A Passage To Africa George Alagiah,2008-09-04 One of Britain s most respected television journalists with a reputation built up over many years of covering world events Guardian Tributes will rightly be paid to a fantastic journalist and brilliant broadcaster but George was the most decent principled kindest most honourable man I have ever worked with Jon Sopel As a five year old George Alagiah emigrated with his family to Ghana the first African country to attain independence from the British Empire A Passage to Africa is Alagiah s shattering catalogue of atrocities crafted into a portrait of Africa that is infused with hope insight and outrage In vivid and evocative prose and with a fine eye for detail Alagiah s viewpoint is spiked with the freshness of the young George on his arrival in Ghana the wonder with which he recounts his first impressions of Africa and the affection with which he dresses his stories of his early family life A sense of possibility lingers even though the book is full of uncomfortable truths It is a book neatly balanced on his integrity and sense of obligation in his role as a writer and reporter The shock of recognition is always there but it is the personal element that gives A PASSAGE TO AFRICA its originality Africa becomes not only a group of nations or a vast continent but an epic of individual pride and suffering

Green Hills of Africa Ernest Hemingway,2014-05-22 There are some things which cannot be learned quickly and time which is all we have must be paid heavily for their acquiring They are the very simplest things and because it takes a man s life to know them the little new that each man gets from life is very costly and the only heritage he has to leave In the winter of 1933 Ernest Hemingway and his wife Pauline set out on a two month safari in the big game country of East Africa camping out on the great Serengeti Plain at the foot of magnificent Mount Kilimanjaro I had quite a trip the author told his friend Philip Percival with characteristic understatement Green Hills of Africa is Hemingway s account of that expedition of what it taught him about Africa and himself Richly evocative of the region s natural beauty tremendously alive to its character culture and customs and pregnant with a hard won wisdom gained from the extraordinary situations it describes it is widely held to be one of the twentieth century s classic travelogues

Dinka Angela Fisher,Carol Beckwith,2010 This seminal volume on the indigenous African Dinka group is a landmark documentation of a vanishing people in war torn Sudan World renowned photographers

Angela Fisher and Carol Beckwith have devoted their lives to documenting the rapidly disappearing ceremonies and cultures of the indigenous people of Africa. In breathtakingly poignant images they present a story that started with their first visit to the Dinka thirty years ago. Living in harmony with their cattle, the Dinka have survived years of war only to find their culture on the brink of vanishing forever. Where the White Nile River reaches Dinka country, it spills over 11 000 square miles of flood plain to form the Sudd, the largest swamp in the world. In the dry season, it provides abundant pasture for cattle, and this is where the Dinka set up their camps. The men dust their bodies and faces with gray ash, protection against flies and lethal malarial mosquitoes, but also considered a mark of beauty. Covered with this ash and up to 7'6" tall, the Dinka were referred to as gentle or ghostly giants by the early explorers. The Dinka call themselves jieng and mony jang, which means men of men.

Journal of Social Studies Research, 1994 The Market Photo Workshop in South Africa and the 'Born Free' Generation Julie Bonzon, 2023-09-15 This study presents the history of the Market Photo Workshop (MPW) in Johannesburg and works produced by its new generation of photography students. Founded in 1989 by internationally renowned documentary photographer David Goldblatt, the MPW has reflected upon South African political struggles and sociocultural changes since its creation. Its foundation parallels a moment in time when photography was considered a truth-telling genre and an essential source of documents deployed against the apartheid regime. This book reflects on the evolution of the MPW in the post-apartheid era and explores how its new generation of students engages the photographic tradition of this institution and the revolutionary times that accompanied its creation to question their present moment. The book will be of interest to scholars working in art history, visual studies, photography, African studies, cultural studies, and post-colonial studies.

It goes beyond the still dominant Anglo-American or transatlantic focus of diaspora studies to examine the experiences of black and white Africans Afro Caribbeans and African Americans who settled or travelled in Germany France Portugal Italy and the Soviet Union as well as in Britain At the same time while studies of Africans in Europe have tended to focus on the relationship between colonial or former colonial subjects and their respective metropolitan nation states the essays in this volume widen the lens to consider the skills practices and negotiations called for by other kinds of border crossing The subjects of these essays include people moving between European states and state jurisdictions or from the former colony of one state to another place in Europe African born colonial settlers returning to the metropolis migrants conversing across ethnic and cultural boundaries among Africans and visitors for whom the face to face encounter with European society involves working across the colour line and testing the limits of solidarity Case studies of family life community building and politics and cultural production drawing on original research illuminate the transformative impact of those journeys and encounters and the forms of transnational practice that they have generated The contributors include specialist scholars in social history art history anthropology cultural studies and literature as well as a novelist and a filmmaker who reflect on their own experiences of these complex histories and the challenges of narrating them
