Equids--zebras, Asses, and Horses Patricia Des Roses Moehlman,IUCN/SSC Equid Specialist Group,2002 The new Equid Action Plan provides current knowledge on the biology ecology and conservation status of wild zebras asses and horses It specifies what information is lacking and prioritizes needed conservation actions The Action Plan also provides chapters on equid taxonomy genetics reproductive biology and population dynamics These chapters highlight unsolved issues of taxonomy and genetics They also provide information and insight into the special demographic and genetic challenges of managing small populations The chapter on disease provides a review of documented equine disease and epidemiology and focuses on priorities for equid conservation health The final chapter deals with the importance of developing an assessment methodology that explicitly considers the role of equids in ecosystems and the ecological processes that are necessary for ecosystem viability The approach of combining ecological field studies and ecosystem modeling should prove useful for the scientific management and conservation of wild equids worldwide These chapters provide research and conservation practitioners with new information and paradigms      Microchiropteran Bats Anthony Michael Hutson,Anthony M. Hutson,Simon P. Mickleburgh,P. A. Racey,2001      Megapodes René W. R. J. Dekker,Gillian C. Baker,2000      African

Rhino Richard Emslie,1999 The black and the white rhinoceros have become flagship species for international conservation They are significant not only for the continuation of a major evolutionary heritage but also as symbols for the protection of African savannahs The battle for the survival of these species has been marked by some notable successes and sadly many failures and the situation is still critical The international horn trade ban and the domestic bans imposed in most traditional user states have driven the trade further underground in some cases inflating prices and making illegal dealing even more lucrative This Plan is aimed at donors government and non government organizations and all those involved in rhino conservation It outlines the actions and strategies needed to catalyse support for these majestic animals and help secure their future in sub Saharan Africa The overall conclusion is that given the political will stability and adequate field expenditure rhinos can be conserved in the wild      Parrots Noel F.
