Past Positive: London's Social History Recorded in Photographs Gordon Winter,1971      Researching London's Houses Colin Thom,2005      The Age of Urban Democracy Donald Read,2014-06-17 This ambitious survey covers all aspects of the period in which English society acquired its modern shape industrial rather than agricultural urban rather than rural democratic in its institutions and middle class rather than aristocratic in the control of political power For this revised edition the footnotes and bibliography have been fully updated and the entire text has been reset in a larger and more attractive format An ideal introduction to the subject it masters a huge amount of material through its clear structure sensible judgements and approachable style      Bibliography of Printed Works on London History to 1939 Heather Creaton,1994 The history of London is so important in national and indeed international terms it seems extraordinary that this is the first general bibliography of the subject to appear It contains over 22 000 selected references to books and articles on the history of London from the Dark Ages to the beginning of the Second World War The whole of the former GLC area plus the City is covered Arrangement is by subject and there is a substantial analytical index Material for the bibliography was collected from specialist libraries all over London and beyond It is a starting point for any enquiry about London s development over the centuries whether from the academic historian the amateur or the general enquirer A supplement is planned to cover new material on the period      The Listener ,1929      LOMA ,1971      Library Catalog of the International Museum of Photography at George Eastman House International Museum of Photography at George Eastman House,1982      England, 1868-1914 Donald Read,1979      Artbibliographies Modern ,1999      Victorian Britain Library Association. Public Libraries Group,1976      British Book News ,1976      Mass Photography Annebella Pollen,2020-09-09 With increasingly accessible camera technology crowdsourced public media projects abound like never before Such projects often seek to secure a snapshot of a single day in order to establish communities and create visual time capsules for the future Mass Photography Collective Histories of Everyday Life assesses the potential of these popular moment in time projects by examining their current day prevalence and their historical predecessors Through archival research and interviews with organisers and participants it examines for the first time the vast photographic collections resulting from such projects analysing their structures and systems their aims and objectives and their claims and promises The central case study is the 55 000 photographs submitted to One Day for Life in 1987 which aimed in its own time to be the biggest photographic event the world had ever seen      Victorian England William Joseph Reader,1974 Medicine Women Education Village life Photography Boer War England 1900      International Publications ,1973      The Spectator ,1904 A weekly review of politics literature theology and art      Reader's Guide to Great Britain ,1977      A Reader's Guide to Contemporary Literature William Swan Sonnenschein,1895      Photography, Memory, and Refugee Identity Lynda Mannik,2013-04-20 In 1948 a small ship carrying Estonian refugees arrived at Pier 21 in Halifax In this absorbing work anthropologist Lynda Mannik analyzes the refugee experience through the photographic record of those who made that harrowing voyage Drawing on a collection of photographs taken during the voyage and at Pier 21 Mannik asks surviving passengers to describe their journey their reception in Canada and to what extent the photos reflect their experiences as they remember them The photographs in the SS Walnut collection she argues bear witness to the refugee experience even as the meanings attached to them have changed over time and in shifting contexts

History Beyond the Text Sarah Barber, Corinna Peniston-Bird, 2013-02-01 Historians are increasingly looking beyond the traditional and turning to visual oral aural and virtual sources to inform their work The challenges these sources pose require new skills of interpretation and require historians to consider alternative theoretical and practical approaches In order to help historians successfully move beyond traditional text Sarah Barber and Corinna Peniston Bird bring together chapters from historical specialists in the fields of fine art photography film oral history architecture virtual sources music cartoons landscape and material culture to explain why when and how these less traditional sources can be used Each chapter introduces the reader to the source suggests the methodological and theoretical questions historians should keep in mind when using it and provides case studies to illustrate best practice in analysis and interpretation Pulling these disparate sources together the introduction discusses the nature of historical sources and those factors which are unique to and shared by the sources covered throughout the book Taking examples from around the globe this collection of essays aims to inspire practitioners of history to expand their horizons and incorporate a wide variety of primary sources in their work
