Pastoralism Drought Planning:

Pastoral Development Planning Julian Prior, 1994 Based on a detailed case study of range management in north west Somalia Pastoral Development Planning is written for development planners and field workers as well as agricultural and environmental planners and policy makers

Pastoralism and Development in Africa Andy Catley, Ian Scoones, Jeremy Lind, 2013 A view of development at the margins in the pastoral areas of the Horn of Africa highlights innovation and entrepreneurialism cooperation and networking and diverse approaches rarely in line with standard development prescriptions Through twenty detailed empirical chapters the book highlights diverse pathways of development going beyond the standard aid and disaster narratives

Pastoralism and Development in Africa Andy Catley, Jeremy Lind, Ian Scoones, 2013-05-07 Once again the Horn of Africa has been in the headlines And once again the news has been bad drought famine conflict hunger suffering and death The finger of blame has been pointed in numerous directions to the changing climate to environmental degradation to overpopulation to geopolitics and conflict to aid agency failures and more But it is not all disaster and catastrophe Many successful development efforts at the margins often remain hidden informal sometimes illegal and rarely in line with standard development prescriptions If we shift our gaze from the capital cities to the regional centres and their hinterlands then a very different perspective emerges These are the places where pastoralists live They have for centuries struggled with drought conflict and famine They are resourceful entrepreneurial and innovative peoples Yet they have been ignored and marginalised by the states that control their territory and the development agencies who are supposed to help them This book argues that while we should not ignore the profound difficulties of creating secure livelihoods in the Greater Horn of Africa there is much to be learned from development successes large and small This book will be of great interest to students and scholars with an interest in development studies and human geography with a particular emphasis on Africa It will also appeal to development policy makers and practitioners

Perspectives on Pastoral Development Isobel Birch, Halima A. O. Shuria, 2001 An objective account of a major Oxfam initiative the Wajir pastoral development project in northeast Kenya with its distinctive emphasis on community participation It explains how marginalized groups are developing their own pastoral associations to represent their interests and Oxfam's role in facilitating that process It describes an integrated approach to pastoral development supporting the livelihoods of livestock keepers and those who have lost their animals devising strategies to address drought and conflict as part of a longer term agenda for sustainable development and working to influence key decisions made by high level policy makers

Pastoralism in the New Millennium Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 2001-01-01 Pastoralism refers to the type of farming system which uses extensive grazing on grasslands for livestock production This type of farming covers 25 per cent of the world's land area and supports 20 million households It makes substantial contributions to the economies of developing countries although agricultural encroachment conflict and drought continue to erode this way of life This publication considers key policy issues and trends involved in attempts to improve the livelihoods of pastoralist families and communities Investing in Pastoralism David John Pratt, François Le Gall, C. de Haan, 1997-01-01 World Bank Technical Paper No 365 The World Bank has been supporting range livestock development since the 1960s gaining experience that currently contributes to best practices in natural resource management NRM in pastoral areas This report focuses on NRM in the arid rangelands used by pastoralists in Africa and the Middle East offering guidelines for development An introductory chapter on the nature of NRM is followed by advice on preparing for project intervention and by guidelines for specific project components A concluding chapter considers the broader implications for international agencies particularly the World Bank Eight annexes provide additional background information and advice as well as a user guide for practitioners

