Unruly Bodies Susannah B. Mintz, 2009-01-05 The first critical study of personal narrative by women with disabilities Unruly Bodies examines how contemporary writers use life writing to challenge cultural stereotypes about disability gender embodiment and identity Combining the analyses of disability and feminist theories Susannah Mintz discusses the work of eight American autobiographers Nancy Mairs Lucy Grealy Georgina Kleege Connie Panzarino Eli Clare Anne Finger Denise

Sherer Jacobson and May Sarton Mintz shows that by refusing inspirational rhetoric or triumph over adversity narrative patterns these authors insist on their disabilities as a core but not diminishing aspect of identity They offer candid portrayals of shame and painful medical procedures struggles for the right to work or to parent the inventive joys of disabled sex the support and the hostility of family and the losses and rewards of aging Mintz demonstrates how these unconventional stories challenge feminist idealizations of independence and self control and expand the parameters of what counts as a life worthy of both narration and political activism Unruly Bodies also suggests that atypical life stories can redefine the relation between embodiment and identity generally

we value validate and speak about diversity in performance practice with a specific focus on the experience of differently abled dance artists within the changing world of the arts in the United Kingdom Contributors address the legal frameworks that support or inhibit the work of disabled dancers and explore factors that affect their full participation including those related to policy arts funding dance criticism and audience reception

Disability and Teaching Susan Gabel, David Connor, 2013-07-24 Disability and Teaching highlights issues of disability in K 12 schooling faced by teachers who are increasingly accountable for the achievement of all students regardless of the labels assigned to them It is designed to engage prospective and practicing teachers in examining their personal theories and beliefs about disability and education Part I offers four case studies dealing with issues such as inclusion over representation in special education teacher assumptions and biases and the struggles of novice teachers These cases illustrate the need to understand disability and teaching within the contexts of school community and the broader society and in relation to other contemporary issues facing teachers Each is followed by space for readers to write their own reactions and reflections educators dialogue about the case space for readers reactions to the educators dialogue a summary and additional questions Part II presents public arguments representing different views about the topic conservative liberal progressive and disability centered Part III situates the authors personal views within the growing field of Disability Studies in education and provides exercises for further reflection and a list of resources Disability and Teaching is the 8th volume in the Reflective Teaching and the Social Conditions of Schooling Series edited by Daniel P Liston and Kenneth M Zeichner This series of small accessible interactive texts introduces the notion of teacher reflection and develops it in relation to the social conditions of schooling Each text focuses on a specific issue or content area in relation to teaching and follows the same format Books in this series are appropriate for teacher education courses across the curriculum

Landmark Essays on Rhetorics of Difference Damian Baca, Ellen Cushman, Jonathan Osborne, 2024-11-01 Landmark Essays on Rhetorics of Difference challenges the Eurocentric perspective from which the field of rhetoric is traditionally viewed Taking a step beyond the creation of alternative rhetorics that maintain the centrality of the European and Greco Roman tradition this volume argues on behalf of pluriversal rhetorics that coexist as equally important on their own terms A timely addition to the respected Landmark Essays series it will be invaluable to students of history of rhetoric literacy composition and writing studies

Exploring Disability Colin Barnes, Geof Mercer, 2018-05-21 The second edition of this widely used text has been carefully rewritten to ensure that it is up to date with cutting edge debates evidence and policy changes Since the book s initial publication there has been an expansion of interest in disability in the social sciences and disability has come to play an increasingly prominent role in political debates The new edition takes account of all these developments and also gives greater emphasis to global issues in order to reflect the increasing and intensifying interdependence of nation states in the twenty first century The authors examine amongst other issues the changing nature of the concept of disability key debates in the sociology of health and illness the politicisation of disability social policy and the cultural and media representation of disability As well as providing an excellent overview of the literature in the area the book develops an understanding of disability that has implications for both sociology and society The second edition of Exploring Disability will be indispensable for students across the social sciences and in health and social care who really want to understand the issues facing disabled people and disabling societies

Taking Care Mary Grimley Mason,2012-10-23 Taking Care based on twenty six interviews and other autobiographical narratives challenges the negative stereotypes about mothers with disabilities These women s stories tell of their successes despite the barriers they encounter from the society in which they live This book will provide a significant model for all parents

Health Humanities Reader Therese Jones,Delese Wear,Lester D. Friedman,2014-08-28 Over the past forty years the health humanities previously called the medical humanities has emerged as one of the most exciting fields for interdisciplinary scholarship advancing humanistic inquiry into bioethics human rights health care and the uses of technology It has also helped inspire medical practitioners to engage in deeper reflection about the human elements of their practice In Health Humanities Reader editors Therese Jones Delese Wear and Lester D Friedman have assembled fifty four leading scholars educators artists and clinicians to survey the rich body of work that has already emerged from the field and to imagine fresh approaches to the health humanities in these original essays The collection s contributors reflect the extraordinary diversity of the field including scholars from the disciplines of disability studies history literature nursing religion narrative medicine philosophy bioethics medicine and the social sciences With warmth and humor critical acumen and ethical insight Health Humanities Reader truly humanizes the field of medicine Its accessible language and broad scope offers something for everyone from the experienced medical professional to a reader interested in health and illness

Desperately Seeking Sisterhood Magdalene Ang-Lygate,Chris Corrin,Henry Millsom,2020-04-15 First Published in 1997 A collection of contributions from feminist researchers who attended the annual Women s Studies Network WSN conference in June 1995 Emphasizing theory practice and campaigning chapters seek to address contemporary issues from different perspectives theoretical practical and strategic

Assisted Reproduction, Discrimination, and the Law Michelle Weldon-Johns,2019-10-08 The numbers of women undergoing Assisted Reproduction Technology ART treatments have risen steadily yet they remain largely outside the scope of equality and employment law protection while undergoing treatment Assisted Reproduction Discrimination and the Law examines this gap in UK law with reference to EU law as appropriate and argues that new conceptions of equality are necessary Drawing from the literature on multidimensional and intersectional discrimination it is argued that an intersectionality approach offers a more useful analytical framework to extend protection to those engaged in ART treatments Drawing from Schiek s intersectional nodes model the book critically examines two alternative interpretations of existing protected characteristics namely infertility as a disability with reference to the social model of disability and the UN Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities 2006 and redefining the boundaries of pregnancy and or sex discrimination with reference to attempts to extend associative discrimination to pregnancy Comparisons are drawn with the US where infertility has been recognised as a disability under the American s with Disabilities Act 1990 and as a pregnancy related condition under the Pregnancy Discrimination Act 1978 A specific right to paid time off work to undergo treatment is also proposed drawing comparisons with the US Family and Medical Leave Act 1993 and the existing UK work family rights framework It is argued that the reinterpretations of equality law and the rights proposed here are not only conceptually possible but could practically be achieved with minor but significant amendments to existing legislation
