Emerging from the ruins of the former Soviet Union the literature of the Baltic states of Lithuania Latvia and Estonia is analyzed from the fruitful perspective of postcolonialism a theoretical approach whose application to former second world countries is in its initial stages This groundbreaking volume brings scholars working in the West together with those who were previously muffled behind the Iron Curtain They gauge the impact of colonization on the culture of the Baltic states and demonstrate the relevance of concepts first elaborated by a wide range of critics from Frantz Fanon to Homi Bhabha Examining literary texts and the situation of the intellectual reveals Baltic concerns with identity and integrity the rewriting of previously blotted out or distorted history and a search for meaning in societies struggling to establish their place in the world after decades and perhaps millennia of oppression The volume dips into the late Tsarist period then goes more deeply into Soviet deportations to the Gulag while the main focus is on works of the turning point in the late 1980s and 1990s Postcolonial concepts like mimicry subjectivity and the Other provide a new discourse that yields fresh insights into the colonized countries culture and their poignant attempts to fight to adapt and to survive This book will be of interest to literary critics Baltic scholars historians and political scientists of Eastern Europe linguists anthropologists psychologists sociologists working in the area of postcommunism and anyone interested in learning more about these ancient and vibrant cultures      Dictionary Catalog of the Research Libraries of the New York Public Library, 1911-1971 New York Public Library.
