Argentina Travels and Translations Alison Yarrington, Stefano Villani, Julia Kelly, 2013-11-01 This volume explores the fascinating interactions and exchanges between British and Italian cultures from the early modern period to the present. It looks at how these exchanges were mediated through personal encounters, travel writings and translations involving a variety of protagonists: explorers, writers, poets, preachers, diplomats and tourists. In particular, this book examines the understanding of Italy as a destination and set of locations, each with their own distinctive geographical character during a period which saw the creation of the modern Italian state. It also charts the shifts in travelling activity during this period from early explorers and cartographers via those taking part in the Grand Tour in the 18th and 19th centuries to more modern poet travellers and blogging tourists. Drawing upon literary studies, history, art history, cultural studies, translation studies, sociology and socio-linguistics, this volume takes a cross-disciplinary approach to its rich constellation of cultural transactions.

Anywhere out of the world Jonathan Chatwin, 2017-10-02 By the time of his death in 1989 at the age of forty-eight, Bruce Chatwin had become one of the most celebrated writers of the twentieth century. Though his career spanned merely twelve years, his impact and influence were profoundly felt. Chatwin's first book, In Patagonia, redefined travel writing, whilst his later work, The Songlines, became one of the literary sensations of the 1980s. Incorporating original and extensive archival research as well as new interviews with his family and friends, Anywhere out of the world provides the definitive critical perspective upon the literary life and work of this enigmatic and influential author. The work offers a chronological overview of Chatwin's literary career from his first ultimately aborted work, The Nomadic Alternative (here discussed in detail for the first time), through to his final novel, Utz. In subjecting his work to such analysis, the study uncovers a striking thematic commonality in Chatwin's oeuvre: his work is fundamentally preoccupied with the subject of human restlessness. This volume provides detailed insight into Chatwin's treatment of the subject in his work, identifying and discussing the biographical and philosophical sources of this defining preoccupation.
