Books in Print ,1991 Making, Selling and Wearing Boys' Clothes in Late-Victorian England Clare Rose,2010

Drawing upon a remarkable variety of documentary evidence this study argues that much of Britain's consumer culture and modern business practices was influenced by the ready to wear market in boys clothes Through a detailed visual and statistical analysis of these sources linking the design and retailing of boys clothing with social cultural and economic issues it shows that an understanding of the production and consumption of the boys clothing is central to debates on the growth of the consumer society the development of mass market fashion and concepts of childhood and masculinity The Complete

Atkin,Elizabeth Kealy-Morris,2023-04-06 Memories of clothing feature prominently in auto biographies yet traditionally they have not been subjected to the same level of academic scrutiny as other sources Memories of Dress redresses this imbalance by bringing auto biographical memories to the centre of a new methodology for understanding fashion history material culture and other disciplines Presenting a comprehensive overview of theoretical and practice based approaches the book invites readers to explore the relations between clothing and memory through diverse examples ranging from oral histories of Manchester men and Hungarian socialist sewing to a quilt making autoethnography into the complexities of American racial heritage and imagined memories within museum collections Chapters by leading and emerging experts consider the ways in which dress is remembered and the ways that memories and nostalgia in turn influence everyday dress practices unpicking the meanings and motivations both collective and public personal and private behind the clothes we wear in different times places and life stages and the impact of class gender ethnicity and disability on material identities Uniquely weaving personal recollection with theory this multidisciplinary book offers new ways of understanding clothing material culture and memory A Victorian Housebuilder's Guide George E. F. Gatty Eden,Juliana Horatia Ewing,Mrs. Alfred Gatty,1885 The Changing Face of Burberry Siân Weston,2022-12-15 Global fashion markets particularly those aimed at prosperous millennial consumers in China are in thrall to Burberry and connect the company's output in the 21st century to a quintessential notion of British tradition The Changing Face of Burberry examines how the company successfully built this sense of tradition and how it has retained and capitalized on it within contemporary consumer culture Charting the company's modest beginnings in semi rural Hampshire in 1856 when it primarily produced waxed smocks for agricultural workers the book follows the ebbs and flows of its fortunes over its 150 year history from creating garments for the early motorist the gentleman officer and the aristocratic adventurer to its current status as global fashion brand It also explores Burberry's more problematic associations when the brand was sold in tourist souvenir stores and linked to chav culture Combining interviews and archive material including close analysis of advertising campaigns from the late 19th to the 21st century The Changing Face of Burberry provides an authoritative account of shifting forms of British identity consumer culture and fashion production and highlights the shift over two centuries from an era when garments were made by a single hand through to a digitized and global marketplace The Illustrated London News, 1921 The Best British Detective Books: 270+ Murder Mysteries,
