Passion Of The Hawks:

The Passion of the Hawks Tristram Coffin, 1964 Indictment of American militarism and the military's greatly enlarged role in American life in the post World War 2 period      A Passion for Birds Mark V. Barrow, Jr., 2021-08-10 In the decades following the Civil War as industrialization urbanization and economic expansion increasingly reshaped the landscape many Americans began seeking adventure and aesthetic gratification through avian pursuits By the turn of the century hundreds of thousands of middle and upper class devotees were rushing to join Audubon societies purchase field guides and keep records of the species they encountered in the wild Mark Barrow vividly reconstructs this story not only through the experiences of birdwatchers collectors conservationists and taxidermists but also through those of a relatively new breed of bird enthusiast the technically oriented ornithologist In exploring how ornithologists struggled to forge a discipline and profession amidst an explosion of popular interest in natural history A Passion for Birds provides the first book length history of American ornithology from the death of John James Audubon to the Second World War Barrow shows how efforts to form a scientific community distinct from popular birders met with only partial success The founding of the American Ornithologists Union in 1883 and the subsequent expansion of formal educational and employment opportunities in ornithology marked important milestones in this campaign Yet by the middle of the twentieth century when ornithology had finally achieved the status of a modern profession its practitioners remained dependent on the services of birdwatchers and other amateur enthusiasts Environmental issues also loom large in Barrow's account as he traces areas of both cooperation and conflict between ornithologists and wildlife conservationists Recounting a colorful story based on the interactions among a wide variety of bird lovers this book will interest historians of science environmental historians ornithologists birdwatchers and anyone curious about the historical roots of today's birding boom      Passion and Defiance Mira Liehm, 1986-03-17 Since World War II aesthetic impulses generated in Italy have swept through every film industry in the world and in her book Mira Liehm analyses the roots in literature philosophy and contemporary Italian life which have contributed to this extraordinary vigor An introductory chapter offers a unique overview of the Italian cinema before 1942 It is followed by a full and profound discussion of neorealism in its heyday its difficult aftermath in the fifties the glorious sixties and finally by an analysis of the contemporary cinematic crisis Mira Liehm has known personally many of the leading figures in Italian cinema and her work is rich in insights into their lives and working methods This impressive scholarly work immediately outclasses all other available Italian film histories It will be essential reading for anyone seriously interested in the cinema      Passion in Action Rowland Stout, 2025-06-05 Developing a sophisticated and original approach to the nature of emotion this volume demonstrates that the way we feel about things is simultaneously a product of our reason and a force on it an aspect both of our agency and of our passivity As a force on the way we think about things emotions are passions and felt as such As a product of the way we think about things having emotions means we find values in our world Starting from a conception of what it is to be sensitive to reason Stout develops an account of emotional dispositions as manifested in forming and maintaining goals When these dispositions are active we feel like behaving in certain ways and this feeling characterizes the phenomenological aspect of emotional states Each type of emotion corresponds to a characteristic behavioural pattern Since emotional states are rational responses to features of our environment having an emotion means that we are treating our environment as meriting that emotional state i e as having value It follows that every emotion corresponds to a rational perspective a way of thinking about things The familiar problem of emotional recalcitrance where you know your emotional state is not rational but cannot stop feeling that way is resolved by showing how we may have rational perspectives on our rational perspectives
