Race and Labor Matters in the New U.S. Economy Manning Marable, Immanuel Ness, Professor, Brooklyn College, City University of New York, Joseph Wilson, 2006-05-25 In this powerful new work Marable Ness and Wilson maintain that contrary to the popular hubris about equality churned out by the capitalist class race is entrenched and more divisive than any time since the Civil Rights Movement Race and Labor Matters in the New U S Economy asserts that all advances in American race relations have only evolved through conflict and collective struggle The foundation of the class divide in the United States remains while racial and ethnic segregation privilege and domination and the institution of neoliberalism have become a detriment to all workers remains while racial and ethnic segregation privilege and domination and the institution of neoliberal policies are a detriment to all workers Reforming Capitalism for the Common Good Whalen, Charles J., 2022-08-23 In this book of carefully selected essays Charles Whalen presents constructive analyses of vital economic problems confronting the United States since the 1970s giving special attention to challenges facing working families The analyses are grounded in Whalen s career of more than three decades during which he has gleaned insight from institutional and post Keynesian economics and contributed to national economic policy making equitable regional development and worker engagement in business decisions The result is a compelling case for reforming capitalism by addressing workers interests as an integral part of the common good and for reconstructing economics in the direction of post Keynesian institutionalism Economic Justice and Democracy Robin Hahnel, 2013-05-13 In Economic Justice and Democracy Robin Hahnel puts aside most economic theories from the left and the right from central planning to unbridled corporate enterprise as undemocratic and instead outlines a plan for restructuring the relationship between markets and governments according to effects rather than contributions This idea is simple provocative and turns most arguments on their heads those most affected by a decision get to make it It s uncomplicated unquestionably American in its freedom reinforcement and essentially what anti globalization protestors are asking for Companies would be more accountable to their consumers polluters to nearby homeowners would be factory closers to factory town inhabitants Sometimes what s good for General Motors is bad for America which is why we have regulations in the first place Though participatory economics as Robert Heilbroner termed has been discussed more outside America than in it Hahnel has followed discussions elsewhere and also presents many of the arguments for and against this system and ways to put it in place A New New Deal Amy B. Dean, David B. Reynolds, 2011-05-15 In A New New Deal the labor movement leaders Amy B Dean and David B Reynolds offer a bold new plan to revitalize American labor activism and build a sense of common purpose between labor and community organizations Dean and Reynolds demonstrate how alliances organized at the regional level are the most effective tool to build a voice for working people in the workplace community and halls of government The authors draw on their own successes to offer in depth contemporary case studies of effective labor community coalitions They also outline a concrete strategy for building power at the regional level This pioneering model presents the regional building blocks for national change A diverse audience both within the labor movement and among its allies will welcome this clear detailed and inspiring presentation of regional power building tactics which include deep coalition building leadership development policy research and aggressive political action A New New Deal explores successful coalitions forged in Los Angeles Boston Denver San Jose New Haven and Atlanta toward goals such as universal health insurance for children and sensible redevelopment efforts that benefit workers as well as businesses The authors view partnerships between labor and grassroots organizations as a mutually beneficial strategy based on shared goals resulting in a broadened membership base and increased organizational capacity They make the innovative argument that the labor movement can steward both industry and community and make manifest the ways in which workplace battles are not the parochial concerns of isolated workers but a fundamental struggle for America s future Drawing on historical parallels the authors illustrate how long term collaborations between labor and community organizations are sowing the seeds of a new New Deal

Place Matters Peter Dreier, John H. Mollenkopf, Todd Swanstrom, 2004 Analyzes the problematic trends facing America s cities and older suburbs and challenges us to put America s urban crisis back on the national agenda

Labor in the New Urban Battlegrounds Lowell Turner, Daniel B. Cornfield, 2018-07-05 Labor in the New Urban Battlegrounds examines a diverse array of innovative strategies for revitalizing the labor movement by forming alliances outside the workplace with a variety of community groups social movements and faith based organizations particularly those that address civil rights immigrant rights and consumer concerns This book presents case studies of issues such as living wages community development corporations and local politics around which urban coalitions are built in union towns New York City Boston Buffalo and Seattle frontier cities Los Angeles Miami San Jose and Nashville and European cities London Frankfurt and Hamburg Introducing the role of urban social context in the field of labor revitalization the editors have chosen cases with different outcomes cities in which strong coalitions have enabled new union influence are contrasted with those in which such coalition building has been thwarted As they survey the successes and failures of the new urban labor movement the editors and contributors conclude that actor choice strategic innovation coalition building and the urban context of labor organizing are key elements in the revitalization of the labor movement and the renewal of democracy This book will allow the labor leaders of the future to learn from the recent experiences of their peers throughout the United States and Europe

Retooling for Growth Richard McGahey, Jennifer S. Vey, 2008-07-01 A Brookings Institution Press and American Assembly publication Slow job growth declining home values a diminishing tax base and concentrated poverty are but a few of the growing obstacles for well established but struggling cities Challenged by decades of globalization technological change and dramatic demographic shifts away from the urban core these former industrial powerhouses particularly in the Northeast and Midwest have been eclipsed by burgeoning American cities with a viable niche in the new economy In Retooling for Growth experts present new frameworks cutting edge analysis and innovative policy solutions for the nation's government, business, civic, and community leaders to sculpt a sustainable and supportable economy for older industrial areas. The unique focus on rehabilitating weak market cities outlines ideas for reshaping the role of public agencies, the workforce, business organizations, and technology. Implementation of these measures addresses challenges such as fostering entrepreneurship, reducing poverty and inequality, and maintaining and augmenting the number of skilled professionals who reside and work in a community, among others. This collection of essays offers practical, achievable strategies for revitalizing industrial areas and building upon the potential of existing but overlooked resources of economic, physical, and cultural significance. In this important volume, leading authorities provide a thought-provoking analysis of healthy economic development practices for both public and private sectors.
