Past Tense Studies In The Archaeology Of Conflict:

Past Tense Tony Pollard,Iain Banks,2006 This special issue of the Journal of Conflict Archaeology serves as an introduction to the journal and the field 13 essays deal with battlefield remains in Europe Africa North American and Asia Originally published as issue 1 of Volume 1 2005 of the Journal of Conflict Archaeology For more details on this journal please click here Archaeologies of Conflict John Carman,2013-04-11 The last two decades have seen the emergence of a specific set of archaeological approaches to war and conflict This concise and readable study assesses the current state of conflict archaeology looking forward to what the field can offer as it develops A Companion to Cultural Resource Management Thomas F. King,2011-03-29 A Companion to Cultural Resource Management is an essential guide to those wishing to gain a deeper understanding of CRM and heritage management Expert contributors share their knowledge and illustrate CRM s practice and scope as well as the core issues and realities in preserving cultural heritages worldwide Edited by one of the world s leading experts in the field of cultural resource management with contributions by a wide range of experts including archaeologists architectural historians museum curators historians and representatives of affected groups Offers a broad view of cultural resource management that includes archaeological sites cultural landscapes historic structures shipwrecks scientific and technological sites and objects as well as intangible resources such as language religion and cultural values Highlights the realities that face CRM practitioners on the ground Heritage Studies Marie Louise Stig Sørensen,John Carman,2009-09-18 This is the first volume specifically dedicated to the consolidation and clarification of Heritage Studies as a distinct field with its own means of investigation It presents the range of methods that can be used and illustrates their application through case studies from different parts of the world including the UK and USA The challenge that the collection makes explicit is that Heritage Studies must develop a stronger recognition of the scope and nature of its data and a concise yet explorative understanding of its analytical methods The methods considered fall within three broad categories textual discourse analysis methods for investigating people s attitudes and behaviour and methods for exploring the material qualities of heritage The methods discussed and illustrated range from techniques such as text analysis interviews participant observation to semiotic analysis of heritage sites and the use of GIS Each paper discusses the ways in which methods used in social analysis generally are explored and adapted to the specific demands that arise when applied to the investigation of heritage in its many forms Heritage Studies is a seminal volume that will help to define the field The global perspective and the shared focus upon the development of reflexive methodologies ensure that the volume explores these central issues in a manner that is simultaneously case specific and of general relevance Battlefields from Event to Heritage John Carman,Patricia Carman,2020-04-22 What is or makes a place a historic battlefield From one perspective the answer is simple it is a place where large numbers of people came together in an organised manner to fight one another at some point in the past Yet from another perspective it is far more difficult to say Why any such location is a place of battle rather than any other kind of event and why it is especially historic is hard to identify This book sets out an answer to the question of what a historic battlefield is in the modern imagination drawing upon examples from prehistory to the 20th century Treating battles as events in the past and battlefields as places in the present this book exposes the complexity of the concept of a historic battlefield and how it forms part of a Western understanding of the world Taking its lead from new developments in battlefield study especially archaeological approaches it establishes a means by which these new approaches can contribute to a more radical thinking about war and conflict especially to Critical Military and Critical Security studies The book goes beyond the study of battles as separate and unique events to consider what they mean to us and why we need them to have particular characteristics It will be of interest to archaeologists historians and students of modern war in all its forms The Oxford Handbook of the Archaeology of Ritual and Religion Timothy Insoll, 2011-10-28

Scottish soldier in art and literature Scotland's fortifications and battlefield archaeology and Scotland's military memorials and museum collections Materializing Colonial Encounters François G. Richard, 2015-09-19 This volume investigates the material production and expression of colonial experiences in Africa. It combines archaeological, historical, and ethnographic sources to explore the diverse pathways, practices, and projects constructed by Africans in their engagement with the forces of colonial modernity and capitalism. This volume is situated in ongoing debates in archaeological and anthropological approaches to materiality. In this respect, it seeks to target archaeologists interested in the conceptual issues provoked by colonial enfoldments. It is also concerned with increasing the visibility of relevant African archaeological literature to scholars of colonialism and imperialism laboring in other fields. This book brings together an array of junior and senior scholars whose contributions represent a rich sample of the vibrant archaeological research conducted in Africa today, blending conceptual inspiration with robust fieldwork. The chapters target a variety of cultural, historical, and colonial settings. They are driven by a plurality of perspectives but are bound by a shared commitment to postcolonial critical and material culture theories. While this book focuses on western and southern Africa, the subregions that boast the deepest traditions of historical archaeological research in the continent, attention was also placed on including case studies from traditionally less well-represented areas: East African and Swahili coasts, Madagascar, whose material pasts are nevertheless essential to a wider comprehension of variability and comparability of modern colonial conditions. Consequently, this volume lends a unique, wide-ranging look at African experiences across the tangle of imperial geographies on the continent, with case studies focusing on Anglophone, Francophone, and Dutch-speaking contexts. This volume is an exciting opportunity to present this work to wider audiences and foster conversations with a wide community of scholars about the material fashioning of colonial life relations and configurations of power.
