Patchwork Landscape The Living Countrysi:

The Patchwork Landscape ,1984      Europe's Living Landscapes Bas Pedroli, Anne van Doorn, Geert de Blust, 2014-12-22 This book is the result of three symposia of the Dutch Society for Landscape Ecology The first symposium in 2005 was about the National Ecological Network in the Netherlands The reason was that the implementation of the NEN decided upon in 1990 was halfway The second symposium in 2006 was about urban ecology and the third one to be held in 2007 will be about civil infrastructure This book does not cover the conferences completely and new contributions are added The three themes are important contexts in which landscape ecologists do their research and apply their knowledge and skills Of course there are many more subjects to hold conferences about for example climate change urbanisation agriculture landscape ecology itself etc The focus of the conferences is on the Netherlands with its urbanisation intensive land use and water management as characteristic features Although many WLO members do their work abroad or in an international context these conferences offer a window on what happens in the Dutch context The experiences may be of value for other contexts and that is why we present the results in English The selected themes and the focus on the Dutch context are serious demarcations of what landscape ecology in the Netherlands is all about The book does not represent all research and applications of landscape ecology      Naturopa ,1987      Countryside Conservation Bryn Green, 1996 This third edition of the standard text Countryside Conservation charts and evaluates those changes which represent a fundamental revolution in the ways in which the countryside is planned and managed It sets out the principles policies and practice which underlie the ecology planning and management of the new countryside discussing ways in which countryside conservation objectives are evolving and how they can best be achieved      Whitaker's Books in Print ,1990      The Countryside Ideal Michael Bunce, 2005-10-26 God made the country man made the town William Cowper's words written two centuries ago underline an idealisation of rural life and landscape which persists to this day What are the main historical processes and ideas underlying the continuing attachment to the countryside How have these shaped popular values and lifestyles influenced artistic expression defined attitudes to nature country life and landscape and affected the development of both rural and urban landscapes What are the consequences for society and the environment These are the central questions addressed in this book The Countryside Ideal draws together diverse images of landscape to explore this preoccupation with place culture and representation in the West      Approaches to Landscape Richard Muir, 1999-01-20 Approaches to Landscape introduces and explores the main perspectives in this increasingly popular field of study Written in an accessible style and illustrated throughout with relevant photographs maps and diagrams it provides a comprehensive review of the literature and key concepts for Landscape Studies      Land of the Living Ivor MacDonald, 2005-10-03 A flourishing earth that reflects the diversity bounty and beauty of its Creator must be cared for There are compelling reasons for all Christians rural and urban to be concerned for the land If you love the Creator you must love his creation and to love his creation you must love the communities that are charged with looking after it Land of the Living reflects on some of the pressures on agricultural communities today and argues that the land is still spiritually important and has an important place in God's eternal purposes Issues such as urbanisation technology mobility and the importance of roots globalisation and food are viewed through the twin lenses of rural life and theology Nature of the Miracle Years Sandra Chaney, 2008 After 1945 those responsible for conservation in Germany resumed their work with a relatively high degree of continuity as far as laws and personnel were concerned Yet conservationists soon found they had little choice but to modernize their views and practices in the challenging postwar context Forced to change by necessity those involved in state sponsored conservation institutionalized and professionalized their efforts while several private groups became more confrontational in their message and tactics Through their steady and often conservative presence within the mainstream of West German society conservationists ensured that by 1970 the map of the country was dotted with hundreds of reserves dozens of nature parks and one national park In doing so they assured themselves a strong position to participate in rather than be excluded from the left leaning environmental movement of the 1970s

A Bird in the Bush Stephen Moss, 2013-07-25 This journey through the world of birdwatchers is a wonderful book fascinating often hilarious anecdotes and information Daily Mail Critic's Choice Scholarly authoritative and above all supremely readable Stephen Moss's book is the first to trace the fascinating history of how and why people have watched birds for pleasure from the beginnings with Gilbert White in the eighteenth century through World War II POWs watching birds from inside their prison camp and all the way to today's twitchers with their bleeping pagers driving hundreds of miles for a rare bird Proves that birdwatchers can be as instructive to watch as birds Sunday Times Thoroughly researched and well written The Guardian Moss knows his subject intimately and writes about it with just the right mixture of affection and occasional quizzicality Sunday Telegraph It would be difficult to imagine anyone producing a more comprehensive thoughtful intelligent and entertaining examination of how people have watched birds at each point in history In fact it is one of the few books which might prove such compulsive reading that even a dedicated twitcher might forgo a day in the field to stay at home to finish it Birding World
