them have become visible to the world If ever I should have a biographer he ought to make great men tion of this chamber in my memoirs because so much of my lonely youth was wasted here and here my mind and character were formed and here I have been glad and hopeful and here I have been despondent And here I sat a long long time waiting patiently for the world to know me and sometimes wondering why it did not know me sooner or whether it would ever know me at all at least till I were in my grave And sometimes it seemed as if I were already in the grave with only life enough to be chilled and benumbed But oftener I was happy at least as happy as I then knew how to be or was aware of the possibility of being By and by the world found me out in my lonely chamber and called me forth not indeed with a loud roar of acclamation but rather with a still small voice and forth I went but found nothing in the world that I thought preferable to my old solitude till now And now I begin to understand why I was imprisoned so many years in this lonely chamber and why I could never break through the viewless bolts and bars for if I had sooner made my escape into the world I should have grown hard and rough and been covered with earthly dust and my heart might have become callous by rude encounters with the multitude But living in solitude till the fullness of time was come I still kept the dew of my youth and the fresh ness of my heart I used to think I could imagine all passions all feelings and states of the heart and mind but how little did I know Indeed we are but shadows we are not endowed with real life and all that seems most real about us is but the thinnest substance o Passages from the
