Insurance Sales, Tips and Techniques. Michael Bonilla,2019-02-13 When a marketing rep comes into your office or someone from the management team and tells you to Sell the value how often do you find yourself rolling your eyes As a former agency owner and now a consultant I often find myself spouting the same slogan Why Because I have done it and done it quite successfully Whenever a rep came into my office and told me to sell the value of carrier X I would think that s something an expensive company would say or an overpriced company because what else could they say We ve officially entered a hard market cycle in California on the personal lines side which is strange to even say The market has tightened up and many carriers are non renewing or reducing underwriting appetite to not take on a lot of new business in California This is why I started writing in 2014 and again in 2017 2018 and 2019 In my estimation our industry is going to see a massive shift over the next 3 or 4 years A shift from judgement underwriting to block chain and data underwriting Artificial intelligence has already been underwriting selling and handling claims for smaller insure tech companies for the past 4 years This is a prevalent trend in our industry But why Why Because we have shifted our focus from selling peace of mind to selling a price Why Because we have put more value on talking about premium payments and price than having hard conversations about protecting assets and families We have shifted hard on price and almost every insurance company has followed suit in their marketing efforts Almost exclusively every billboard social media ad and print ad espouses X insurance carrier savings you up to 25 43% on your insurance per year The conversation has shifted in a way that will cannibalize our industry and wrongfully set expectations for consumers A recent study by insurancequotes com found that around 80% of consumers self
