Partners In Command:

Partners in Command Mark Perry, 2007-05-10 A unique look at the complex relationship between two of America's foremost World War II leaders The first book ever to explore the relationship between George Marshall and Dwight Eisenhower Partners in Command eloquently tackles a subject that has eluded historians for years As Mark Perry charts the crucial impact of this duo on victory in World War II and later as they lay the foundation for triumph in the Cold War he shows us an unlikely complex collaboration at the heart of decades of successful American foreign policy and shatters many of the myths that have evolved about these two great men and the issues that tested their alliance As exciting to read as it is vitally informative this work is a signal accomplishment Partners in Command, 2007 A portrait of an often ignored alliance between two iconic military figures and the ways in which their unusual collaboration would ultimately shape fifty years of successful American foreign policy Historian journalist Perry follows Marshall and Eisenhower's collaboration from the major battles in North Africa and Italy to the planning and execution of the D Day invasion the crisis of the Battle of the Bulge the postwar implementation of the Marshall Plan and the establishment of Eisenhower's leadership of NATO Perry shows that Marshall and Eisenhower were remarkably close colleagues who brilliantly combined strengths and offset each other s weaknesses in their strategic planning on the battlefields and in their mutual struggle to overcome the bungling political sniping and careerism of British and American commanders that infected nearly every battle and campaign Finally Marshall and Eisenhower collaborated in crafting the foreign policy and military infrastructure that became the foundation for winning the Cold War From publisher description Crisis of Command Stuart Scheller, 2022-09-06 Wall Street Journal Bestseller USA Today Bestseller Publishers Weekly Bestseller As Seen on Tucker Carlson Combat decorated Marine officer Stuart Scheller speaks out against the debacle of the Afghan pullout as the culmination of a decades long and still ongoing betrayal of military members by top leadership from generals to the commander in chief comes to light Lieutenant Colonel Stuart Scheller was the perfect Marine Battle tested A leader Decorated for valor Yet when the United States acted like the Keystone Cops in a panicked haphazard exit from Afghanistan for political reasons Scheller spoke out and the generals lashed out In fact they jailed him to keep him quiet claiming he lost the trust and confidence bestowed upon him by the Marines When the faith and trust is exactly what our generals and even our commander in chief betrayed by exercising such reckless and derelict policies Now Scheller is free from the shackles of the Marine Corps and can speak his mind And in Crisis of Command that he does He holds our generals feet to the fire The same generals who play frivolously with the lives of our service men and women for political gain The same general who lied to political leaders to further their own agendas and careers Stuart Scheller is here to say that the buck stops here Accountability starts now It s time to demand accountability and stand up for our military In this book Stuart Scheller shows us how Teddy Roosevelt and Leonard Wood John S. D. Eisenhower, 2014-03-18 Theodore Roosevelt was a man of wide interests strong opinions and intense ambition for both himself and his country When he met Leonard Wood in 1897 he recognized a kindred spirit Moreover the two men shared a zeal for making the United States an imperial power that would challenge Great Britain as world leader For the remainder of their lives their careers would intertwine in ways that shaped the American nation When the Spanish American War came both men seized the opportunity to promote the goals of American empire Roosevelt resigned as assistant secretary of the navy in William McKinley's administration to serve as a lieutenant colonel of the Rough Riders a newly organized volunteer cavalry Wood then a captain in the medical corps and physician to McKinley was promoted to colonel and given charge of the unit Roosevelt later took over command of the Rough Riders In the Battle of San Juan Hill he led it in a charge up Kettle Hill that would end in victory for the American troops and make their daring commander a household name a war hero and eventually president of the United States At the Treaty of Paris in 1898 Spain ceded Cuba Puerto Rico Guam and the Philippines to the United States The next year Wood became military governor of Cuba He remained in the post until 1902 By that time Roosevelt was president One of the major accomplishments of his administration was reorganization of the War Department which the war with Spain had proved disastrously outdated In 1909 when William Howard Taft needed a strong army chief of staff to enforce the new rules he appointed Leonard Wood Both Wood and Roosevelt were strong proponents of preparedness and when war broke out in Europe in August 1914 Wood retired as chief of staff and backed by Roosevelt established the Plattsburg camps a system of basic training camps When America entered the Great War the two mens foresight was justified but their earlier push for mobilization had angered Woodrow Wilson and both were denied the command positions they sought in Europe Roosevelt died in 1919 while preparing for another presidential campaign Wood made a run in his place but was never taken seriously as a candidate He retired from the army and spent the last seven years of his life as civilian governor of the Philippines It was a quiet end for two men who had been giants of their time While their modernization of the army is widely admired they were not without their critics Roosevelt and Wood saw themselves as bold leaders but were regarded by some as ruthless strivers And while their shared ambitions for the United States were tempered by a strong sense of duty they could in their certainty and determination trample those who stood in their path Teddy Roosevelt and Leonard Wood Partners in Command is a revealing and long overdue look at the dynamic partnership of this fascinating pair and will be welcomed by scholars and military history enthusiasts alike judged him incompetent Partnership for the Americas: Western Hemisphere Strategy and U.S. Southern Command James G. Stavridis, Radm James G Stavridis, 2014-02-23 Since its creation in 1963 United States Southern Command has been led by 30 senior officers representing all four of the armed forces None has undertaken his leadership responsibilities with the cultural sensitivity and creativity demonstrated by Admiral Jim Stavridis during his tenure in command Breaking with tradition Admiral Stavridis discarded the customary military model as he organized the Southern Command Headquarters In its place he created an organization designed not to subdue adversaries but instead to build durable and enduring partnerships with friends His observation that it is the business of Southern Command to launch ideas not missiles into the command s area of responsibility gained strategic resonance