Geographical Information Systems Three Volume Set is a computer system used to capture store analyze and display information related to positions on the Earth's surface. Cova, The University of Utah, Salt Lake City, UT, United States; Ming Hsiang Tsou, San Diego State University, San Diego, CA, United States; Georg Bareth, University of Cologne, Cologne, Germany; Chunqiao Song, University of California, Los Angeles, CA, United States; Yan Song, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, Chapel Hill, NC, United States; Kai Cao, National University of Singapore, Singapore; Elisabete A. Emphasizes the practical socioeconomic applications of GIS. Provides readers with a reliable one stop comprehensive guide saving them time in searching for the information they need from different sources. Maritime Regime Building Mark J. Valencia, 2001-06-20. The past few decades have witnessed the emergence of a vast array of regional arrangements and institutions dealing with all aspects of ocean management. The level of cooperation ranges from minimal dispute avoidance to relatively comprehensive ocean governance at the regional level. As concrete examples reasonably successful and comprehensive regional regimes have been created for the Baltic, the North and the Mediterranean Seas and the South Pacific. And attempts at regional regime building are ongoing in Southeast Asia, the South China Sea and the Indian Ocean. Although there are broad similarities between the semi enclosed seas of Western Europe and Northeast Asia, no regional maritime regime has yet been initiated in Northeast Asia. The papers in this volume are authored by leading authorities on not only the maritime affairs of their particular region of focus but on maritime policy in general. They describe and explain existing or incipient regional maritime regimes in an unusually broad comparative context and extract lessons learned that may be applicable elsewhere including Northeast Asia. The case studies are neatly sandwiched between an introduction to concepts and principles on regional co operation and concluding chapters on lessons learned and their applicability to Northeast Asia. Moreover the papers raise and address several questions of relevance to policy. For example, what factors are conducive to maritime regime initiation, expansion and positive evolution and which constrain regime formation and evolution? Why has maritime regime building been successful in Europe and largely unsuccessful in Asia? And which if any lessons learned in the European context are applicable in Asia? Given the growing interest in regime formation and effectiveness in general and maritime regimes in particular this book will be of considerable interest to both analysts and policymakers National Union Catalog ,1973 Includes entries for maps and atlases Dictionary Catalog of the Department Library United States.
