Postfoundationalist Reflections in Practical Theology Brian C. Macallan, 2014-06-09 Postfoundationalist Reflections in Practical Theology seeks to explore the implications of a Postfoundationalist theology for the discipline of Practical Theology. While moving beyond the modernist and postmodernist debates, it charts a way forward for a theology that is bound by neither relativism nor certainty. It believes that Practical Theology is well suited to this task by its very nature and methodology.

Psychology and Psychotherapy in the Perspective of Christian Anthropology Dorothy du Plessis, 2018-12 A view of human nature generally forms part of the assumptions that undergird psychological theories and psychotherapeutic approaches. In this book, Christian anthropology is articulated as a foundation for the theories, approaches, and techniques applied in practice by its contributors. Various essays from European-based practitioners in the fields of psychology, psychotherapy, and counselling are included here. These authors draw scientific knowledge from the fields of psychology and psychotherapy, focusing on intra-psychic aspects of human functioning such as emotions, drives, and cognitions, as well as interpersonal and eco-systemic functioning. In addition to this, the authors consider spirituality as an intrinsic part of humanity through which persons seek meaning and transcendence, and that influences physical and mental health. Spiritual insight is gained from the field of theology with specific reference to the Christian faith tradition. As a wide range of topics, contexts, and cultural and ecumenical backgrounds are covered in this book, many practitioners in mental health care and counselling should benefit from the knowledge, ideas, and practical experience shared here.

HIV/AIDS, Poverty and Pastoral Care and Counselling Vhumani Magezi, 2007-12-01 This publication carefully describes the HIV/AIDS pandemic and how it is understood in some African contexts, which hampers prevention initiatives. It also delineates the complex nature of the poverty and HIV/AIDS interplay. To address the situation, a family systems practical ecclesiological theology and approach to HIV/AIDS ministry and a pastoral counselling approach that derives from and is sensitive to the African context are proposed.

Nature and Society Philippe Descola, Gisli Pálsson, 2003-12-16 The contributors to this book focus on the relationship between nature and society from a variety of theoretical and ethnographic perspectives. Their work draws upon recent developments in social theory, biology, ethnobiology, epistemology, sociology of science, and a wide array of ethnographic case studies from Amazonia, the Solomon Islands, Malaysia, the Moluccan Islands, rural communities from Japan, and north-west Europe, urban Greece, and laboratories of molecular biology and high energy physics. The discussion is divided into three parts, emphasising the problems posed by the nature culture dualism some misguided attempts to respond to these problems and potential avenues out of the current dilemmas of ecological discourse

Counselling The Journal of the British Association for Counselling The core of psychotherapy can be seen as a process in which the client comes to tell and then reauthor an individual life story or personal narrative The author of this book argues that all therapies are therefore narrative therapies and that the counselling experience can be understood in terms of telling and retelling stories If the story is not heard then the therapist and the client are deprived of the most effective and mutually involving mode of discourse open to them Taking a narrative approach also requires thinking about the nature of truth the concept of the person the relationship between therapist and client and the knowledge base of psychotherapy John McLeod examines the role and significance of stories in psychotherapy from within a broad based cultural and theoretical framework
