled Europe to decolonize He argues that although a satisfactory new order in world politics and the global economy has not been achieved in the process the dissolution of the empires came about with remarkably little bloodshed thereby laying a solid foundation for the future The author concludes by looking at the legacy of the decolonized world in the late 1980s He examines the last bastion of European colonial domination South Africa and discusses the emerging new North South relations

The Gambia-Senegal Border Mariama Khan, 2019-05-22 This book interrogates the validity of longstanding claims that Gambians and Senegalese are one people in two countries and explores how that claim intersects with the politics and development needs of the two countries Half a century after independence proponents of Senegambian unification continue to campaign on the basis of the longstanding social cultural and religious ties between Africa's smallest country The Gambia and Senegal the much larger country which almost entirely encircles it The border between the two former British and French colonies remains one of the starkest examples of colonial geographical bartering and it continues to serve a dual function as a bridge and a barrier in the social political and economic relations of the two countries The book investigates how the two states are constantly pulled between impulses of cooperation and de escalation and a competitive intimacy that disregards kinship ties and re activates tensions In particular the book shows how these interstate dynamics play out across the border itself where indigenous ideas of relatedness are reflected in the cross border transport and trade sectors and in the religious networks that straddle the two countries This book's skilful exploration of intersecting macro level and micro level relations in the Senegambia region will be of interest to scholars of African politics regional studies international development and border studies

Africa since Independence Paul Nugent, 2012-06-13 An indispensable introductory textbook that provides students with a genuinely comparative study of the different trajectories and experiences of independent African states Paul Nugent explores a range of key concerns including the impact of HIV and AIDS the contagion of warfare and efforts at achieving national reconciliation both in the past and today This is an ideal core text for modules on Modern African History African Politics or Africa since Independence or a supplementary text for broader modules on African History which may be offered at the upper levels of an undergraduate History Politics or African Studies degree In addition it is a crucial resource for students who may be studying modern African history for the first time as part of a taught postgraduate degree in African History African Politics or African Studies New to this Edition Revised and updated throughout in light of the latest research Reflects recent developments on issues such as AIDS urbanization the secession of South Sudan questions of citizenship and the importance of transnational spaces This second edition now features photographs

African Studies in Geography from Below Michel Ben

Arrous, Lazare Ki-Zerbo, 2009 The doctrine of international relations inter state indeed territorial ideologies the logic of autochthony and its ramifications ethnic cleansing are all hinged at different levels upon the same pseudo fact to every society a closed and exclusive territory demarcated by fixed and linear borders This way of thinking totally foreign to African societies for a long time has generated today more contradictions than it can ever solve The authors of this book make a clear distinction between territory formation from the top as being a deliberate political project and its formation from below as being a more diffused historical process which is determined by the scheme of antagonisms and compromises between social forces In lieu of a stark opposition between the top and below the authors unveil the interdependence and mutual influence which form the basis of a dual system within which legal formation by the colonial authorities first then by the postcolonial one is confronted with a host of subaltern spatial dynamics neglecting thereby the legitimacy which only they can provide As an essential read for anyone who is interested in the relationship between knowledge and power this book offers stimulating perspectives on the issue of African unity and its epistemological and political challenges It renews profoundly our approaches to human security citizenship borders and mobility

Munyi, David Mwambari, Aleks Ylönen, 2020-08-27 The volume documents Africa and African states in a state of proactivity as opposed to a reactionary mode of international relations which has long been the case due to the discipline's heavy concentration on the West Violence on the Margins Timothy Raeymaekers, 2013-08-27 This survey of various African and Asian conflicts examines people's experiences on territorial borders and the ways they affect political configurations By focusing on individuals routines and daily life these contributions treat borderland dynamics as actual political units with their own actions and outcomes

Homelands Nadav G. Shelef, 2020-07-15 Why are some territorial partitions accepted as the appropriate borders of a nation's homeland whereas in other places conflict continues despite or even because of division of territory In Homelands Nadav G Shelef develops a theory of what homelands are that acknowledges both their importance in domestic and international politics and their change over time. These changes he argues driven by domestic political competition and help explain the variation in whether partitions resolve conflict. Homelands also provides systematic comparable data about the homeland status of lost territory over time that allow it to bridge the persistent gap between constructivist theories of nationalism and positivist empirical analyses of international relations.