Sustainable Land Management Sourcebook World Bank, 2008-06-17 Policies promoting pro poor agricultural growth are the key to helping countries achieve the Millennium Development Goals especially the goal of halving poverty and hunger by 2015 The public sector private sector and civil society organizations are working to enhance productivity and competitiveness of the agricultural sector to reduce rural poverty and sustain the natural resource base The pathways involve participation by rural communities science and technology knowledge generation and further learning capacity enhancement and institution building Sustainable land management SLM an essential component of such policies will help to ensure the productivity of agriculture forestry fisheries and hydrology SLM will also support a range of ecosystem services on which agriculture depends The Sustainable Land Management Sourcebook provides a knowledge repository of tested practices and innovative resource management approaches that are currently being tested The diverse menu of options represents the current state of the art of good land management practices Section one identifies the need and scope for SLM and food production in relation to cross sector issues such as freshwater and forest resources regional climate and air quality and interactions with biodiversity conservation and increasingly valuable ecosystem services Section two categorizes the diversity of land management systems globally and the strategies for improving household livelihoods in each system type Section three presents a range of investment notes that summarize good practice as well as innovative activity profiles that highlight design of successful or innovative investments Section four identifies easy to access Web based resources relevant for land and natural resource managers The Sourcebook is a living document that will be periodically updated and expanded as new material and findings become available on good land management practices This book will be of interest to project managers and practitioners working to enhance land and natural resource management in developing countries

Economic Spaces of Pastoral Production and Commodity Systems Richard Le Heron, 2016-04-29 Pastoralism as a land use system is under recognized in terms of its contribution to food provision livelihoods as well as to human security This book is the first attempt to explore the dynamics of economic spaces of pastoral production and commodity systems for explicit South and North positionings It develops and applies a new approach in combining agri food market and commodity chain perspectives with livelihood approaches This enables new understandings of re aligning exchange relations between the global south and the global north The case studies presented open up new empirical insights in largely under researched areas such as Afghanistan Chad Tibet and Siberia and very recent changes in industrialized economies with major pastoral sectors The book reveals new evidence and theoretical insights about significant changes in established producer consumer relations in agriculture and food Drought Planning and Rainwater Harvesting for Arid-zone Pastoralists ,2003

