Institutions and Regional Labour Markets in Europe Lambert van der Laan, Santos M. Ruesga, 2019-05-23 First published in 1998 this volume examines the performance of labour markets against the background of different economic and institutional settings in Western and Eastern Europe The book gives a clear picture of the mosaic of impressive transformations presently taking place in Western and Eastern European labour markets and provides access to information which was previously either widely dispersed or non-existent The book gives detailed information about how countries and regions deal with transformations described The substantive country wide and regional diversity that is discussed allows the reader to understand the role of labour and institutions in the development of countries and regions The book is written by labour market and regional experts from the various countries concerned

The Impacts of Automotive Plant Closure Andrew Beer, Holli Evans, 2013-09-13 Economic restructuring has been a notable feature of so-called mature industrial economies such as the UK and Australia in the last two decades with deregulation privatisation technological change and globalisation combining to reshape such economies Some industries have grown while others have declined Moreover while overall employment in the UK and Australia has grown many newly created positions require skills not found in the industries shedding labour or are in casualised and low-paid occupations Many lesser skilled workers leaving declining industries are therefore at risk of long-term unemployment or leaving the workforce entirely Both mental and physical health can be affected after redundancy It is therefore crucial that the measures put in place in many domains of social policy such as formal health policy employment assistance community development housing assistance and so on to adequately address the difficulties confronting this group This volume takes a closer look at the impact of manufacturing notably automotive plant closures in the UK Birmingham and Australia Adelaide in recent years and policy responses to those closures It attempts to tease out differences in policy response and effectiveness and attempts to identify areas where policy could be made to work better in terms of adjusting to large-scale manufacturing change and resulting job losses In so doing it begins for the first time we believe to take a comparative approach to understanding the impact of plant closures and policy responses This book was published as a special issue of Policy Studies

Job Creation and Housing Construction Raven E. Saks, 2004

Consumption and Class Roger Burrows, Catherine Marsh, 2016-07-27 An edited collection exploring divisions and changes within and between the spheres of consumption and production Topics include the relationship between consumption and production the social construction of consumers housing and social class mobility health provision the role of the service class and access to higher education Peter Saunders' work provides the initial stimulus for many of the papers but all go beyond his narrow conception of a sociology of consumption and his liberal analysis of patterns of social inequality

The Labour Market Impact of the EU Enlargement Floro Ernesto Caroleo, Francesco Pastore, 2010-03-18 Floro Ernesto Caroleo and Francesco Pastore This book was conceived to collect selected essays presented at the session on The Labour Market Impact of the European Union Enlargements A New Regional Geography of Europe of the XXII Conference of the Italian Association of Labour Economics AIEL The session aimed to stimulate the debate on the continuity fracture of regional patterns of development and employment in old and new European Union EU regions In particular we asked whether and how different the causes of emergence and the evolution of regional imbalances in the new EU members of Central and Eastern Europe CEE are compared to those in the old EU members Several contributions in this book suggest that a factor common to all backward regions often neglected in the literature is to be found in their higher than average degree of structural change or more precisely in the hardship they experience in coping with the process of structural change typical of all advanced economies In the new EU members of CEE structural change is still a consequence of the continuing process of transition from central planning to a market economy but also of what Fabrizio et al 2009 call the second transition namely that related to the run up to and entry in the EU

Residential Relocations and their Consequences Philipp M. Lersch,2013-11-12 Philipp M Lersch shows that residential relocations may change individuals lives for the better but also for the worse depending on their resources restrictions and contextual conditions A comparative analysis of English and German panel data reveals that relocations improve the quality of dwellings on average in both countries but improvements strongly depend on life course stages and economic resources of individuals Only few individuals improve their neighbourhoods when relocating Conditions in the housing market are important determinants of these changes Gender inequality persists in the occupational outcomes of relocations in England and West Germany Due to institutional conditions residential trajectories in England exhibit more variation and a higher risk of changes for the worse than in Germany These innovative findings will inspire further research on the consequences of residential relocations Investigating Spatial Inequalities Peter Gladoić Håkansson,Helena Bohman,2019-11-29

Offering in depth perspectives on factors such as local labour markets housing and mobility this book investigates centralization tendencies in Scandinavia and South East Europe that help shape regional development and act as a catalyst to creating regional inequalities The Routledge Handbook of Housing and Welfare Martin Grander,Mark Stephens,2023-12-22 This handbook takes on one of the most pressing issues of today s society the question of housing It is a cutting edge edited volume about the disputed interrelationship between housing and the wider welfare state Although housing scholars generally agree that housing should be regarded as part of such a wider welfare system it has proven hard to pinpoint and operationalize its position within it Moreover the relationship became considerably more complex as a result of the period of intense globalization and the integration of national housing finance systems into world finance markets Furthermore welfare systems reflect economic as well as social models and these too have changed as countries have responded to globalization and traditional ideological frameworks have become less distinct Thus there is a need to redefine the connection between housing and welfare in light of changes in both welfare and housing systems By investigating the current situation and historical development of housing provision and welfare distribution in different contexts worldwide this book aims to contribute to an expanded understanding of housing and welfare The book brings together 25 international housing researchers covering 15 countries worldwide With such a global approach the book aims to provide an updated empirical picture and analysis of different housing systems and their connection to the welfare regime in different national contexts The book moves beyond the usual focus on affordable housing provision in the context of well developed welfare regimes and includes countries from the global south incorporating regions where it is debatable whether there are welfare systems present at all. Thus the book aims to provide the reader with an insight into the large differences in housing provision in international contexts with large differences regarding how the welfare state is comprised. From these insights we reflect on whether regime approaches continue to provide a suitable theoretical framework for understanding the relationship between housing and the wider welfare state. This handbook is essential reading for researchers, students, policymakers and other professionals in the fields of housing studies, welfare studies, economics, urban studies, social work, social and public policy and sociology.

Homeownership and the Labour Market in Europe Casper van Ewijk, Michiel van Leuvensteijn, 2009-03-12. Increasing labour market flexibility is at the top of the European agenda. A new and challenging view is that lack of mobility in the labour market may arise from rigidities in the housing market. This book brings together top European economists to analyse the interaction between housing and labour markets and provides clear policy messages.