throughout the Caribbean and Central and South America and at the highest levels in Washington DC Partners in Command Joseph T. Schutz, 2001-03-28 In what ways do the actions and economic behavior of today s multinational corporations resemble the functioning and processes of the old command economics of the Soviet Union By ignoring questions about power relations in markets mainstream neoclassically oriented economists conclude that there are no significant power structures operating in market systems to control allocation and distribution This book argues to the contrary that there are fundamental and systemic power structures monopoly access to information or finance employer power etc at work in market economies which affects their ability to achieve real competition in much the same way as state controlled command economies hinder business activities Thus for example the biggest firms at the hubs of financial networks wield a kind of shaping power upon large numbers of relatively autonomous firms not only upon those that belong to the networks but also on the many firms outside them that are also affected The Mantle of Command Nigel Hamilton, 2014 An in depth analysis of FDR s leadership during the Second World War reveals how he assumed control over key decisions to launch a successful trial landing in North Africa to shift the war in favor of Allied forces General of the Army Ed Cray, 2000-06-06 As the U S Army s Chief of staff through World War II George Catlett marshall 1880 1959 organized the military mobilization of unprecedented number of Americans and shaped the Allied strategy that defeated first Nazi Germany then Imperial Japan As President Truman's Secretary of State and later as his Secretary of Defence during the Korean War Marshall the statesman created the European Recovery Act known as the Marshall Plan and made possible the Berlin Airlift Ed Cray in this masterful biography brings us face to face with a genuine American hero and the winner of the Command in War Martin Van Creveld, 1987-01-01 Many books have been written about strategy Nobel Peace Prize tactics and great commanders This is the first book to deal exclusively with the nature of command itself and to trace its development over two thousand years from ancient Greece to Vietnam Inside Hitler's High Command Geoffrey P. Megargee, 2000-06-08 Challenging previous accounts Geoffrey Megargee shatters the myth that German generals would have prevailed in World War II if only Hitler had not meddled in their affairs Indeed Megargee argues the German high command was much more flawed than many have suspected or acknowledged Inside Hitler's High Command reveals that while Hitler was the central figure in many military decisions his generals were equal partners in Germany's catastrophic defeat Megargee exposes the structure processes and personalities that governed the Third Reich's military decision making and shows how Germany's presumed battlefield superiority was undermined by poor strategic and operational planning at the highest levels His study tracks the evolution of German military leadership under the Nazis from 1933 to 1945 and expands our understanding of the balance of power within the high command the role of personalities in its organizational development and the influence of German military intellectuals on its structure and function He also shows how the organization of the high command was plagued by ambition stubbornness political intrigue and overworked staff officers And his a week in the life chapter puts the high command under a magnifying glass to reveal its inner workings during the fierce fighting on the Russian Front in December 1941 Megargee also offers new insights into the high command crises of 1938 and shows how German general staff made fatal mistakes in their planning for Operation Barbarossa in 1941 Their arrogant dismissal of the Soviet military s ability to defend its homeland and virtual disregard for the extensive intelligence and sound logistics that undergird successful large scale military campaigns ultimately came back to haunt them In the final assessment observes Megargee the generals strategic ideas were no better than Hitler s and often worse Heinz Guderian Franz Halder and the rest were as guilty of self deception as their Fuhrer believing that innate German superiority and strength of will were enough to overcome nearly any obstacle Inside Hitler's High Command exposes these surprising flaws and illuminates the process of strategy and decision making in the Third Reich Command and Control: The Sociotechnical Perspective Guy H Walker, Neville A. Stanton, Daniel P. Jenkins, 2017-09-18 Military command and control is not merely evolving it is co evolving Technology is creating new opportunities for different types of command and control and new types of command and control are creating new aspirations for technology The question is how to manage this process how to achieve a jointly optimised blend of socio and technical and create the kind of agility and self synchronisation that modern forms of command and control promise The answer put forward in this book is to revisit sociotechnical systems theory In doing so the problems of 21st century command and control can be approached from an alternative multi disciplinary and above all human centred perspective Human factors HF is also co evolving The traditional conception of the field is to serve as a conduit for knowledge between engineering and psychology yet 21st century command and control presents an altogether different challenge Viewing military command and control through the lens of sociotechnical theory forces us to confront difficult questions about the non linear nature of people and technology technology is changing from platform centric to network centric the interaction with that technology is changing from prescribed to exploratory and complexity is increasing from behaviour that is linear to that which is emergent The various chapters look at this transition and draw out ways in which sociotechnical systems theory can help to understand it The sociotechnical perspective reveals itself as part of a conceptual toolkit through which military command and control can be transitioned from notions of bureaucratic hierarchical ways of operating to the devolved agile self synchronising behaviour promised by modern forms of command and control like Network Enabled Capability NEC Sociotechnical system theory brings with it a sixty year legacy of practical application and this real world grounding in business process re engineering underlies the entire book An attempt has been made to bring a set of sometimes abstract but no less useful principles down to the level of easy examples design principles evaluation criteria and actionable models All of these are based on an extensive review of the current state of the art new sociotechnical NEC studies conducted by the authors and insights derived from field studies of real life command and control Time and again what emerges is a realisation that the most agile self synchronising component of all in command and control settings is the human Department of Defense Authorization for Appropriations for Fiscal Year 2008 United States.