Pastoralism and Sustainable Livelihoods John Morton,Nicholas Meadows,2000 Definitions of pastoralism Pastoralism poverty and marginality Trends in funding and changes in perception The SL approach and pastoralism SLs pastoralism and livelihood diversity Pastoralism and resilience south of the Sahara Little, Peter D.,McPeak, John G.,2014-05-04 The recent popularity of the term resilience in the development discourse concerning arid and semiarid lands in Africa can be traced to two major international issues The first is climate change concerned with how to build resilient communities in the face of increasingly extreme weather events The other is recurrent humanitarian crises especially traced to the most recent drought and conflict induced 2011 disaster in the Horn of Africa Both of these phenomena have strong relevance for African pastoralism which many climate change models show will be strongly impacted The objectives of this brief are to summarize 1 applications of a resilience framework for pastoralism 2 key challenges to resilience among pastoralists 3 local responses and initiatives and 4 conclusions and development implications The brief draws on research findings and data from northern Kenya and southern Ethiopia gathered for the Pastoral Risk Management Project PARIMA as well as studies from elsewhere in Africa Prospects for Livestock-Based Livelihoods in Africa's Drylands Cornelis de Haan,2016-11-14 Prospects for Livestock Based Livelihoods in Africa s Drylands examines the challenges and opportunities facing the livestock sector and the people who depend on livestock in the dryland regions of Sub Saharan Africa It presents a novel way of thinking about pastoral development grounded in a conceptual framework that focuses on the multiple shocks that drylands livestock keepers face and how those shocks can be addressed drawing on a state of the art literature review carried out by scientists of leading research institutes and development organizations and integrating the results of an innovative approach to modeling development options for the drylands livestock sector Looking to the future the picture is mixed On the positive side demand for red meat is expected to strengthen in domestic and regional markets suggesting that livestock keepers will have good market opportunities On the negative side a large majority of livestock keepers are classified as poor and the natural feed resource base is likely to be sufficient to enable improved meat and milk production for the growing human population Prospects for the livestock sector through 2030 vary by aridity zone In arid and semi arid zones a reasonable goal for 2030 is to have land use training and microfinance systems established that promote an appropriate balance between human and livestock carrying capacities featuring mainly grassland pastoral systems that reliably and sustainably satisfy the minimum income needs of herder households produce at least a significant part of the demand in local markets for animal source food and provide environmental services for which livestock keepers receive compensation The goal includes significant employment generation outside the sector In the higher rainfall zones of the semi arid areas and in the subhumid zones a reasonable goal for 2030 is to have intensified production systems established featuring mainly mixed livestock arable farming or agro pastoral systems that are closely linked to nearby grassland pastoral systems and that consistently generate marketable surpluses of differentiated red meat and livestock products that can compete not only in the expanding domestic market but also in selected regional markets The Arid Frontier Hendrik J. Bruins, Harvey Lithwick, 2012-12-06 The arid frontier has been a challenge for humanity from time immemorial Drylands cover more than one third of the global land surface distributed over Africa Asia Australia America and Southern Europe Disasters may develop as a result of complex interactions between drought desertification and society Therefore proactive planning and interactive management including disaster coping strategies are essential in dealing with arid frontier development This book presents a conceptual framework with case studies in dryland development and management The option of a rational and ethical discourse for development that is beneficial for both the environment and society is emphasized avoiding extreme environmentalism and human destructionism combating both desertification and human livelihood insecurity Such development has to be based on appropriate ethics legislation policy proactive planning and interactive management Excellent scholars address these issues focusing on the principal interactions between people and dryland environments in terms of drought food land water renewable energy and housing Audience This volume will be of great value to all those interested in Dryland Development and Management professionals and policy makers in governmental international and non governmental organizations NGOs as well as researchers lecturers and students in Geography Environmental Management Regional Studies Development Anthropology Hazard and Disaster Management Agriculture and Pastoralism Land and Water Use African Studies and Renewable Energy Resources Kenya National Assembly Official Record (Hansard), 2009-07-22 The official records of the proceedings of the Legislative Council of the Colony and Protectorate of Kenya the House of Representatives of the Government of Kenya and the National Assembly of the Republic of Kenya Planning African Development Glen Norcliffe, Tom Pinfold, 2012-08-06 First published in 1981 this book concerns specifically the Kenyan experience with regards to development planning but given that the problems of hunger poverty and underdevelopment manifest themselves in slightly different forms across all African countries this book has considerable relevance to development planning across the African continent The first set of essays in this collection address the question of development which is undoubtedly Africa's highest development priority The second grouping of essays considers issues in project planning and asks questions concerning cost method outcome and evaluation of various projects in Kenya Agriculture Investment Sourcebook World Bank, 2005-04-08 Investing to promote agricultural growth and poverty reduction is a central pillar of the World Bank's current rural strategy Reaching the Rural Poor 2003 This Sourcebook addresses how to implement the rural strategy by sharing information on investment options and identifying innovative approaches that will aid the design of future lending programs for agriculture It provides generic good practices and many examples that demonstrate investment in agriculture can provide rewarding and sustainable returns to development efforts It is divided into eleven self contained modules Each module contains three different types of subunits that can also be stand alone documents I Module Overview II Agricultural Investment Notes III Innovative Activity Profiles The stand alone nature of the subunits allows flexibility and adaptability of the material Selected readings and web links are also provided for readers who seek more in depth information The Sourcebook draws on a wide range of experiences from donor agencies governments institutions and other groups active in agricultural development It is an invaluable reference tool for policy makers professionals academics and students and anyone with an interest in agricultural investments

Pastoralist Resilience to Environmental Collapse in East Africa since 1500 Gufu Oba,2024-02-23 This book explores pastoralist farmers approaches to environmental disaster management in East Africa charting their responses and adaptations to famine pandemics natural disasters and historical events Using a dynamic adaptive cycle theoretical framework it uses social memory to reconstruct an event history calendar thus combining social memory and written historical records to reconstruct the adaptive strategies of pastoralists It explores the climate history of the southern Ethiopian and northern Kenyan frontier considering in particular the impact of the colonial period and independence thereafter providing a significant contribution to debates in African environmental history
